FINAL PASSAGE CALENDAR

BILL ON FINAL PASSAGE DEFEATED

HB 382 (Pr. No. 2532)—On the question

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, I just want to remind the Members of the Senate that this is the bill which we began to consider yesterday and it was then put over in its order.

It is a bill which removes from The Penal Code several provisions which were put in as a result of labor strikes before the turn of the century, at a time when the situation was much different than it is today. I consider both of these provisions obsolete under present day labor relations.

Therefore, Mr. President, I would urge my colleagues to vote "aye" on this bill.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I do not believe that I have to remind everyone here that we are now living in the Twentieth Century. I think we are all aware of that fact. All we have to do is to look at the date.

Both of these sections were passed in the Nineteenth Century, at a time when the law was used to help the companies break the strikes. This acted as a pretty persuasive club. To show you how progressive we have become, we have never enacted this against any other industy. We have never enacted it against the people who travel by air, which is certainly in the same category, and we have never enacted it against those who travel by bus and things of that nature.

The purpose of these sections was to prevent any railroad employee from refusing to carry on his employment after a strike had been called in order for him to make known that he was unhappy with the labor or wage conditions that might have existed in the industry.

These two sections go pretty far and they place a very heavy burden. Although it may not sound like a great deal of money,—in the one instance, a $200 fine and six months imprisonment—the other section imposes a heavier burden. It goes to $1,000 or three years imprisonment, or both. That is pretty harsh, when you consider that in the Nineteenth Century people did not earn that kind of money. Two thousand dollars a year was considered a great deal of money. They were then asking a workingman to pay a $1,000 fine if he committed any of these acts.

It is peculiar that this exists only in the railroad industry and not in any other industry or area. In recent years, maybe there has been one railroad strike and this has been so concerned with the national interest and the national picture that the President himself has stepped into it. We now have arbitration boards which we have not had in the past. We now have procedures for negotiations and arbitration. Therefore, it is no longer necessary to hold this kind of a club. I think this is unfair to the people who work in the railroad industry and to the workingmen who earn their livelihood in this area. I believe laws are not made to be used as a club or punishment against some individual because he happens to choose a certain industry.

If these are correct, and you gentlemen vote this bill down, I would respectfully suggest to you that you enact the same thing for the airlines, for the bus companies and for the automobile people who hire out chauffeurs with their cars. I am sure that if it is apropos in this area, it certainly should be appropriate in the others, if this is your thinking. I am going to ask my colleagues to vote "aye". I respectfully suggest that you do the same and vote for this bill and update the law. My reason for doing so on this measure is that I think we have come a long have the machinery, both at local, State and Federal way. We have the procedures, we have the courts and we levels, to deal with this matter.

Mr. President, I ask my colleagues to vote "aye" on this bill and update the law. We have been doing this right along in our Penal Code to take out these archaic provisions that were put in back in the 1800's.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, without desiring to get too deeply into this area, I merely wish to call attention to the fact that in spite of what has been said about the prior century, this bill is to repeal Sections 663 and 730 of the Act of 1939. Furthermore, Mr. Persident, Section 730, which is sought to be repealed, does not confine it to one type of transportation company. It states as follows:

> ". . . whoever being in the service or employ of a railroad or other transportation company refuses or neglects to obey any rule or regulation by such company or by reason of negligence or willful conduct fails to observe any precaution or rule which it was his duty to obey and observe and injury or death to any person shall result thereby . . ."

Mr. President, it does apply to other transportation companies, and it was in the Penal Code of 1939. Whether or not some of the other arguments made concerning the bill are in order, I have nothing to say. However, I do wish to correct that impression.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I cannot let this go by without making the record perfectly clear. I have great regard for my friend as a good lawyer and I certainly think he would like us to know that in 1939, they codified the entire Penal Code. This took in Acts such as the Act of 1740, which would not permit you to eat oysters during the months in which R's did not appear. After many, many years, we have corrected that during this Session.

There are many Acts in the 1939 Code which were just brought up-to-date by people who were not legislators, but by lay people, in the sense that they were not Members of the General Assembly. They were lawyers, judges and people sitting in an advisory capacity, who took all these laws and tried to put them together and present them to the Legislature in order to have a rounded picture presented. It then was up to the Legislature to remove some of these. There is now another movement afoot and there is a study being made—we have allocated money for it over the years—for another recodification of our criminal laws to try to streamline them and bring them up-to-date.

I think all of us are sophisticated enough, and I believe most of us are knowledgeable enough in the area dealing with strikes, secondary boycotts and the violation of company rules, to know that you do not use The Penal Code as a means or a method to persuade people not to do what they think is best for their own economic interest when they have no other recourse of action left to them. The economic sanction that you put against anyone is stronger than any other kind of court rule or any other sanction that you can put against them. We are asking you to not only correct a legal wrong, but a moral wrong as well, and remove the legalistic handcuffs from the hands of these people who happen to work in this industry.

Mr. President, I ask all of my colleagues to vote "aye" on this measure.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, in connection with the statement made by the Majority Leader, as I said, I did not care to explore this very deeply. However, I must say that the committee which operated, in my experience at any rate,—and I cannot speak for the committee which acted on the codification of the Criminal Code of 1939, but certainly the one which operated within my memory—was composed almost entirely of lawyers.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, regarding the repeal of this section to which Senator Berger called attention, I would also call to his attention, and to the attention of the other Members of the Senate, that this law, in effect, places these particular employees in double jeopardy, inasmuch as there is ample provision within The Penal Code for prosecution under other sections for this type of negligence. This is a unique thing and I think is certainly, therefore, aimed at a particular end and at a particular type of employee. For that reason, it is grossly unfair and I would think, perhaps, even unconstitutional. In my opinion, we should erase this from the books.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I just want to point out that this will be the last chance to correct this during the present Session. We will not have another opportunity until 1963.

Please give heed to how you vote on this measure.

And the question recurring,

HB 400 (Pr. No. 437)—Read at length the third time and agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I would like to have this bill voted upon. However, I would like to bring to the attention of the Members of the Senate that an identical bill has been passed in the Senate a number of times. It passed back in the Sessions of 1957 and 1959. The Governor refused to sign it on the advice of the Attorney General that this is unconstitutional.

The reason for the Governor not signing it has been because of the bond issue that is out, through which the Turnpike Commission operates. The contracts which are made are made by the Executive Director, based on the action taken by the Commission. We cannot authorize them to take any action because of the bond issue which must be filed in order to pay for this kind of work.

My predecessor, Senator Dent, was one of the great speakers for this and he believed it had great merit. This was based on his own experience where he had seen many accidents which occurred due to the fact that there were no medical strips.

I think this bill has great merit. I also think the way to handle it is by passing a resolution, memorializing the members of the Turnpike Commission to do this job and to do it correctly. We should probably call them in here to appear before one of our committees and advise them of our attitude and position on this matter.

However, I think to pass this Act is doing a useless thing because the Governor will have to veto it since it is unconstitutional for us to do so.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, there has been a great deal of study and a great deal of information developed upon whether or not the maintenance of medical barriers or guards on highways such as the Pennsylvania Turnpike are effective in preventing loss of life or preventing the cars from running over into the opposite lanes of traffic. As to the conclusions to be reached, nobody can definitely say what would be the actual safety result.

However, if it is a safety measure, Mr. President, I would like to observe that it seems rather absurd that the Legislature of Pennsylvania cannot pass an Act which would require safety, through any kind of a measure whatsoever, upon any highway which traverses the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, bond counsel or anything else to the contrary.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I guess it is proper for a father to tell his children what they should do. However, this child is completely independent of us because we have so created him. That is the only reason for this measure.

I think this is a good bill and I would like to vote for it. However, the problem is that it will be unconstitutional and the Governor will not be able to sign it.

Mr. BELL. Mr. President, recently we confirmed a new Attorney General. It is possible there could be a new decision.

Everytime I drive on the Pennsylvania Turnpike, I am very happy when I reach the part of it which has the medial strip. I think it is only fair to the people who drive the Turnpike that we pass this bill and let the Attorney General decide whether or not it is constitutional.

HB 749 (Pr. No. 2713)—Read at length the third time and agreed to,

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, I would like to make a statement concerning this bill before we take a vote on it.

I was very much opposed to this measure as it came over from the House. As it came from the House, it would have cost the Commonwealth some twenty-two to thirty millions of dollars. However, after discussing this with the sponsors in the House and the Chairman of the Military Affairs Committee, amendments were offered which make the bill more palatable.

I want to say that when we had the World War II adjusted compensation, the word "bonus" was used very loosely. Actually, the people of Pennsylvania are not giving a bonus to these people who served in the Armed Services, but they are giving an adjusted compensation. Many boys and girls left good jobs to serve their Country and a grateful Commonwealth gave them an adjusted compensation.

The Korean Bonus then came along and excluded those people who were career soldiers. However, a career soldier, if he served in the Korean Theater, was given a bonus. In many cases, a career soldier who served in World War II and also served in the Korean Theater received both bonuses, in the amount of as much as $500, which was the maximum.

Therefore, Mr. President, the way the bill has been amended, I think it seems only fair to those people who were excluded, and it will cost the Commonwealth less than $2,000,000 as I understand it.

While I am still speaking on the bill, I would suggest that these applications be expedited as quickly as possible because we still have a bureau which takes care of World War II bonuses and it is costing much, much more money than they pay out each year.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

BILL OVER IN ORDER

SB 761—Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I request that Senate Bill No. 761 go over in its order.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I object to this bill going over in order.

This bill is a Senate Bill, Mr. President, and it cannot possibly pass or get through here. However, I think a vote should be taken on the matter of reapportionment. I think a full dress discussion should be had on it in order for us to know exactly where we are going. If there is a Special Session or a Concurrent Special Session to deal with the problem of reapportionment, we, at least, will have the benefit of what the Members have to say in regard to this problem. We will come back here within three or four months from now and I think that will be a good time to also discuss this problem, if there is a Concurrent Special Session on reapportionment. I think if we do not have a full picture or at least get the reaction of each man's community in regard to this, we will have been remiss in our duty.

I ask that we vote on this measure, Mr. President. I can only take a vote against this being heard today as a vote against the principle of reapportionment and against this measure. We are in favor of reapportionment. The Democratic Members and the Democratic Caucus are in favor of reapportionment. We are asking that this measure be brought before us so we can vote on it.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, that argument would hold a great deal of water in regard to the fact that it is a Senate Bill, except that the Majority Leader has already requested that several Senate Bills go over in their order, which has been done.

Therefore, Mr. President, I would renew my request, and I will make it in the form of a motion that the bill go over in its order.

Mr. President, I now move that Senate Bill No. 761, Printer's No. 1283, go over in its order.

Mr. EHRGOOD. Mr. President, I second the motion.

BILL OVER IN ORDER

HB 1463 (Pr. No. 1796)—Read at length the third time,

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. MAHADY. Mr. President, I am in need of a lawyer on this bill. If there is a good one around, I would like him to interpret what it means. They drew out for me what they intended to do, but I am certain they have not accomplished it.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there a lawyer on the floor who would help Senator Mahady?

Mr. SESLER. Mr. President, I am somewhat in a quandary as to what to do about this bill.

This bill was framed with the intention that the sewer authorities in the first class townships would be able to collect a fair share from each property owner. Briefly, the bill intends to do the following:

For example, let us say that you have three lots abutting on the street, each being fifty feet in width. The sewer passes by two of those lots and then stops after it has only gone, say, ten feet in front of the third lot. Yet, the third lot is able to attach itself to the new sewer, thereby getting the benefits of the sewer.

Under the present law, the first two owners would be assessed for fifty feet. Let us say that the third lot only went to ten feet, thereby making that property owner pay for only ten feet of sewer in front of his house, even though he was receiving the full benefit. The idea of the bill is then that this lot owner would also be assessed for the full frontage of his lot. You would, therefore, take to total frontage of all lots which were using the sewer to arrive at the assessment per front foot. To do so, the language of the bill states as follows:

> ". . . The words'frontage abutting on the sewer' shall mean the entire width of the property at the point where the property abuts the sewer and not just that portion of the property which actually abuts on the sewer . . ."

As you can see, Mr. President, it is somewhat confusing, I believe. However, I have been advised by Members of the House that this was prepared by an attorney who is very conversant on these matters. In their opinion, they feel that most of the attorneys who deal in these matters and who are conversant with this language will understand it.

I merely state these remarks by way of legislative intent. As Senator Mahady said, there is good reason to believe that this may breed some litigation. However, I think the intent is just what I tried to explain.

Mr. BELL. Mr. President, this bill is very confusing. I think we should pass bills which we can understand and not bills which people who specialize in sewerage and frontage on sewers can understand.

Here is the point I do not like about the bill. If there are three lots on a street, two of them being fifty feet in front and the sewer passes in front of them, and the third lot has 500 feet in front and the sewer just reaches the 500 feet in the front lot, the fellow who owns that big tract of land would have to pay for full frontage.

The motive behind the bill is good, but the writing of the language is very, very poor and it would lead to a miscarriage of justice. Until the bill is properly written, I ask everybody to join me in voting "no."

Mr. SESLER. Mr. President, because of the nature of this bill and because I believe it is needed, I ask at this time that the bill go over in order, with the intention that we confer with the Members of the House as to the possibility of inserting amendments on the matter.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. There being no objection, the bill will go over in its order.

ELECTION OF PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE FOR THE INTERIM

The PRESIDING OFFICER. At this time, we will proceed with the election of the President pro tempore, for the interim.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, in accordance with the requirements set forth in Article II, Section 9 of the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, I wish at this time to place in nomination the name of the Honorable Anthony J. DiSilvestro for the office of pro tempore of the Senate, for the interim.

Mr. President and Members of the Senate, Senator DiSilvestro has been a Member of this Senate for a great number of years. He is a man of great learning, who is not only a graduate pharmacist, but a graduate lawyer, and has served here with honor and distinction. He is very well thought of in his community. He is a man of rare talents, both in the field of journalism and the field of pharmacy, as well as other areas of community endeavor.

I think it is a rare privilege that we have within our midst an opportunity to elect a man of such remarkable talents. He is the man who has served in the office of President pro tempore during the present Session. I think all of us have great love and affection for his abilities, his talents and, most of all, for the one thing which exceeds all the other things I have said, his capability of being a human being who has thoughts for his fellow man.

Therefore, Mr. President, it is with great joy, on behalf of myself and the Members of the Democratic Caucus, that I place the name of Senator Anthony J. DiSilvestro in nomination for the office of President pro tempore, for the interim.

Mr. TAYLOR. Mr. President, I want to congratulate the gentlemen on the other side of the aisle for using such good judgment. I have enjoyed the fellowship of the gentleman whom you have just nominated for the office of President pro tempore, for the interim, for many years. You could not have selected a better man for the interim. I know that next year, when I get back in, he will second my nomination.

Therefore, Mr. President, it is with a great deal of pleasure that I second the nomination of the Honorable Anthony J. DiSilvestro for the office of President pro tempore of the Senate, for the interim.

DiSilvestro,

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Honorable Anthony J. DiSilvestro having received forty-nine votes, with one voting "present," the Chair declares the Honorable Anthony J. DiSilvestro duly elected President pro tempore of the Senate of Pennsylvania for the interim.

The Chair also understands that the newspapermen concur in the vote.

COMMITTEE APPOINTED TO ESCORT PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE-ELECT, FOR THE INTERIM, TO THE ROSTRUM

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Chair takes pleasure in naming as the Committee to Escort the President pro tempore-elect, for the interim, to the rostrum: the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Weiner; the gentleman from Washington, Mr. Lane; and the gentleman from Dauphin, Mr. Taylor.

The committee will proceed in the performance of its duty.

(Whereupon, the President pro tempore-elect for the interim, was escorted to the rostrum of the Senate.)

ADMINISTRATION OF OATH OF OFFICE TO PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE-ELECT, FOR THE INTERIM

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The oath of office will be administered to the newly elected President pro tempore of the Senate, for the interim, by a former Member of this Senate, who I understand entered the Senate of Pennsylvania at the same time as the President pro tempore-elect did. Since that time, he has been elevated as Judge of the Court of Common Pleas of Cumberland County, the Honorable Robert Lee Jacobs.

JUDGE JACOBS. Senator DiSilvestro, this takes on added significance for me, when I remember that I was elected for the first and last time in 1936. You were elected in 1936 for the first of many times. Therefore, it is an extreme pleasure for me to administer the oath of office to you.

(The oath of office was administered accordingly.)

REMARKS BY THE PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE

Mr. DiSILVESTOR. Mr. President, colleagues of the Senate and Ladies and Gentlemen: I am grateful for the cooperation I have received in my first term as President pro tempore. I want you to know that I love you all—all of you on both sides of the aisle. I challenge anyone to say at this moment that my affection is greater for those on one side than on the other. My love for now is nonpartisan. Thanks a lot.

I also want to thank Judge Jacobs for administering to me the oath of office.

NAYS—0

A majority of all the Senators having voted "aye," the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk return said bill to the House of Representatives with information that the Senate has passed the same without amendments.

HB 1818 (Pr. No. 2679)—Read at length the third time and agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, in discussing this bill out of order yesterday, I directed a question to the Majority Leader concerning the amendment which exempts from coverage family corporations which employ three or less people. I am afraid that I am losing my audience over on the other side.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I am listening to the gentleman.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. May we please have some order in the Senate? We cannot hear what is going on up here.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I want to advise the gentleman that I am paying attention.

Mr. BERGER. Very well, Mr. President.

At that time, I asked the gentleman why it was limited to family corporations, when there are numerous instances where people engaged in a seasonal employment, or a similar line of endeavor, incorporate for the purpose, almost, of being able to receive unemployment compensation under the same circumstances that these employees of family corporations receive it.

I would like to be enlightened on that subject because I think this amendment is a very good one. However, I believe it does not go far enough.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I can answer the gentleman by saying that the statistics show that the cause of the problem is not the family relationship, as was asked by the gentleman, but they show there has been a large percentage of malpractices concentrated in the small family business organizations. The gentleman is absolutely correct when he states that the blood relationship is not what causes or prevents this kind of manipulation under the law.

There have been studies made by the bureau and I can present them to the gentleman. There is someone here from the department who has brought studies of this problem to me. These studies show that when a malpractice does exist, it is in the area of where the corporations are made up of employees who are all members of the same family. This is the case of where it is not the relationship which causes it, but it just so happen that where the problem lies is in this very same area. That is the reason why they are trying to correct this thing. This is not directed against any one group or any one person. However, the studies have found that this is where the greatest amount of abuse is.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I was not complaining against the amendment. I was saying that the situation which is desired to be corrected should be corrected. However, I would like to find out why it is limited to family corporations.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I am advised that the studies are being continued by the department. If the data which is gathered indicates that there are other entities, groups or areas where this is happening, then they will also introduce legislation to prevent this kind of abuse as well.

Mr. BERGER. I thank the gentleman, Mr. President.

I did bring this to the attention of a gentleman who is associated in this government and pointed out this particular type of corporation which should be covered by this amendment. I admit I did not follow it up. I assumed that some attention would be paid to it.

However, Mr. President, I do believe there are probably as many corporations formed for that purpose, which are not family-held corporations, as there are those in which families only own fifty per cent of the stock. I just simply cannot understand why they stopped at that point.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I would just like to point out that this bill contains three amendments to the unemployment compensation program. For me to discuss unemployment compensation in a group such as this, I believe would be superfluous and I will not take the time. However, I would like to point out that this is the vehicle we use to prevent or diminish the impact on our economic and financial well-being, which affects all of us, by a person being jobless through no fault of his own. As we become more sophisticated and as our society moves ahead in the areas of automation and other places, we find that these laws must be altered in order to meet the changing requirements or needs.

This fund is the same as any other insurance fund and it must be kept at a certain level and not be permitted to become run-down. At the same time, there are many abuses which creep in merely because you are dealing with human beings. When you have all the different problems that human beings have, you must constantly be careful of these things and make the necessary changes from time to time.

This bill, House bill No. 1818, deals in three areas. The first area is where you have a person who is employed and belongs to a union and works side by side with someone who does not belong to a union, and when the business either goes out of business or a person is laid off, through no fault of his own, the person in the union receives severance pay. The people who are nonunion may receive severance pay because the employer may recognize the fact that these people could join a union. In order to keep them from doing so, they give them all the benefits which are received by the unions and, therefore, they have no reason to join a union.

The way the law strictly interprets unemployment compensation is that any person who is not a member of a union and receives severance pay could go in and collect unemployment compensation. The gentleman who belongs to a union, however, cannot receive this because it is considered additional pay or income. Therefore, he would be disqualified from receiving any kind of benefits.

The other facet of it is the training and retraining. You have many people who are laid off in industry, through no fault of their own. In a very short time, it becomes apparent that they are never going to be re-employed. This is based on the fact that either automation takes place, there may be a cutback, there may be changes occur in the type of industry and there may be changes made in the entire setup. Therefore, this man is never going to go back to work and yet he still is in the productive years of his life when he does have a skill but no one now has a need for it. They then retrain or reschool these people. We have an entire program set up in the Department of Labor and Industry which deals with this problem. Where this man is able to qualify, under the Department of Labor, and where he is able to meet the requirements and qualifications to go to a school, even though he is on unemployment compensation, he would now be disqualified because if he is unavailable for a job, under the present law, he could no longer receive unemployment compensation. Therefore, what we are doing is providing here that if a man is eligible for retraining and he is receiving unemployment compensation, he will not lose his unemployment compensation and he can receive this retraining if he meets the qualifications and is approved by the department.

The third area which we go into here is the family corporation, which I believe we have discussed very briefly. In this area, we find there is a corporation where a person works for his mother or father who may have a business. They may lay him off or fire him, through no fault of his own, and he is then unable to obtain unemployment compensation because he belongs to the family unit. However, if his mother and father form a corporation and then lay him off, he can then qualify for unemployment compensation.

There is nothing sacred about this. There is nothing which says that because a man is a corporation he can or cannot receive it. Human beings do not change. The corporate entity is something created and goes back to the time before this Country was founded, when the king would grant letters patent to incorporate people or the parliament gave them to someone. We still do that today in this Commonwealth. The corporate entity is one created by the State. They have decided to recognize that there are abuses in this area.

As I pointed out a moment ago, the statistics show the greatest malpractice or abuse which occurs is in this area. They feel that just by closing up this loophole in the law, they will save at least a half-million dollars a year, if not more. Therefore, they have extended this thing to where there must be four or more people employed before you can qualify. In that way, it will be impossible or, at least, it will limit the possibility of having it solely a family entity where someone can abuse this fund.

It is for the integrity of the workingman and for the integrity of the Commonwealth to make sure that this fund maintains the level at which it is so that all of us can benefit, who might be working people and who might lose our jobs through no fault of our own and need the kind of help we can get over this period when our well-being and that of our family might be affected. Actually, we are only preventing these people from going on public assistance. In years past, people used to be left to look toward the poor houses when this type of situation hit them. We are more enlightened and hope, by moving in these areas, that we recognize these enlightenments that we live in. This is the Twentieth Century and the workingman must be protected because there is plenty that all of us can do to help him. This is the basic fundamental of insurance.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I am a little bit sorry I asked the question. I am glad, however, to receive the human relations, human being, social concepts speech again.

Mr. President, I am in favor of the bill. I merely asked the question as to why they did not extend the corporate prohibition to corporations which are set up and designed only for the purpose of getting the people who own the corporation on unemployment compensation. That amendment is good and the other amendment, in my opinion, is good.

I received a very lucid and excellent explanation of this bill from the Secretary of Labor and Industry. It somewhat is at variance with what the Majority Leader said. The purpose of it is explained very nicely here, wherein it states as follows:

> ". . . The recent closing of the Ford automobile plant in Chester, Pennsylvania is an example of the type of situation covered by this amendment. In the Ford case, claimants who had spent their entire working life with the Ford plant suddenly found themselves unemployed because the plant was closed in the process of modernization. The company made serious efforts to ease the burden of the workers and provided severance payments. The public, in general, applauded this action on the part of management, and while it was possible for this Department to rule that these payments, under these conditions, did not affect unemployment compensation benefits, we feel that the language of the law should be clarified to make sure that in similar circumstances, there will be no question that unemployment compensation benefits will not be disturbed where the closing of a plant is permanent, and the anticipated unemployment is long-term. . . ."

Mr. President, I am very glad to vote for the bill.

Mr. KESSLER. Mr. President, as I tried to point out last night, at the late hour of about 11:00 p.m., the Unemployment Compensation Fund in Pennsylvania is in dire straits. We are practically bankrupt.

It is my impression that certain features of this bill will save an estimated $500,000 a year. However, there are other features of the bill which will cost an estimated figure of from two to four million dollars a year. It seems to me that any of us who are interested in protecting our Unemployment Compensation Fund, getting it on a sound basis and not encouraging more plants to close up, as was the case with the Ford Motor Company, in Chester, should vote "no" on this bill.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

CALENDAR

HB 1807 CALLED UP OUT OF ORDER

HB 1807 (Pr. No. 2566)—Without objection, the bill was called up out of order, from page 14 of the Second Reading Calendar, by Mr. BERGER.

EDUCATION BILL OVER IN ORDER TEMPORARILY

HB 1807—Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I will be delighted to join with the gentleman in the calling of this bill up right after he has voted for the tax bill. This has not occurred. I want to call up the tax bill next.

Therefore, I move that we defer this for the moment until we have a vote or two, thereby passing the tax bill. I believe twenty-six votes are needed to pass a tax bill. There are now twenty-five votes on it, as I believe there were yesterday. If we can get twenty-six votes, I will be delighted to call this bill up for Second Reading and I will be delighted to vote for it on Third Reading. I am sure we will get fifty votes in this Senate for the bill.

This is the subsidy bill and is the one which is the heart of what we have been speaking about on the part of money, and on the part of getting these moneys for the school districts. This is a case of where the gentleman can have his cake and his penny, too. He merely has to give us the penny and we will be glad to give him the cake.

If there are no votes for the tax, I think the gentleman knows that I stated yesterday, on behalf of the Members on this side, that these bills will be dropped from the Calendar. I want to reiterate that now so there will be no confusion about it and no one will say that I did not tell them. I want to make sure that we understand each other. I am going to drop this and the other bills from the Calendar which carry appropriations with them.

Mr. President, I object to this bill being read for the second time at this particular time.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, the bill having been called up, I believe it requires a vote.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I now move that the bill go over in its order temporarily.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

A voice vote having been taken, the question was determined in the affirmative and the bill was passed over in its order temporarily.

HB 1789 CALLED UP

HB 1789 (Pr. No. 2666)—Without objection, the bill, which previously went over in its order temporarily, was called up from page 3 of the Final Passage Calendar by Mr. WEINER.

BILL ON FINAL PASSAGE DEFEATED

HB 1789 (Pr. No. 2666)—On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. STROUP. Mr. President and Members of the Senate, I will admit to being somewhat naive in fiscal matters, in so far as the Commonwealth is concerned. As I stand before you, I do not pretend to be any expert concerning these matters whatsoever. I have, however, devoted some time and have had some assistance in the study of the financial situation of our Commonwealth and of our government.

As a consequence, Mr. President, there are some figures which puzzle me. I would like, therefore, to call these figures to your attention.

As I understand the budget for 1961-1962, we had set up by our Administration revenue estimates of $971,384,000. The recent revised revenue estimates, as of the latest date, are $987,447,096. This shows a revised revenue estimate in the amount of about $16,063,096 over and above the budget for the year. I would also like to point out that included in these revised revenue estimates are the following:

An increase in corporate net income of $14,463,096; an increase in the capital stock and franchise tax of $1,000,000; the discontinuance of the fee for collection of the sales tax, $6,500,000; an increase in the insurance premium tax on domestic companies, $1,400,000; an estimate of increase from other taxes, $400,000; and added to that, beyond the figure which I have given you heretofore of better than $16,000,000, if, as I understand, the sales tax collection should go to $420,000,000,—as I believe Doctor Kurtzman recommended or more or less gave the idea to this Senate —there would be another $8,300,000.

The very least that we can look forward to in increased revenues, over and above the budget which was presented to us, would be almost $25,000,000. As a consequence of this analysis, I ask you—and I doubt very much whether I am in any error—what is the need for the bill which is before us, House Bill No. 1789? As I stand before you, I am quite positive that the Administration can find the money to carry out the provisions of House Bill No. 1807 from the revenue which it has coming in during the year. These facts prove that to me and I feel positive I am correct, until I can be shown otherwise.

I, therefore, submit to you, Mr. President, that it is unnecessary to pass this tax measure at all. However, it is vitally necessary to bring up the rest of the educational bills and go to work upon them. We should put them in order.

In addition to that, if it should be shown there is error, we have a fiscal year coming up in 1962 and the least that we should do, if we are sincere about our efforts on behalf of education, is to prepare ourselves now. If we find we do not have sufficient funds, we can face that issue in the next Session. This only makes good legislative sense. This causes all of us to rise to meet the obligation which is ours this evening.

Therefore, Mr. President, I call upon the gentlemen on the other side of the aisle to act accordingly.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. At this time, the Chair turns the gavel over to the Lieutenant Governor, the Honorable John Morgan Davis.

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant Governor John Morgan Davis) in the Chair.

The PRESIDENT. Thank you, Senator Donolow.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, today we have a rare opportunity in the Senate because today is the Fourth of July, Memorial Day and all the other holidays that we observe. I know that every gentleman, at some time or another, has made a speech on those glorious holidays which we have in this Country. I am certain he has spoken about the young men in this Country, about education, and about the great things that are going to be going on in this Commonwealth and this Nation.

Well, gentlemen, today is the day to carry out those speeches that you have made on those occasions. You should not only carry them out, but put in force the very facts that you constantly have expounded and which you have heard expounded on those occasions. If you do not put up the money and you do not put up the wherewithal in order to accomplish the things that we want to do and which are in the education program,—people on your own side served on the Select Committee and on the Governor's Committee—I think it is hypocrisy at its worst.

This is the day when you can put up the money to carry out the program. I think it is significant that you are interested in moving the subsidy bill which will mean more money in all of your counties for the school program. Yet, you are not willing to provide this money at all.

Let us look at this thing for just one moment and you decide who is interested in education and who wants to do the right thing.

You are perfectly willing to let us vote this tax. I have heard rumors that you are perfectly willing to permit the Lieutenant Governor to even break the tie. Suppose we took that aspect of it and suppose we passed the legislation and it were behind us. What would have happened? The Legislature would have mandated all this money to be spent, in the amount of $22,000,000 or $23,000,000. Yet, there would not be a tax to go with it to pay for it. We would end up with a tremendous deficit.

You and I know that the people this tax falls upon are not only influential, but affluent in our society. You well know that the day when this would go into effect, a lawsuit would be started and there would be an action against the Secretary of Revenue to prevent him from collecting the tax. We would have merely given away something that we do not have and do not have the wherewithal to do.

It is fine to stand up here and there is fat in the budget, there are too many employees and there is a great deal of money around which can be used. I have not seen anyone show it to me. You receive the same budgets that I get every month. You receive the same amount of literature from the Office of Administration and the Budget Secretary that I do. I do not see that fact; I do not see the money. If that is the case, I do not know where the deficit has been coming from. We should have wiped it out by now.

I think today is the day when you should put yourself on the line. You are either for or against education. The time for the talking and the double talk is over. The time for political speeches is over. Today is the day when you have to be a statesman and vote for this tax in order to provide the money to do the kind of a job that we want to do.

Yesterday, when we were here discussing this matter, I heard someone get up and go on at great length about the people who are sixty-five and over. The gentleman stated that these people cannot defend themselves or do anything to help themselves. Let me point out a few facts to you. These facts come from the Department of Commerce, in Washington, which, at the time when this was prepared, was not Democratic because the Democrats have not been there that long.

In Pennsylvania, approximately ten per cent of the total population is sixty-five years and over. The last census data indicates that the overwhelming majority of the aged population are no longer supported by earnings. The aged, as a group, are low in income status. Fewer than 1.4 persons, sixty-five and over, had as much as $2,000 in income in 1960. More than half had less than $1,000 in income.

Who are you concerned about? Are these the people about whom you are crying? Are these the people about whom you are concerned? They do not even fall in the category of the area which we spoke about yesterday.

On the national basis, it even falls lower and falls along a more diffused and widened area than that which we discussed yesterday. Therefore, what may be the popular notion is not borne out by the facts. The people who are of this age group do not receive most of their money from dividends. Much of their money comes from interest, and this is not taxed under this bill. A lot of it comes from rents and this is not taxed under this bill. A lot of it comes from other areas which are not covered in the bill at all. Therefore, these are not the people about whom you are concerned.

I think you are being less than candid when you do not come out and tell us who it is that you are trying to protect and who it is that you are really concerned about. I think you should bring these facts to our attention. Let us see if these people are the kind of people that you would feel we cannot tax to help some underprivileged child or to help any child with a good mind obtain an education.

I feel if we want to keep pace in this Country and if we want to catch up to what the Russians and other Countries are doing, and keep up the strides we have made and not fall behind, we must do this kind of work. It may not be pleasant to vote for taxes. There is no one who will ask you to vote for a tax and say that it is the greatest thing in the world. However, by the same token, there are many things which are necessary. It is sometimes necessary to hurt a youngster to vaccinate him. It is necessary sometimes to put him through an operation in order to save his life. This is what is involved here. This money is diffused over a number of people in Pennsylvania, none of whom will feel it.

Yesterday, the gentleman from Allegheny stated something concerning the people about whom he was concerned. After we interrogated him, it was revealed that it was eight cents a day that these people would have to pay. A package of cigarettes is twenty-eight cents a day. You decide which is more important. Is it the twenty-eight cents for the package of cigarettes or the eight cents a day to educate a child? I think this is what we must decide here today. If the people you want to protect, or the people you think you are protecting or giving succor to by not voting for this bill and not providing the means and wherewithal so that we can have a first-class educational system, come ahead of the interests which lie best not only for the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, but for the entire Country, for its well-being, for its defense and for its very life—if that does not come ahead of some small group of selfish individuals—I would say that your thinking is somewhat clouded. I would also say that you are taking a very jaundiced point of view of a very serious situation.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I am very delighted to know that this is the day when the end of the political speeches has arrived. That is one of the greatest ones I have heard lately.

Mr. President, the fact remains, in dealing with this tax bill, that it is a tax upon a certain segment of our population. It is an income tax only on that segment. As was stated yesterday in debate, that type of tax is repugnant and it should not be passed. Our attitude toward it has not changed since we voted upon it yesterday.

Therefore, Mr. President, I would suggest to the gentleman that he run the bill.

Mr. SILVERT. Mr. President, I spoke on this bill yesterday and I intend to be brief today.

Yesterday, we were met with the amazing statement, by Senator Hawbaker, that this two per cent tax is going to fall upon people who are the least able to pay. I do not think that Senator Hawbaker could get ten people in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania to agree with a statement of that kind. It is the most gross misstatement made in the Senate thus far.

There is no question that this tax will fall on some people and not on others. However, it will fall to the extent of ninety-eight per cent upon people who are able to pay.

Today we heard from Senator Stroup that there is fat in the budget and that we do not need new taxes. Senator Stroup very well knows that he was a member of the Select Committee. This committee was purposely made up of equal numbers of Democrats and Republicans. Its main purpose was to arrive at a tax program acceptable to both sides. We met a number of times and we discussed what we could do this year. Several taxes were discussed. This is the first time that I heard from Senator Stroup that there is enough money in the budget to pay this $23,000,000. I ask Senator Stroup if that were a fact, why did he not mention it to the Select Committee of which he was a member?

Mr. President, as I stated before, I do not intend to talk too long on this subject. This is simply a question of either proceeding with an improved educational system in Pennsylvania or killing it today. I have in my hand here some 200 telegrams, each one of which carries this tone:

"Urge strong support of House Bill No. 1789 to safeguard our education."

These wires come from all over Pennsylvania. The Republican Party will have to take the responsibility for killing a program which was studied by a nonpartisan group —the Education Committee which was appointed by the Governor. They must take the responsibility today of killing it. If that is what they want to do, they will suffer the consequences in the future.

Mr. WAGNER. Mr. President, yesterday seemed to be the day for argument, and I was not disposed to get into an argument on this matter, because I certainly was in no disagreement with those who say we should provide still more money for education and that it should be provided as soon as it can conveniently be done.

However, I feel from some of the things I have heard along the line yesterday and today that probably this is the time to philosophize a little bit about the circumstances in which we find ourselves, and what we ought to do about it.

I was quoted in the papers, as long ago as last Monday, as sincerely desiring to take a long and a hard look at this entire situation. I have probably been the last man in the Senate to make up my mind how I would vote on this bill. I am disposed to feel that I thought about it longer, later and more prayerfully, perhaps, than most of my colleagues. When I made my decision, it was because I feel that we are not in a position where we must take any kind of a tax in order to meet a job that needs to be done.

I was a little disappointed when the Majority Leader tried to back us into a corner when he said: "This is the day of decision, when you will be for education or will not be for education."

I have been for education and for a broad base tax for education since 1939, as a Member of the House. There are men on the sidelines today who know that I waited many years to get even a little portion of the things that we needed for schools. When we did get them, we got them the right way.

I was a Member of this Senate, who sat practically until Christmas Eve, trying to determine what kind of a tax we should use for education. I was ready at that time to vote for an income tax in Pennsylvania so that our schools might be properly sustained. I later voted for and have since voted for a sales tax, which was the alternative broad base tax to maintain education. I am not reluctant at any time to vote for a tax that seems to be equitable and to be fair.

I would remind those who care to go back just a few weeks that in the Select Committee on Education, I think I was the one who suggested that we probably ought to permit this tax to be thrown to the Legislature for consideration because it was one of only two taxes that the Governor had mentioned—the personal property tax and the dividend tax—for maintaining additional services to schools.

I said, gentlemen, that it seems to me we ought to take at least one of the recommendations of the Governor of this Commonwealth as part of our several considerations. At the time that we agreed this could be thrown out for consideration, we did not recommend it to be adopted. I thought several taxes meant three or four that we would give to the Legislators to consider. However, when we passed through taxes, I and two others, as I recall it, not only advocated the broadening of the sales tax for education,—because that is the vehicle which we have chosen in this State to pay our education bill—but I indicated that I would vote for a broadening of the sales tax. I think it was probably the first declaration of definite support for a tax measure that was uttered in that committee.

Since then, when this tax proposal came up, I have sincerely done exactly what I told my friends in the Democratic ranks and in the Republican ranks I would do. I invited people to meet with me. I discussed this with them —educators, business people and politicians. I wanted to know what effect it might have upon the economy, what effect it might have upon a certain segment of our population, and what effect it might have politically, because I am a politician.

Until yesterday morning, I received, from all quarters, discouragement regarding this specialized tax. Business people were against it, politicians were against it, educators were against it, with this occasional proviso: "We want money for our schools. We need it." Of course, I agree with them on that. "However, we do not want our name mentioned as endorsing this particular way to get it."

Educators, who are fine administrators and good businessmen, have said to me: "We desperately need higher subsidies for instruction purposes, but we would much rather have all of our people pay for it than just those, particularly, whose productive years are behind them."

In my final analysis, early yesterday morning, before I talked to Senator Weiner and told him frankly that my vote would be "no" on this particular bill, I thought of myself. I have reared five children. I put four of them through college. It cost a small fortune, relatively, to accomplish that and to achieve it. I wonder how I would feel if I were not in productive living today; if my working days were finished, and I were going to round out my last years with the help of dividends from some investments which I still have managed to make in spite of the educational hurdle. How would I feel if I and my particular group were singled out, almost to the exclusion of the producers, to pay for the educational effort and services to the children of the productively employed people today?

I do not think, Mr. President, that this is quite right. I think we do not need to admit—and I doubt whether anyone is going to accuse me of not being for an advanced program in education—that it is this or nothing. This is bad political philosophy, bad reasoning, and it is a bad position to take.

You men know that our schoolmen were in here last year, clinging to our coat lapels and calling us in our bedrooms early in the morning when we had been in Session late at night, telling us that they could not go on without increased subsidies. They did need it and they needed it desperately. Nobody in the front office or anywhere else saw fit to take any specific action about it until now. I say if they do not get it because of this type of tax in September, we have an obligation to continue to try until the right kind of revenue is derived which will be more acceptable and, thereby, give it to them in October or give it to them in November.

Better that the money for education be delayed, if necessary, a few more months to provide it in an exceptional fashion, rather than hasten it in the guise of an emergency in a way that is going to sour a great segment of our people against our schools and against the cause of education.

Ten minutes ago, I was handed a Special Delivery letter by somebody from the Post Office Department, which I have not been able as yet to completely read. It comes from West Newton, Pennsylvania, and I do not even know where West Newton is located.

I do not want the Majority Leader to ask me who wrote it, because I do not know her. To my knowledge, I have never met her. However, she indicates that she is writing this letter at 4:00 o'clock in the morning of August 31, hoping it will reach me before it is too late.

This retired school teacher states as follows and I quote:

> "My Pittsburgh paper says you have favored school bills"—over all of your legislative years—" and are enduring a fight within yourself. That, I'd say, was to your credit, but I'm just asking you to consider that we can be for the principle of better schools and still honestly believe that a means toward realizing that may be . . . ill-advised or unjustified at a particular time and under certain conditions . . ."

I quote further from the lady's letter, in which she says:

> "I never could accept the philosophy that 'the end justifies the means' . . ."

I pause here, Mr. President, because it seems to me that the communist philosophy has been, in recent years, that anything was all right if it brought the desired results.

Any way is all right to achieve the ascendancy of communism.

I do not think that even in education any means are justified in order to achieve an end which can only be temporary. I am sure my good friends, particularly Senator Seyler and Senator Hays, remember that I said in the meeting that the best thing that can happen to education is that all of those who are enjoying its benefits participate in the payment of it, which is why we set up a broad base tax and which is why the sales tax is such an excellent vehicle to accomplish that purpose.

Mr. President, I am now reading further from this letter as follows:

> ". . . it just seems"—the lady continues—"always to have been my nature to hate injustice or what I think is unfair . . ."

Then I proceed to the second and third pages of the letter rather rapidly, and she points out that:

> "The bill is discriminatory; it is segregation. It sets a certain segment of us apart to be 'plucked' for the benefit of another favored segment.
> "The old rabble-rouser, 'soak the rich', seems to have given away to 'soak whomever has anything' if that somebody is unorganized or unprotected by friends in high places.
> "Rents were eliminated." I continue to quote, Mr. President. "Could that have any interest to an eastern multi-millionaire 'angel' with large realty holdings?"

That, I do not know how to explain, but it is in the letter and I pass it along because rents have been eliminated.

Now, Mr. President, I say to you this afternoon that I woke up at night this week, thinking about those additional thousands of dollars that would come to the County of Schuylkill with this increased subsidy bill passed. I have conferred with a cross-section of my people in Schuylkill County and in other parts of the State, and I think I enjoy a rather enviable relationship with leading citizens in the field of education and the field of commerce throughout this Commonwealth.

I reached the conclusion, Mr. President, that our folks in Schuylkill County would dearly love to have these extra thousands of dollars through an increased constructional subsidy. However, these rugged folks in Schuylkill County, who are less favored in many instances than some of the other parts of our State, tell me in terms that I cannot misunderstand that the only way they would be happy with this additional money is to feel that the part of it that comes from taxation from Schuylkill County comes from all of us in Schuylkill County, and not just primarily from those who are no longer working.

Mr. HAYS. Mr. President and Members of the Senate, it is with some degree of reluctance that I follow my distinguished colleague from Schuylkill County, for he has carried the banner for his Party, as far as education is concerned, with distinction and honor for many years before I came to the Senate of Pennsylvania.

I want to start my remarks by making a comment. I will begin by perhaps going back to the eighth or ninth inning of the first game of this double-header, when the Senator from Bedford, Senator Stroup, and I had a little interplay about this Select Committee on Education.

Before I read from the notes of the Secretary of that Committee, I want to say—for fear it was not clear yesterday—that although the record will show that we recommended the consideration of two taxes, I think, in fairness to three gentlemen on the other side of the aisle and to every Member of the Committee, it should be said that everyone said: "This is no wise commits me to vote for this tax legislation." I think this is a statement that I owe to my colleagues.

I am now quoting from the minutes of July 18, 1961, and this is very brief:

> "It was moved that we recommend for consideration by the Caucus"—Caucuses, I presume—"a two per cent tax on income from dividends, rents, interest, royalties and capital gains. It was seconded and carried unanimously."

I think this is what I said yesterday, with the exception that I am sure I said that it be recommended to the General Assembly and not to the Caucuses.

Then it was also moved on that same day—and, I might say, the record shows that all fourteen Members were present—that we approve of the two percent form of income, dividend, etc., tax as being one of several taxes to be recommended for consideration by the Caucuses.

That is all of the minutes, I think, apropos to the discussion of yesterday and of today. We did say, as Senator Wagner has said, "several taxes." Several meetings after this, we had a semantics problem of what "several" meant, and we had to settle for two taxes; namely, an extension of the sales tax, as we pointed out yesterday, on trade-ins, and this tax that we have before us for consideration.

Later, we agreed on the parts of the Governor's program that we had approved, largely, the bills that are on the Calendar today. These would have the endorsement of the Select Committee.

It is for every Member of that Committee to say, it seems to me, and for the public to judge—and I can only answer for myself—whether, when I approve a part of a program that obviously is going to cost money, this implies that I also am willing to find the revenue for it. I shall not impute any of my colleagues on this particular question because each one of us, perhaps, has our own views on this. However, this is the way I recall the situation.

Now to go back to the first game yesterday, southern Pennsylvania got into the debate a good deal. Since my forebears were born, raised, multiplied and died in that section, I think I would like to say that while it was implied here that the mood of William McKinley prevailed in southern Pennsylvania in years gone by,—and perhaps today—I grew up in the mood of the ideals of Woodrow Wilson.

I am a little reluctant to get autobiographical here, but some other Senators have. I was born and raised on a poor York County farm, and I happened to be the youngest of a rather large family. Because of the fact that this General Assembly, in years gone by, probably had not provided free high school education for my older brothers and sisters, I happened to be the only one in my family who had the privilege of a high school education at public expense.

I lived fifteen miles from the nearest high school, and fifteen miles in those days was as far as San Francisco today, very nearly. So, from butter and egg money,—the influence of Pennsylvania State University was not on our farm and we did it the old-fashioned way—my dear mother, who has passed away, sacrificed and I was able, although perhaps the least worthy of my brothers and sisters, to get this high school education.

My mother told me something that I shall never forget and which, perhaps, is the reason I am standing here. She did not leave me any stocks and bonds. She was the last of my parents to be deceased. However, she left me something that I treasure. She said: "What you put in education, you never lose." I repeat: "What you put in education, you never lose."

Mr. President, I would be the last one—and I am sure all of you gentlemen would second the motion—to try to discuss the merits of a tax. This subject is not in my range. Senator Silvert, Senator Wade and others can, and do, do this very well. However, at the present time, I only have one tax from which to choose, just one tax. What happened to the tax on trade-ins? I am not a Member of the House and, therefore, I cannot say. However, here I am with only one tax to consider, and this is not a perfect tax. I wish we could have certain exemptions, but I cannot make that choice. Today, I must choose this tax or no tax.

It has been stated here a number of times that ninety per cent of this tax will be paid by people who are well able to pay it. I do not believe this fact has been contradicted. For instance, in Cumberland County, I think it was brought out that there are people with an income of $1,400, perhaps, which would be taxable under this tax.

May I remind you that it seems to me the important thing about a tax bill is not the different segments of the bill, but the total tax. I have said on his Senate floor before, and I repeat myself, that all the data that I have ever seen from the U. S. Department of Commerce, under President Truman and President Eisenhower,—I do not believe I have seen anything under President Kennedy—will indicate that if you add the total tax paid per capita in Pennsylvania, both local and State, it is much below the national average. It is also below most of the States surrounding Pennsylvania.

Let us think of the people who will be paying ten per cent of this tax—these $1,400 people. It was pointed out, for example, that in Cumberland County this tax would return to Cumberland County $285,000. This is not a pork barrel for the front office. This money will be expended by elected school directors in every one of the 2,200 school districts of the Commonwealth and not by the front office. However, when Cumberland County receives this $285,-000, it will be distributed to each of the districts. Then, Mr. President, a school board can do one of two things, or a combination of them. It can reduce the taxes or it can prevent the taxes from increasing. I woud point out to you that if this should have the effect of three mills on a house which is assessed at $5,000 ,this $1,400 income-person could possibly have a deduction of fifteen dollars from his local tax on the basis of paying twenty-eight dollars on this other tax. Therefore, the impact of this tax is much less than it would first appear to be.

In passing, I might also say that I know it is true that Senator Wagner made the statement that he favored a broad base tax. He made this statement earlier in a committee meeting. I believe, on the floor of this Senate, more than two months ago, I said that I, too, favored the extension of a form of taxation on consumers and that I would support such a tax.

This tax, of course, has been described almost as a kind of blood money tax; that we are taking blood from people. When you take blood from people, it seems to me that it depends for what purpose you take the blood. If you take the blood for a transfusion, then, it seems to me, when you give your blood, you are doing a wonderful service. Here, we are transferring from a certain group of people, it is true, ninety percent of whom will not be hurt. They are people who can afford to pay this tax. Into what channels will this blood money go? Well, it will go to the school districts of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and it will go indirectly into teachers' salaries.

During the last two or three days, in the local newspapers, I read the following headlines: "Central Dauphin Joint Seeks Four Teachers." I believe school is going to open next week at Central Dauphin. I have another newspaper clipping here and the headline reads: "West Shore Still Lacks 4 Teachers." This is especially distressing to me because I read where they need a teaching principal at my alma mater over in York County.

If you follow your newspapers concerning a study of teacher vacancies at this time, I think you will find that this is typical all over the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. If there are 400 such districts in Pennsylvania that do not now have teachers, this certainly means they are going to have a teacher. However, will it be an adequate teacher? This is the question. If there are 400 such districts and each of them has four teachers, you have 1,600 inadequate teachers there. If each one of them teaches thirty pupils, next week, going into this school year, you would have 48,000 pupils, perhaps, with not the kind of instruction they should have. We have waited too long to bolster public education in Pennsylvania.

While the gentleman from Canonsburg received letters, I am sure that this Senator and other Senators received telegrams. I just skimmed a few of these telegrams off the top. To give you an impression of the condition of some school districts and the situation in some parts of Pennsylvania, I shall read one or two of the telegrams, as follows:

> "Legislation for education in Penna. is at the cross roads. We all anticipate your support to make it possible for the tax Bill Number 1789 and the basic subsidy and other legislative bills to be passed before adjournment. It is my personal hope you can make this possible.
> "Chas. E. Chaffey, Supt., Bethlehem Area Joint School System."

> "In the interest of education we urge you to support Bill 1789.
> "The Faculty Association, Shippensburg State College."

> "If you vote 'no' for House Bill 1789 it will cost Mercer County Schools one-half million dollars. The Commodore Perry Schools urge you to vote for this bill.
> "Willis E. Horton, High School Principal."

The following is a most interesting telegram because my attention has just been called to a release from one of the wire services of Pennsylvania:

> "Democratic and Republican spokesmen say that the Chief Professional Teachers Education Association of the State has taken no stand on this tax question."

I do not know who the Democratic spokesman was. I can only say that it was not I because the following telegram came to me. It is from G. Baker Thompson, President, Pennsylvania State Education Association, and reads as follows:

> "The educational needs of Pennsylvania school districts and teachers are so critical that they cannot be ignored by the State Legislature. Legislation that would give some relief to the crisis is, we are informed, dependent upon additional tax measures. Therefore, as President of the 78,000 members of the Pennsylvania State Education Association, I respectfully request your support of HB 1789."

Another telegram was sent to me from Lloyd B. Peters, Superintendent of Crawford County Schools, and reads as follows:

> "Increased school subsidy imperative this Session. Urge support of House Bill 1789."

My friends in DuBois have not neglected me. I received a telegram from the DuBois Area Education Association, which reads as follows:

> "Respectfully request your support for HB 1789."

Another telegram from Marsby C. Little, Superintendent of Schools, Waynesboro, reads as follows:

> "Certainly hope something can be salvaged in the school subsidy bill. Believe me, it is vitally important to local school systems."

I received telegrams from the Superintendent of the Williamsport Schools; the Spartansburg Teachers of Crawford County; Millard E. Gladfelter, President, Temple University; and The Blair County Education Legislative Committee. So, far into the night, I could read these telegrams.

This, of course, is where $18,000,000 of this blood money would go in order to bolster the teaching morale in the school districts which are in need of help in all parts of Pennsylvania. A part of it goes to the State University. We now have the highest tuition rate, I am told, at this State University of any of the State Universities in the Country. This would have the effect of reducing or preventing an increase of seventy-five dollars per student at the State University, if this should be true. As you know, a part of it goes to the State Colleges for increased salaries.

May I say that one of the most serious questions put before the Governor's Committee related to what we should do about higher education in the 1960's. All the studies that were made would indicate that now we have 138,000 people in colleges and, by 1970, we will have to have space for almost 300,000 men and women in our colleges. It is going to be difficult to build the buildings. However, building the buildings is minor compared to obtaining a faculty to give adequate instruction to these people. This is a tremendous undertaking. It seems to me that it is about time that we bolster up the family salaries in the State Colleges so that we do not continue to lose faculty members to institutions in other States.

Therefore, Mr. President, I am sure that this is one of the major—if not the major—proposals before this 1961 Session of the Senate of Pennsylvania. Everyone says that the struggle between Communism and Democracy is going to be won in the classrooms of the two counties. I have faith in our youth. If we give them the tools in proper schools and proper teachers, I think they will come through. However, it seems to me that it is folly for us to delay until next January or even until tomorrow. Now is the time to pass this legislation and give relief, encouragement and support for public education in Pennsylvania.

Bank power is a wonderful thing, but bank power will not do us very much good if we do not have the brain power to compete with our rivals.

Therefore, Mr. President, I urge the Members of the Senate, this afternoon, to transform and to transmit some of this bank power blood into brain power blood. Then we can hold up our heads to the whole world, and back up our President and our entire policy. I urge you to do this. I repeat again what my good mother said: "What you put into education, you never lose."

Mr. STROUP. Mr. President, I shall be reasonably brief. However, I must, in retrospect, go back to the dying days of the 1959 Session. At that time, in a Joint Conference Committee, we considered a tax. In that Conference Committee, we proposed alternative taxes in order that we might be able to get a tax upon which the legislative body could focus their attention and approve, to bring relief to our distressed school districts which were so vitally in need of money. We failed. Here again, we face the same knavery this evening. We face failure again. We face failure, Mr. President, for just one reason, and that is, because the Administration is adamant. It will give only that kind of a tax it says it must have. It will not go along on trying to get a tax which they know would be acceptable and which they have been told would be acceptable to this side of the Chamber.

Mr. President, I would certainly subscribe to the latter statements of my distinguished collague, Senator Hays. Certainly, there is no wealth in all of this Commonwealth except the wealth that we have and can produce with the application of intelligent minds upon our natural resources. It is our duty and obligation to see that our schools improve. We all recognize that this is vitally necessary to the productive capacity of our Nation and the continuance of its place as a leader in the free world. We subscribe to that. We ask but one thing of you, gentlemen; that is, go along with us on a tax which all of us can accept in order that moneys can be provided for our schools, rather than trying to foist down our throats this very inequitable and unfair type of tax which is presently being presented to us.

I should like further to comment, Mr. President, that in the Select Committee on Education I think I was one of those who accepted, with portfolio, the statements which were made that this tax was absolutely necessary. It was not until the last several days, may I say, that I started to make an analysis of the fiscal situation. I have not been effectively contradicted that there is about $24,000,000 or $25,000,000 over and above the budget estimates for the year, and that this money is available. I present it to you for your consideration, Mr. President.

I shall not speak further, except to say that I do represent areas which are vitally in need of funds. I have worked for seven years for the cause of education in the halls of this General Assembly. I have assiduously, constantly and consistently studied the problems in order to try to know something about them. I regret, indeed, that we are faced with a decision on such an inequitable and unfair tax that we cannot give the money to them now. However, I further say, and I ask your attention, that if you once fail on something which you have started and if on this particular evening this tax cannot be put across, then indeed why give up the battle? Why do you not come back with something else at a later date? It is never too late to bring relief to those who cry for help.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, it seems to me that at any time in this Legislature,—and, perhaps, particularly at this present time, which we hope are the closing hours of the Session—the Members of the House and the Members of the Senate suffer from the danger of falling into what is perhaps an occupational disease. The disease I am referring to is one which we might call "legislative amnesia." It is a disease which afflicts us because we have been up here for a long time and have wrestled with many problems. We have come to know the views of the various people involved. We have been throwing back and forth accusations, counter-accusations, charges and counter-charges, so that what we are doing here, in the way of politics as usual, seems to us to loom very important. If we were able to disembody ourselves from this situation and return to the situation of somebody back in the Districts which we are sent to represent, it might be a healthy thing for all of us. Perhaps we are not capable of this. At this crucial time, however, I would like to ask that all of us at least make the attempt to take that sort of an objective view on this situation.

I do not think there is anyone in this room who, if he thinks about it, will deny the fact that of all the problems which we have considered in this Session of the Legislature,—in fact, if we put all the problems together and all the solutions together—there is nothing so important to the welfare of our Commonwealth and to the welfare of this Nation as the problem we are considering tonight. If this Legislature wishes to make a real contribution to the future of this Commonwealth, tonight is the night to do it. What we do tonight, it would seem to me, will overshadow all the other activities that we have undertaken.

Secondly, I do not think there is anyone who will deny that in this Commonwealth there are thousands of men and women who are just as concerned, and need to be just as concerned, with the problem which we tonight are facing as we are. Of course, I am referring, first of all, to the parents of the Commonwealth. These are the people who really have a stake in what we are talking about tonight. It is their children who are going to be affected. However, I am thinking secondly of the thousands of school directors. We, as a Legislature, have set up school districts and the people have chosen these school directors in order to make it possible to offer a good program of public education in this Commonwealth. If you have talked to these people, I think you know that these people are concerned. They are concerned just as we are. They face the problem of having adequate funds in view of rising costs, in view of increasing school population, and in view of important changes in curriculum, dictated often by national survival, to offer just the highest quality of public education that it is possible to offer. It is not easy for them. If you have talked to these people and know anything about their viewpoints, you know that they are looking at this Legislature tonight. They are looking right here at this Senate and they are concerned about what you do. What you do tonight is going to determine their ability to carry out the mission which previous Legislatures gave them; namely, to furnish a public school program which is of as high a quality as is possible to furnish for the young people of our Commonwealth.

Are we going to help them or are we not? It seems to me that the problem comes down to that tonight. I also think of the thousands of professional people who, from my point of view and in view of the other occupations and professions which are competing for our manpower and womanpower in this Commonwealth and in the Nation, are rather unselfishly devoting themselves to a job with a very high objective; that is, to do their best for the children of Pennsylvania and of this Nation. They are concerned because they cannot do a job unless you, tonight, take the step which will make it possible for them to have the wherewithal to do the job.

Therefore, Mr. President, fathers and mothers, school directors and the professional staff of our schools are looking tonight at this Senate. They are asking what we are going to do for education in the Commonwealth.

In addition to public education, I would not want anyone, if he has not heard about it, to be unaware of the fact that not only are we in a critical situation in so far as public education is concerned, but as we face the future and look at the mounting population figures and the mounting requirements due to automation, due to the problems of national survival, I would not want anyone to be oblivious of the fact that in higher education we face a monumental task during the next ten to twenty years. Unless we begin now to provide money in order to make it possible to have the buildings, the staff and to have things underway, there are many of the young people of Pennsylvania, now in our secondary and elementary schools, who are not going to have the opportunities they should have and need to have, and which our Nation needs them to have, in the future. Those people—the people who are operating our institutions of higher learning—are look at this Senate tonight and asking whether we are going to make a start to help them solve this problem in the future.

It seems to me this the reality of this situation. It is not just a question of who is going to win on points. It is not a question of whether the Democrats are going to score or whether the Republicans are going to score. It is not a question of whether we should brand this as a Democratic tax or a Republican tax. Tonight, we are here to rise above partisan consideration of that sort. We should look at this problem as men who have been given the job in this Commonwealth of looking at this situation honestly and fairly and moving toward a solution. If we deny these interested people their possibility of doing that job, then it seems to me the responsibility for this is on those who refuse to take that action.

I will admit that it takes courage to translate this into providing the needed revenue. I think it is very foolish at this point to delude ourselves with any idea that somewhere somebody is going to wave a wand and find a buried treasure which can be thrown into the breach. We have gone over the appropriations and we have gone over the tax program with a fine tooth comb. We spent months—many of us—in sitting and listening to every part of this government. We have come in and have justified to a penny the expenditures we were going to make before we even voted on an appropriation and before we voted on any taxes. I think it is very foolish at this point to hope that by some legerdemain or some magician, some undisclosed moneys can be discovered.

The other missions or the other purposes of our budget have to be served. Those amounts are budgeted. The Governor has taken an upright and, to my mind, an honest position in saying that he will not sign any further bills calling for money unless there is revenue to meet that demand. This is the kind of budgeting that I would think all of us would want a Governor of this Commonwealth to take.

Let me say a few words on the subject of whether this is an appropriate tax. In the first place, let me say that yesterday and today I listened very closely to the debate. I heard one gentleman from the other side say that in his mind it would be better to have an income tax. This is a rather novel position for a Member on the other side to take. However, I accept it. Then I found another gentleman who said that he thinks we should do it by deficit financing. He said that we should go ahead and spend it and when we come back in January, we will provide the money. Deficit financing is another remedy, I heard. I then heard somebody say that it would be better to charge everybody in the Commonwealth two dollars; in other words, a poll tax or a per capita tax. That was offered as a suggestion. I heard that some people would have preferred to extend the sales tax to other items; perhaps to food and clothing. I would like to ask, Mr. President, where were these gentlemen and their colleagues in the House at the time when it was appropriate to pass a revenue bill?

You have heard some discussion from both sides about the history of our Select Committee. At that time, we searched for a number of evenings, during evening meetings, looking for a tax program. We came up with two taxes. First of all, the Committee, by a majority vote, voted down the one suggestion which was made by the Governor. The Governor, after all, did have the courage to make a suggestion. One of his suggestions we voted down. The other, as I recall, was unanimously voted for consideration by the Caucuses. In addition to that, from Republican sources, we got the suggestion of the trade-in tax or removing the trade-in exemption. This was another feasible program. Other proposals did not get a majority vote of the committee. However, it was open to either Party or any individual, in the House of Representatives, to bring forth any of these taxes which you gentlemen now look upon with such longing eyes that you would have much rather had and could have offered. You are certainly on speaking terms with people in the House. If this was a desirable tax, we could have had this tax before us. As Senator Hays said, we do not. We only have one tax before us. If this is the wrong tax, somebody has failed. Somebody has failed to put before us that popular tax, whatever that might be, and we all could have shouted "hosanna" and joined in passing it. I do not think there is any popular tax. I think we may as well admit that to pass any revenue-producing program takes courage. It takes the realization that we have a great need. Otherwise, let us not have any additional taxes. However, if we do have that need, then it takes courage; the courage to say that we will furnish the necessary revenue to take care of that need. I think this is the situation that we are in tonight. I think we are at the point when we must make a decision which is basic for the future of this Commonwealth or, perhaps, even larger. The action we take tonight concerns not only the welfare of our Commonwealth and the welfare of our own children, but it seems to me, in a greater sense, it is a "yes" or "no" vote on our national survival.

Do you know there is a gentleman in the world who has said he is going to bury us? He lives in a Country which devotes a large proportion of its public wealth toward education. If that gentleman buries us, in my opinion, it will not be because he has better weapons. I think we have the know-how and the ability to produce the weapons. It will not be because that Country has greater resources, because America has great resources. It will not be because the men and women of that Country have greater courage or greater natural ability, because we have it. If we fail and if that gentleman succeeds in his promise, to my mind, it will be because in State halls just like this one in our Nation, and in Congress, we have failed to meet the challenge to produce the educated boys and girls of today and make educated people of tomorrow who are capable of meeting the challenge offered by that gentleman or by any other person or group of persons in the world.

Therefore, Mr. President, I say tonight that the question we are being asked is not one of whose bill is it, who is going to get the credit for it, or who is going to get the blame for it. The question is: What are we going to do with the children of our Commonwealth? What are we going to do to help our school boards, our school directors and our professional staff to do the jobs to which they were appointed and elected, and which they were given by the Commonwealth? On the basis of that question, the people are going to judge our actions tonight.

References have been made to the receiving of telegrams. I, too, have received many telegrams. In fact, I received a total of 217 wires from many differnt types of people in fifty counties. I have those with me. These fifty counties cover all sorts of people who are interested in education. I am speaking of school directors, school superintendents, school principals, teachers and parents. These are all people who are vitally interested. They have sent me these telegrams and I assume that they have sent telegrams to other Members of the Senate. I judge from the response that telegrams have been sent to the members of the Select Committee. I hope they will share them with the rest of you because, to my mind, this is an illustration that there are people in this Commonwealth who are not only vitally interested in the program because they know what they need, but they are saying to us tonight that we should have the courage to pass the revenue measure which is needed and then we will have the support of the people in the Commonwealth who are interested in better education for our children.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—25

Less than a majority of all the Senators having voted "aye," the question was determined in the negative, and the bill was defeated.

HB 1807 CALLED UP

HB 1807 (Pr. No. 2566)—Without objection, the bill, which previously went over in its order temporarily, was called up from page 14 of the Second Reading Calendar by Mr. WEINER.

EDUCATION BILL DROPPED FROM CALENDAR

HB 1807 (Pr. No. 2566)—Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I now move that House Bill No. 1807 be dropped from the Calendar.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, this is the bill which would provide for subsidization for the various school districts in Pennsylvania. We have debated the tax bill at length. I believe it has been said by all of the speakers who were speaking on behalf of the tax bill that this is the day when you must stand up and be counted for or against education.

Mr. President, here is the bill upon which the people in this room will be counted as being for or against education. The dropping of this bill, in the face of what has been said as to available revenues, will indicate to all of the school districts in Pennsylvania, which are in such great need, that the Members voting for this motion are not interested in the betterment of the condition of our various school districts.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, the gentleman can remedy that situation if he wants to. He can ask that the tax bill which has just been defeated be recalled. I will ask that we suspend the rules and we will be very happy to vote on this measure once again. That can be done very easily.

There are $18.6 million dollars involved in this bill. I had advised the gentlemen seated in this Chamber today that this was exactly what was going to happen and when it was going to happen. I told them that there would not be another chance to do this thing this year nor next year. The gentlemen knew this. I am now advising them, Mr. President, that if they are interested in this measure, before this bill is dropped from the Calendar, if they want to recall the tax bill, I will certainly patiently wait. I will move that the rules be suspended. We can do that as a unanimous group and bring the bill back to be voted upon.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I am sorry the gentleman misunderstood me, as I am sure he must have. What I said was that in view of what has been said as to the availability of revenue under existing tax measures, a vote to drop this bill, which will relieve the financial distress of our school districts, is, in effect, a vote against education.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, may I correct this wrong impression that has been abroad for sometime? There is no revenue and there is no fat in the budget. I have called upon the gentlemen, both yesterday and today, to show me where it is and where we have this money. Somebody came up here with some wild figure of eight hundred and some odd millions of dollars. I would like to point out that there have been lapses in the budget in the last number of years in the $18,000,000 and $20,000,000 class. This is only because we have cut down and cut back many of the programs. Some of the programs could not get started because the Legislature provided the money too late.

Therefore, Mr. President, there is not this kind of money available. It is nonsense to even think there is or to even talk about it.

Mr. President, I reiterate my motion that House Bill No. 1807, Printer's No. 2566, be dropped from the Calendar.

Mr. HAYS. Mr. President, I intend to vote for the motion. In voting for this motion, I am voting in opposition to deficit financing.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

(During the calling of the roll, the following occurred:)

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, may we be at ease a moment?

The PRESIDENT. The Senate will be at ease.

(The Senate was at ease.)

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I wish to inquire as to how Senator Miller is record as voting.

Mr. PRESIDENT. The gentleman is recorded as voting "aye."

Mr. SILVERT. Mr. President, may I inquire how I am recorded as having voted?

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Philadelphia is recorded as voting "aye."

A roll call having been requested by a number of Senators, the roll was called and resulted as follows:

YEAS—25

Camiel,	Lane,	Mullin,	Seyler,
Devlin,	Mahady,	Murray,	Silvert,
DiSilvestro,	McCreesh,	Ripp,	Staisey,
Donolow,	McGinnis,	Rooney,	Stiefel,
Haluska,	McMenamin,	Sarraf,	Weiner,
Hays,	Miller,	Sesler,	Yatron,

Bell,	Fleming,	Mallery,	Stroup,

Chapman,	Keller,	Propert,	Van Sant,
Confair,	Kessler,	Scott,	Wade,
Ehrgood,	Kromer,	Shafer,	Wagner,
Flack,	Madigan,	Stevenson,	Ware, III,

So the question was determined in the affirmative, and the bill was dropped from the Calendar.

HB 1817 CALLED UP OUT OF ORDER

HB 1817 (Pr. No. 2567)—Without objection, the bill was called up out of order, from page 14 of the Second Reading Calendar, by Mr. WEINER.

EDUCATION BILL DROPPED FROM CALENDAR

HB 1817 (Pr. No. 2567)—Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I move that House Bill No. 1817 be dropped from the Calendar.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I rise to oppose this motion. This is the bill which would increase the salaries of the faculty of the State Colleges.

Again, I repeat what I said before. A vote to drop this bill is, in effect, a vote against the bill.

Mr. WEINER Mr. President, I just do not understand this kind of thinking or this kind of operation. It completely escapes me. If someone will enlighten me, I will be delighted to feel that my day here has not been wasted. I cannot see how you can vote against the means of providing the things which these bills contain. Here is a bill which contains $620,000 for faculty salary increases at our State Colleges. How can you vote against the means for providing the money for this and, yet, vote to keep this on the Calendar? This kind of logic I do not understand; it completely escapes me.

It may sound very well. However, as I stated earlier, this is the Fourth of July, Memorial Day and all the holidays, when all the fine speeches which people make about education take place. It is also the day when you should provide the votes and the material in order to put this into effect. If you have not seen fit to do that, I cannot understand how you can see fit to ask that the benefits, which would flow from this, be provided.

As the gentleman well knows, every benefit has a burden connected with it. The burden in this case was to provide the votes to take care of the money for it. The gentleman did not want to meet this burden. I do not understand how he can ask us to provide these same benefits. Having done that, I think it is ill-advised at this time to even ask us.

As I stated earlier, and I extend the same invitation to the gentleman again, I will be very happy to suspend the rules, on behalf of the Democratic Caucus. If the tax bill is brought back, we will vote on it again. We have twenty-five Democratic votes and we will vote for education and for what these bills will mean.

Mr. President, I repeat my motion that House Bill No. 1817, Printer's No. 2567, be dropped from the Calendar.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I renew my statement that a vote to drop this bill is a vote against the bill. With respect to the type of thinking—although I do not always subscribe to it—which has been attributed to me by Senator Weiner, I might harken back to some pages of the Journal when a similar observation was made by him concerning another bill.

However, Mr. President, in so far as the available revenues are concerned to take care of this six hundred and some odd thousand dollars which is contained in this bill, let me point out to the gentlemen that only within the past few days, they passed a bill which would increase the cost in a certain segment of our various school districts by what was estimated then to be about $4,000,000. No questions were asked as to where that money was coming from.

Mr. HAYS. Mr. President, I intend to vote for the motion and, by so doing, I am voting against deficit financing.

Mr. HAWBAKER. Mr. President, before we call the roll, I would just like to make one small observation.

It seems to me that it is a very clear coincidence that a matter of such vital importance as education would be delayed in this legislative body until a few hours before final adjournment. I listened with a great deal of interest to some very eloquent statements from the other side as to their sincerity with regard to doing something for education. However, in my thinking, I cannot reconcile how they can be as sincere as they pretend to be, when all of this elaborate preparation with regard to educational matters was available to us when this Session convened in January and we passed numerous tax bills. However, it was not until we got to the very last one that it was labeled something for education. Mr. President, this indicates to me that education was put on the very bottom of the list with regard to priority. I can come to no other conclusion.

I would like to make one further observation, Mr. President. These bills which are being dropped from the Calendar represent a final step that we are taking. If this is an error, and I am sure it is, it cannot be corrected until 1963. However, if our position could be found in error,—and there are grave doubts in my mind and the minds of Members on this side with regard to revenue estimates—this situation can be corrected at near four months hence. If we drop these bills from the Calendar, however, we have done a grave injustice that cannot be repaired for another two years.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I want to advise the gentleman that the error which he made was the error of not listening when we, on this side, stated that we would do exactly what we are doing here because there was not the revenue. I also advised the gentleman, and I am now advising him again, that there will not be any chance to correct it unless he and his colleagues come up here and vote for a tax program.

In order that there be no mistake about it, I am advising the gentlemen tonight that if they want to correct this error, today is the day on which to do it. Four, five or six months from now is not the time to do it; today is the day.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, just on the indictment of this coming late in the Sessison, I would remind the gentleman that he has forgotten that the Governor's Committee, which was appointed pursuant to a resolution of the last Session, worked for a year on this project. It presented a report on the first day of April. After that, we wrestled with Members of the opposite side for a considerable time in trying to get them to implement the bipartisan Select Committee. This caused considerable delay. Having done that, we then took an appropriate amount of time in working in the bipartisan committee. This, too, took time for adequate consideration.

At that time, I recall the gentlemen on the opposite side saying that we should not go too fast with this and that we should give it plenty of consideration. Then, the House took up the problem of accepting the program and implementing it with a revenue program. This, of course, took time because due to the fact that there were not any Republican votes available, it took considerable time before they could succeed in passing the revenue program. It then came over here and I think the gentleman will testify that it has not received dilatory action in this Senate. We could not be as prompt as might be expected with a bill of this magnitude because of the consideration it needed.

I might say, also, that we were living in the hope that we might find a softened heart somewhere that would lend a vote. In short, I would say to the gentleman that I do not think—while this is a popular sort of charge to make—in the case of this series of bills it is justified.

The PRESIDENT. Senator Seyler, as Chairman of the Governor's Committee on Education, may I thank you. To me, a wonderful group of people worked for one solid year by giving of their time, without compensation, simply because they believe in the cause of education in Pennsylvania.

They have brought to our legislative bodies a report that is recognized throughout the United States as one of the finest reports ever made by such a committee. I have stood here tonight and watched all of their efforts —they were a bipartisan group with only one interest, that being education for the children of our Commonwealth—go down the drain.

Therefore, Senator Seyler, I am deeply grateful for your statement on their behalf.

Mr. STROUP, Mr. President, I think we should correct the situation here. It was not necessary to have the Governor's Report of the Education Committee for us to realize that we needed money for subsidy at all. We knew that in the 1959 Session, the 1960 Session, and we knew it when we come here in 1961. All we needed to do was to get to work then and there on a subsidy bill. We should have gotten to work on a tax bill and cooperated toward the end that we could raise the necessary taxes to meet the need. Certainly, the Governor's Committee Report came up with recommendations as to formulas. Certainly, it came up with certain suggestions as to taxes. We did not need to wait until March 15th or April 1, whenever that report was given to us, nor did we need to spend the days and the hours we spent on the Select Committee to know that we needed money. We could have started on this program right after January 1, 1961.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, it has often been said that the proof of the pudding is in the eating. If I were on the other side, I know that right now I would be wondering to myself how I could go back home and explain my vote. I think the Members on the other side are now making speeches, feeling that by making these speeches they can justify their vote against the tax.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

The roll was called and resulted as follows:

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the House of Representatives for concurrence.

RECESS

Mr. WEINER, Mr. President, I believe the picture is very clear, and I do not have to do anything further to clarify it or spell it out for anyone else.

I am now going to request a recess. If anyone has a twinge of conscience or has difficulty about this problem, they will have an opportunity to state it when we come back.

I will assure you that the same old cry may be heard about suspending the rules and bringing the tax measure back. I will be delighted to do so at that time.

Mr. President, before requesting a recess, I wish to announce that there will be a meeting held in the Republican Caucus Room. All of the Members of the Senate, the employees and the members of the Press are invited to this meeting. We promise that no vote will be taken at that time.

Mr. President, I now request a recess of the Senate until 7:30 p.m., Eastern Standard Time.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. STIEFEL asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, before making this request I want to bring to the attention of the Senate the fact that tomorrow will be a great day in the annals of the judiciary in Philadelphia. Tomorrow will be the day when the Municipal Court of Philadelphia will assume a new name. Hereafter, it will be called the County Court of Philadelphia.

I wish now to felicitate President Judge Adrian Bonnelly and the rest of the members of the Court for this change.

In connection therewith, I have here the Report of the Arbitration Commission, which functioned marvelously in Philadelphia and reduced the backlog of cases which were pending trial.

Mr. President, I now request that this Report be printed in the Appendix to the Legislative Journal.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. At the request of the gentleman from Philadelphia, Senator Stiefel, the Report will be printed in the Appendix to the Legislative Journal.

Amend Sec. 10 (Sec. 428), page 42, lines 9 to 19 and page 43, lines 1 to 13 by striking out all of said lines and inserting: Section 428 * * *

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendments?

They were agreed to.

Without objection, the bill, as amended, was passed over in its order at the request of Mr. WEINER.

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President and Members of the Senate, as we are about to close this Session of the Legislature, I would like to observe that there may have been a lot of bitterness, but now it seems that many of us are beginning to mellow.

I have gone through a terrific campaign regarding the strip mining bills, mostly because of the press. The press created a great mountain. They said many things about me, Mr. President, but, most of all, they talked about my carnation. Tonight, I am pleased to see that the press is beginning to also mellow. A member of the press, from the Philadelphia Bulletin, Mr. Kaminski, is sporting a great, big, red carnation. I will be happy when I see two more gentlemen of the press, Frank Matthews and L. R. Lindgren, from the Pittsburgh newspapers, sporting a carnation. That day will be a day of great success to me. Also, I find my good friend from Chester County tonight doing likewise. I am happy to know that I finally won a battle. Probably at the next Session, the entire membership of the press will come in, sporting red carnations.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Senator Haluska, if you will introduce a bill making the carnation the flower of the Commonwealth, I will refer it to the Committee on Historical Preservation.

Mr. EHRGOOD. Mr. President, we had better watch out for the guys who wear flowers.

Mr. BELL. Mr. President, I wonder whether Senator Haluska will tell us whether or not those carnations are a good defense against radar.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Radar goes into effect September 1. The hour has not arrived as yet.

Mr. BELL. It is pretty close, Mr. President.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE OF CONFERENCE ON HB 795 TAKEN FROM THE TABLE

Without objection, Mr. WEINER called from the table the Report of Committee of Conference on HB 795.

REQUEST FOR UNANIMOUS CONSENT TO CONSIDER REPORT OF COMMITTEE OF CONFERENCE ON HB 795

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I now ask unanimous consent for the immediate consideration of the Report of Committee of Conference on House Bill No. 795.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Senator Weiner, the Chair has just been informed by the Secretary that we do not have the Report here. We are not sure that the House has adopted it.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I understand the Conference Committe Report is lying on the table.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senate will be at ease for just a few moments.

(The Senate was at ease.)

Mr. KESSLER. Mr. President, I would like to have a copy of the Conference Committee Report on House Hill No. 795.

REQUEST WITHDRAWN

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I now withdraw my request for the immediate consideration of this Report of Committee of Conference.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The request for immediate consideration of the Report of Committee of Conference on House Bill No. 795 has been withdrawn.

THIRD READING CALENDAR

HB 1598 CALLED UP

HB 1598 (Pr. No. 2728)—Without objection, the bill, which previously went over in its order temporarily, was called up from page 10 of the Third Reading Calendar by Mr. WEINER.

BILL ON THIRD READING AND FINAL PASSAGE

HB 1598 (Pr. No. 2727)—Read at length the third time,

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. SEYLER, by unanimous consent, offered the following amendments:

> Amend Sec. 5, page 16, line 19, by striking out "prescriptions".
> Amend Sec. 5, page 16, line 20, by striking out "or non-proprietary".
> Amend Sec. 5, page 17, line 1, by striking out all of said line and inserting: or the charge for or prices of the professional services of the pharmacist for compounding or preparing prescriptions or furnishing nonproprietary drugs
> Amend Sec. 5, page 18, by inserting between lines 13 and 14: provided that nothing in this act shall be construed or applied so as to prohibit or in any manner limit the right of any licensed pharmacist to render professional services to or participate with others in providing professional services to patients of any hospital or clinic or to members beneficiaries or persons covered by any group medical surgical hospital clinical or other therapeutic service plan
> Amend Sec. 6, page 24, line 4, by inserting after "welfare": provided that prescriptions can be received by a pharmacy or pharmacist and the drugs prepared in pursuance thereof can be delivered by mail addressed to the person for whom such drugs are intended wherever such person is unable to obtain delivery by other means without difficulty financial burden or hardship or whereever the prescribing doctor shall direct

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendments?

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, I wish to say a few words regarding these amendments.

In the Commonwealth, there are a number of nonprofit centers and clinics which bring medical care and the accompanying pharmaceutical prescriptions to persons who are members. Among these are a number which are supported by organized labor, principally those in the garment trade, such as the International Ladies Garment Workers and the Amalgamated Garment Workers.

The bill, as it stands, would handicap the activities of those centers or clinics.

For that reason, Mr. President, these amendments are designed to help these nonprofit clinics and centers carry on the task of bringing law-cost medical care to their members. The amendments do three things. In the first place, they allow the clinic to circularize their members, giving the prices, exclusive of professional services since, at these centers, the pharmacists are, of course, employees of the centers and the cost of the pharmacist does not enter into the prescription.

Secondly, this would permit the right of any licensed pharmacist to render professional services or to participate with others in providing professional services to the patients of such clinics, or the members or persons covered by such clinics.

Thirdly, it would make it possible for prescriptions, at the order of the physician, to be mailed to members whenever such persons are unable to obtain delivery by other means without difficulty, financial burden or hardship.

As I said, these amendments are essential to a successful continuation of these centers. For that reason, Mr. President, I have offered these amendments and ask for a roll call.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, from the brief explanation made of these amendments, they would apparently give an absolute monopoly on the purchase of all drugs to the correspondent out-of-State supplier of these clinics. They would prohibit any licensed pharmacist in Pennsylvania from serving these clinics.

The gentlemen shake their heads, but that is what the amendments say.

Another amendment to House Bill No. 1598 reads as follows:

> ". . . prescriptions can be received by a pharmacy or pharmacist and the drugs prepared in pursuance thereof can be delivered by mail addressed . . ."

Mr. President, a licensed pharmacist in Pennsylvania must go through a great deal of preparation and training and licensing under this bill. This excludes anybody out-of-Pennsylvania who cares to supply drugs to these clinics by mail.

I ask my colleagues to vote against the amendments.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the amendments?

A voice vote was then taken.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, I had originally asked the Chair for a roll call. Therefore, I would repeat that request.

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, if Senator Seyler would withdraw his request, I believe we would save a little time.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The gentleman from York has the privilege to withdraw if he so desires. Does the gentleman wish to withdraw his request?

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, I appreciate the gentleman's generous offer, but I request a roll call.

Mr. KESSLER. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from York, Senator Seyler.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Will the gentleman from York, Mr. Seyler, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. SEYLER. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. KESSLER. Mr. President, I have not had an opportunity to look at the amendments. However, I would like to raise a question with Senator Seyler.

On page 2, line 9, of House Bill No. 1598, Printer's No. 2728, it reads as follows:

> ". . . articles intended for use in the diagnosis cure mitigation treatment or prevention of disease in man or other animals. . ."

I think arthritis is recognized as a disease. I was wondering whether elastic bandages and braces, which are used for the relief of arthritic patients, or enema syringes, which are used in the mitigation of bowel trouble, are included in the prescriptions.

It also says on page 2—

Mr. SEYLER. May I answer one question at a time, Mr. President?

The PRESIDING OFFICER. I think that would be proper. You may answer the first question, Senator Seyler.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, in reply to the gentleman, I believe his question is not on the amendments, but rather on the part of the bill which is not covered by the amendments.

Therefore, Mr. President, I do not believe it is in order for him to ask the question nor for me to answer it.

Mr. KESSLER. Mr. President, I have not had an opportunity to read the amendments. I do not as yet know what they cover.

Are the amendments covering solely nonproprietary drugs or proprietary drugs?

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, will the gentleman please repeat his question. Are we still referring to page 2 of the bill?

Mr. KESSLER. Are the amendments, offered by Senator Seyler, covering proprietary drugs or nonproprietary drugs?

Mr. SEYLER. The amendments refer to both.

Mr. KESSLER. Mr. President, that is pretty complete coverage in order to send stuff through the mail. As I understand it, these amendments would permit the distribution of proprietary and nonpropriety drugs through the mail. Is that correct?

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, I do not understand the gentleman's question.

Mr. KESSLER. Mr. President, the gentleman from York said these amendments cover both proprietary and nonproprietary drugs.

Mr. SEYLER. I believe that is correct.

Mr. KESSLER. Mr. President, it seems to me such amendments are useless if they permit the distribution through the mail of nonproprietary drugs.

I certainly would urge my colleagues to vote against these amendments.

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, if we cannot get a second to the request for a roll call, I wish we would go on with the business of the Session. The request for a roll call has been seconded.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Senator do you wish to repeat your request for a roll call? The only reason I ask is in view of the tremendous "no" response to the query.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, I would repeat my request for a roll call.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. A roll call having been requested, and a motion not being required, the Clerk will call the roll.

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. SEYLER and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—1

Seyler,

NAYS—48

Bell,	Hawbaker,	McMenamin,	Stalsey,
Berger,	Hays,	Miller,	Stevenson,
Camiel,	Kalman,	Mullin,	Stiefel,

Flack,	Mallery,	Sesler,	Weiner,
Fleming,	McCreesh,	Shafer,	Yatron,
Haluska,	McGinnis,	Silvert,	Ripp, Presiding Officer

So the question was determined in the negative, and the amendments were defeated.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, I just wish to comment that while I appreciate Senator Wade's gallantry, I am glad that the result was as it was, because the only time this has ever happened before in my experience was when it happened to my colleague, Senator Hays. I now join his category, which is a very elite one.

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. DiSILVESTRO. Mr. President, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. DiSILVESTRO. Mr. President, this is a serious matter and not a laughing affair.

I got caught in a matter similar to that of Senator Seyler's about twenty-six years ago. A friend of mine said: "You know, we need fresh water in Philadelphia. We should get our water from the Delaware Water Gap." I thought it was a wonderful idea to get fresh water. I then introduced a bill. Later, I found that the telephone wires and everything else were entangled and they made a fool out of me.

Senator Seyler, I believe, presented these amendments on request and he did so in good faith. I noticed particulary when he replied to the questions which were presented to him by Senator Kessler. Where are the Lilliputians who took advantage of the good Senator? I am not referring to those who gave the amendments to him.

However, whoever was moving that hand thought they could unionize prescriptions.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. KESSLER. Mr. President, I am indeed confused by this House Bill No. 1598. On page 2, line 9, it reads, in part, as follows:

> ". . . for use in the diagnosis cure mitigation treatment or prevention of disease in man or other animals . . ."

Mr. President, on page 2, line 11, of House Bill No. 1598, it further reads as follows:

> ". . . articles (other than food) intended to affect the structure or any function of the body man or other animals . . ."

Mr. President, I would like to be informed as to whether or not these provisions of this proposed law involve such things as the enema syringe, for example. This is an article which is intended for use in the cure or mitigation of disease. This also applies to elastic bandages or braces which are used by arthritic patients.

Mr. President, let us go further and read on page 16, lines 1 through 5, of House Bill No. 1598, wherein it states that a pharmacist may lose his license if he has—and I abbreviate—sold a device "which is of a brand or trade name other than specified by the person prescribing such brand . . ."

Does that mean, Mr. President, that if the doctor says you have to sell Johnson and Johnson bandages, then that is a violation of this Act if you do not give the patient Johnson and Johnson bandages?

There are many problems existing in this House Bill No. 1598, with the amendments which came to us at this late hour, and I confess I would like to have some answers on them.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

(During the calling of the roll, the following occurred:)

Mr. KESSLER. Mr. President, with regret to my good friend Senator Anthony DiSilvestro, I hate to vote against this bill, but I must until I can get these questions cleared up. I desire to be recorded as voting "no."

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The gentleman from Lancaster will be so recorded.

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—39

Bell,	Hays,	Murray,	Stevenson,
Berger,	Kalman,	Pechan,	Stiefel,
Camiel,	Keller,	Propert,	Taylor,

NAYS—6

Chapman,	Kessler,	Seyler,	Wade,

A majority of all the Senators having voted "aye," the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk return said bill to the House of Representatives with information that the Senate has passed the same with amendments in which concurrence of the House is requested.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. STAISEY asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. STAISEY. Mr. President, I am about to offer a resolution, relating to an inquiry on the part of the Joint State Government Commission.

SENATE RESOLUTION

DIRECTING THE JOINT STATE GOVERNMENT COMMISSION TO STUDY THE NATURAL RESOURCE POLICIES OF THE COMMONWEALTH

Mr. STAISEY, by unanimous consent, offered the following resolution Serial No. 10a), which was read as follows:

In the Senate, August 31, 1961.

Historically, natural resource policies and practices in the Commonwealth have concentrated upon single phases of resource development or upon particular mineral industries without giving full recognition to the technological and economic interrelationships among various natural resources. In more recent decades, increased attention has been directed to multi-resource approaches, resulting in multiple-purpose water control projects, "unitized" exploitation of petroleum and natural gas, and reforestation measures designed to aid in flood control and soil conservation as well as increasing the future supply of timber.

Some fifteen Commonwealth agencies are concerned directly or indirectly with the conservation, regulation, development or economic utilization of the natural resources of Pennsylvania. In addition, numerous local governments, Federal agencies and several interstate commissions affect Commonwealth natural resource policies.

The multiplicity of Commonwealth and other governmental agencies concerned with natural resources suggests that substantial opportunity exists for uncoordinated policies; therefore be it

Resolved, That the Joint State Government Commission be directed to make a comprehensive study of natural resource policies of the Commonwealth to ascertain resource facts and to develop guiding concepts with a view of formulating a compherensive multi-resource policy calculated to facilitate the maximum development and economic utilization of Pennsylvania's natural resources; and be it further

Resolved, That the Joint State Government Commission report its findings and recommendations to the 1963 Session of the General Assembly.

Mr. STAISEY asked and obtained unanimous consent for the immediate consideration of this resolution.

On the question,

Will the Senate adopt the resolution?

Mr. KESSLER. Mr. President, will the Clerk be good enough to reread that resolution because I did not hear all of it?

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Chair will see that the gentleman receivs a copy of the resolution.

An the question recurring,

Will the Senate adopt the resolution?

The resolution was adopted.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. At this time, the gavel is now turned over to the Lieutenant Governor of the Commonwealth, the Honorable John Morgan Davis.

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant Governor John Morgan Davis) in the Chair.

RESOLUTION REPORTED FROM COMMITTEE

Mr. SEYLER, by unanimous consent, from the Committee on Reapportionment reported, without amendment, Senate Concurrent Resolution, Serial No. 131, entitled:

Directing the Joint State Government Commission to Study the Subject of Reapportionment

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, I request unanimous consent for the immediate consideration of this resolution.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, not too long ago, I was canvassed by a gentleman of the Senate in regard to reporting out a resolution from committee. Is this what has just been done? Was this a Committee Report?

The PRESIDENT. Would Senator Seyler please explain to the gentleman from Potter?

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, that is correct.

The PRESIDENT. Are you asking for the immediate adoption of the resolution?

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent for its immediate consideration.

Mr. ROONEY. Mr. President, I am rising to object to the immediate adoption of this resolution.

I had not planned on speaking about reapportionment tonight because I think we are filled up to our necks with it from what we have heard during the past week. However, it is with deep concern that I realize this august Body, with its distinguished record of legislative achievement, under the Lawrence Administration, has yet to resolve the problem of reapportionment. I think it is the duty of every Senator in this Chamber and the duty of every Representative in the House to resolve this problem. I think it is a disgrace that we should adjourn sine die, after midnight tonight, without doing anything about reapportionment.

It is obvious that Pennsylvania is going to lose three Congressmen. I blame the Republican Party and I blame the Democratic Party for the impasse in the reapportionment problem in Pennsylvania.

For that reason, Mr. President, I am going to object strenuously to the adoption of this resolution. I say the people of Pennsylvania have been shortchanged during this Session because the House and the Senate have done nothing about reapportionment.

I completely concur with Governor Lawrence that the door has been slammed in the people's face, in so far as education and reapportionment are concerned. I think it is a disgrace that we should adjourn here tomorrow, without doing anything about it.

First of all Mr. President, it looks as though we are going to have a lengthy Session tonight and I am going to stay with it. We have a bit of confusion here, but I am leaving tomorrow at 8:30 a.m. for the ribbon-cutting ceremony of the Bangor-Pen Argyl Highway. I certainly will not be here after 8:30 tomorrow morning.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, I do not know whether the gentleman realizes this resolution deals only with Senatorial reapportionment. Does the gentleman still have an objection?

Mr. ROONEY. Mr. President, I have objection to Senatorial reapportionment and to Congressional reapportionment. I think it is our duty, as Senators and Legislators, to do something about it. We should resolve this impasse once and for all.

This is the second time since 1791 that the Pennsylvania General Assembly will have adjourned without doing anything about reapportionment. They adjourned in 1890 and they adjourned in 1910. I never thought we would see it again in 1961 in this modern day.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, in view of the gentleman's objection, and before the Chair rules that we cannot consider the resolution, I would like to withdraw my request and ask that it be laid on the table.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I was going to say that I could detect a little bit of confusion in the remarks of both of the gentleman. However, I guess I will not say anything.

The PRESIDENT. Thank you for those kind words.

There being objection to the immediate consideration of this resolution, the resolution will be laid on the table.

SENATE BILLS RETURNED WITH AMENDMENTS

The Clerk of the House of Representatives being introduced, returned to the Senate, SB 195 and 373, with the information that the House has passed the same with amendments in which the concurrence of the Senate is requested.

HOUSE CONCURS IN SENATE BILLS

He also returned to the Senate, SB 806, 826, 828, 882, 901, 905, 914, 915 and 924 with the information that the House has passed the same without amendments.

BILLS SIGNED

The President (Lieutenant Governor John Morgan Davis) in the presence of the Senate signed the following bills:

SB 806, 826, 882, 901, 905, 914, 915 and 924.

GEORGE F. BRUNO. COMMANDER-ELECT OF PENNSYLVANIA DEPARTMENT OF THE AMERICAN LEGION, PRESENTED TO SENATE

Mr. VAN SANT. Mr. President, on behalf of my colleague, Senator Rooney, and myself, who share honors many times in the great Lehigh Valley area, it is our pleasure at this time to welcome to the Senate of Pennsylvania the recently elected Commander of the Pennsylvania Department of the American Legion, George F. Bruno. He comes from Fountain Hill, in Lehigh County. Tomorrow, Mr. Bruno is to be sworn in as Commander of the Pennsylvania Department of the American Legion.

Commander Bruno is no newcomer to the Senate, having been here in the 1959 Session as President of the Conestoga Corporation of Bethlehem, manufacturers of the big, bang cannons, which delighted so many of the Senators who stole them from their children in order to enjoy the Fourth of July and other occasions since that time.

At this time, Mr. President, it affords us great pleasure to present Mr. Bruno.

I would now like to yield to my colleague, Senator Rooney.

Mr. ROONEY. Mr. President, it is a real pleasure for me to share this honor with Senator Van Sant in presenting to the Senate of Pennsylvania the newly elected Commander of the American Legion, George F. Bruno. George and I have been friends for many years. He comes from a very fine family back in Fountain Hill, Lehigh County. That is about the only thing about him of which I am jealous. However, Fountain Hill is sometimes referred to as Bethlehem. Fountain Hill has no post office and, therefore, for all intents and purposes, we do refer to it as Bethlehem. Some day, with the loosening up of the annexation laws, it may become Bethlehem. However, I am sure Senator Van Sant does not like that remark.

Mr. President, I would like to bring to the attention of the Senate of Pennsylvania the Bruno family and how well they served in World War II. He had a brother who was killed in action, in Europe, in World War II, and he had another brother who was killed in an accident during his service with the Army in California. George, himself, served with great honor for three and one-half years.

I think it would be very nice at this time if Senator Van Sant and I could present him to the Senate for a few remarks.

The PRESIDENT. Would Commander Bruno please come forward, with the Senators from Northampton and Lehigh Counties?

Commander Bruno, the Chair is very happy to greet you and congratulate you on your election as Commander of the Pennsylvania Department of the American Legion.

Will you please speak to the Members of the Senate?

REMARKS BY COMMANDER-ELECT GEORGE F. BRUNO

Mr. BRUNO. Mr. President, honored gentlemen and ladies:

If for no other reason, the privileged opportunity to speak from the rostrum of the Senate of Pennsylvania during these closing hours of this eight-month long Session is well worth the election by 250,000 members of the American Legion to the office of State Commander of that organization, which pridefully boasts the biggest in the world. It is greater than New York, bigger than California and bigger than eleven Midwestern States combined.

We are proud of Pennsylvania, and proud to carry our story of Pennsylvania to other States and to other areas where we may travel.

Gentlemen, permit me to say that despite an unfortunate incident in an unusual resolution, which received widespread publicity prior to that resolution's introduction in a proper manner to our convention committee for consideration while we were in session in Erie last month, I want to assure you here and now that the sentiments expressed in that resolution were the opinions of a few, and certainly not the sentiments of the majority of our 3,000 delegates.

That resolution died a sudden death in committee and never reached the floor of the convention. It was not considered a proper feature for consideration by those who have been urging election of the best men and women available in our Commonwealth to our public offices. Certainly, the State Senate is one of our highest and most responsible public offices. Also, our House of Representatives is one of our highest and most respected public offices in Pennsylvania.

The majority of the membership of the American Legion in Pennsylvania realizes and knows that we are represented by Pennsylvania's finest. We have no quarrel with the small cost of legislation of our laws in this Commonwealth. In fact, the greater majority expresed themselves of the opinion that our Legislators receive entirely too little for their time, for their efforts and for the criticism they must bear.

Gentlemen, I thought it was imperative that I correct a situation which embarrassed you, and certainly embarrassed us, because a few men exercised their right of free speech. However, they obviously were directed in the wrong area. Senators, this is not an apology for their actions. Rather, it is an expression that we will defend to the last man the right of free speech and individual opinions.

I thank you most sincerely for this opportunity to appear before you here tonight, as the representative of 250,000 veterans of the last three great wars. I know you are tired and I know you have much to do before adjournment. However, may I thank you for representing us taxpayers, for your time, your efforts and for your willingness to use your experience and knowledge in providing for Pennsylvania the good government we have enjoyed through the years.

Thank you.

The PRESIDENT. Commander Bruno, I am sure I express the sentiments of the Senate in saying thank you for those words.

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, I do not want to detract from my two distinguished colleagues, Senator Van Sant and Senator Rooney, whose guest is Commander Bruno. However, I want to welcome him here to the Senate. It has been my pleasure to work with George over the years on Legion legislation. I am sure that as a result of the Erie Convention and his election, the American Legion and the veterans, in general, will benefit.

I want to join with the rest of my colleagues in welcoming Commander Bruno here and wishing him a successful tenure for the next year.

GUEST OF COMMANDER-ELECT GEORGE F. BRUNO PRESENTED TO SENATE

Mr. VAN SANT. Mr. President, I walked in with a young lady and several Members of the Senate said: "We are glad to see your daughter here in the Senate." Gentlemen, I know that Mary Bruno, George's wife, will appreciate this compliment. I would like to present her at this time, along with Commander Bruno's sister.

They are seated right over here.

The PRESIDENT. We are very happy to have you here in the Senate.

HONORABLE DAVID STAHL, ATTORNEY GENERAL OF THE COMMONWEALTH, PRESENTED TO SENATE

Mr. RIPP. Mr. President, in view of the fact that there is a lull in the proceedings, I would like to make note of the fact that there is a gentleman in the audience who has just been admitted into the Cabinet of the Governor of the Commonwealth. I do not believe that at this moment he realizes that I am going to present him.

I think most of the Senators have not as yet met the new Attorney General of the Commonwealth. If the gentleman will please ascend to the rostrum, I shall introduce to the Senate the new Attorney General of the Commonwealth, from the city of Pittsburgh, David Stahl.

REMARKS BY ATTORNEY GENERAL DAVID STAHL

Mr. STAHL. Mr. President and Members of the Senate: I realize that you are all tired. Therefore, I will take one-half of a second to again thank you. I have thanked personally those whom I have had a chance to meet.

I want to thank you again for your confirmation and for your confidence which you expressed in me. I cannot say that I am sorry—and I am sure you are not sorry—you are soon leaving. However, I hope we will have a chance to get together quickly again. I hope you will find your way to my office after you have recovered from your present ordeal.

Thank you.

The PRESIDENT. Thank you very much, Attorney General Stahl.

BILL ON CONCURRENCE IN HOUSE AMENDMENTS

SB 195 (Pr. No. 1285)—Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do concur in the amendments made by the House to Senate Bill No. 195.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, I am not rising to object to concurrence in the amendments placed by the House. I do think, however, that they are not proper amendments.

As many of us know, this bill covers the matter of group life insurance for State employees. The consensus of opinion, among many insurance men, was that the handling of this affair should be with the Department of State for the simple and only reason that it now handles the retirement for State employees. With the proper trained person in the Department of State handling the co-ordination of retirement and life insurance, a service could be rendered to the State employees which they have never enjoyed before.

We have had this same idea for providing group life insurance for our State employees for many years. However, always toward the end of the Session, the bill, for one reason or another, would fail. I am certainly not going to oppose these amendments, although I feel that the bill would be much better if it were handled through the Department of State rather than through the Department of Property and Supplies.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—49

BILL ON FIRST READING

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now proceed to the first reading of the bill reported from committee for the first time at today's session.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, I do not know what the bill is, but I would like to make a motion that it be recommitted to the committee from whence it came.

I know it is not printed, but let us save the government a little bit of money.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I know that Senator Pechan is economy-minded at this particular time. However, let us not go along with that argument now.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. As much as I dislike saying so, you are out of order.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

The motion was agreed to.

The bill was as follows:

HB 1575

And said bill having been read at length for the first time,

Ordered, To be laid aside for second reading.

PETITIONS AND REMONSTRANCES

Mr. MULLIN. Mr. President, in the past few months, the Philadelphia newspapers, with the Bulletin taking a leading part, violently crusaded with one-sided attempts of alleged "payola" or irregularities in city zoning matters. This was an attempt to defame the Democratic Party. These wild and distorted charges were never substantiated by evidence. However, recently—and after a Grand Jury investigation was refused—the Committee of Seventy conduced their own investigation of all the charges. After this was done, the findings were sent out to all of the members of that organization—the Committee of Seventy.

It is interesting to note what they found. Apparently, these charges which were made and used to defame the Democratic Party, but, at the same time, defamed the city of Philadelphia, concerned, first, zoning ordinances. They said in this letter that they examined all the zoning ordinances passed by the Philadelphia City Council between January 1, 1960 and June 1, 1961.

Without going into a description of this investigation, they said they found nothing wrong in that area.

Then they examined the ordinances during this seventeen-month period. Here, again, they found no evidence of irregularities. They also went over to the Zoning Division of Philadelphia City Government and selected 200 cases which they examined. Here, again, they found no evidence of irregularities.

This letter was not given the publicity that the charges were. However, it was marked "Confidential" to the members.

The main charges which appeared in the Philadelphia Bulletin and in other newspapers were prepared and published by an organization called "The Republican Alliance." This is an organization similar to Americans for Democratic Action, except that this is Republicans for Republican Action. It is very interesting to note that none of this was ever found, none of it was ever published,—not even this confidential letter—and none of the results of this investigation were ever published in the newspapers.

HB 1541 TAKEN FROM THE TABLE

Without objection, Mr. WEINER called from the table HB 1541, which was passed over in its order temporarily on third reading, as amended.

BILL ON THIRD READING AND FINAL PASSAGE

HB 1541 (Pr. 2741)—Read at length the third time and agreed to,

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

(During the calling of the roll, the following occurred:)

Mr. ROONEY. Mr. President, I desire to be recorded as voting "aye."

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The gentleman from Northampton will be so recorded.

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—40

Flack,	Miller,	Shafer,	Weiner,
Fleming,	Mullin,	Silvert,	Yatron,
Haluska,	Murray,	Staisey,	Ripp,
			Presiding Officer

NAYS—5

Chapman,	Hawbaker,	Kessler,	Wade,
Ehrgood,

A majority of all the Senators having voted "aye," the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk return said bill to the House of Representatives with information that the Senate has passed the same with amendments in which the concurrence of the House is requested.

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION, SERIAL No. 131, TAKEN FROM THE TABLE

Without objection, Mr. WEINER called from the table Senate Concurrent Resolution, Serial No. 131, entitled:

Directing the Joint State Government Commission to Study the Subject of Reapportionment

Mr. WEINER asked and obtained unanimous consent for the immediate consideration of this resolution.

On the question,

Will the Senate adopt the resolution?

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION, SERIAL No. 131, ADOPTED

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I now move that the Sentor do adopt this resolution.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to and the resolution was adopted

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the House of Representatives for concurrence.

The SPEAKER (Hiram G. Andrews) in the Chair.

PRAYER

Almighty and Everlasting Father, out of the depth of love which Thou hast shown to us in the many experiences of life, we pause in reverence to praise Thy name and the abounding generosity which is ours to share. We humbly pray that in the many complexities of life we may never lose sight of Thee or of the work which Thou wouldst have us do. Especially, O Father, we ask that Thou wilt be with the Members of this House of Representatives in this hour and in the hours and days which lie ahead. And as Thou dost continue to show Thy love and concern toward each of us, challenge us never to be too busy to neglect to ease the burdens of another or show Thy love toward our fellowmen. Bless us in our journey throughout life and grant us Thy eternal peace. Through Jesus Christ, our Lord. Amen.

JOURNALS APPROVED

The SPEAKER. There are a number of journals that are not yet in print. There would be no errors as far as the legislative end was concerned. For the purpose of establishing legislative intent, it is the Chair's opinion that those journals should be approved and, if there are no objections, the Chair will declare those journals approved.

The Chair hears no objections.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE OF CONFERENCE ON HOUSE BILL No. 1259

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I present the report of the Committee of Conference on House bill No. 1259.

The SPEAKER. The report will lie over for printing under the Rules.

INTERROGATION

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the minority leader who desires to interrogate the majority leader.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, I take it the majority leader will consent to be interrogated.

Mr. McCANN. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, yesterday in our caucus we had a discussion about the impending vacancy in this House with respect to the secretary of the House. There were certain questions that were raised and we would like to have the answers, particularly in view of the fact that yesterday we passed a bill changing the title of the legislative analyst in the watchdog committee to executive director, and in view of the fact that our secretary of the House has been elected the executive director of that body effective tomorrow, we would like to have some answers to these questions:

No. 1, if a vacancy occurs in the secretaryship of this House after we adjourn sine die, who fills that vacancy and what is the procedure?

Mr. McCANN. Should this House sine die and not elect a secretary or chief clerk, that vacancy is filled by the Speaker of this House under the rules.

The SPEAKER. Under the law.

Mr. McCANN. Under the law. I beg your pardon, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Another question: In view of the fact that our secretary—and by the way we think he is a wonderful person and this interrogation is no reflection on the wonderful job that he has done—but in view of the fact that his position, effective tomorrow, as executive director of the watchdog committee goes into effect, does the secretary of this House plan on resigning so that we, in this body, will have a chance to vote on a secretary and not pass it on to the Speaker to make an appointment?

Mr. McCANN. I will show the gentleman how, when you plan these things, you can miss the one day and how you can be embarrassed.

We planned to sine die at the end of the month. That would have been today, would it not? Mr. Lopresti was elected in the other committee effective September 1st, so there was no conflict. We are not going to sine die until September 1st; Mr. Lopresti intends to resign as of midnight tonight, I assume that would be proper, and here we have the one session to carry, which begins at midnight in this House. Certainly it is our intention to propose the election of a secretary to that position.

I would have been most pleased to talk to you about this because he serves until 12 o'clock, eastern standard time, tonight, and then there is only the little session that goes from that until we are finished, and, yet, he does not serve as secretary. Then tomorrow—

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. There is a vacancy in the office of secretary. We will be in session tomorrow, and will nominations then be in order from the floor of this House tomorrow for the office of secretary? Is that right?

Mr. McCANN. That is right, or I guess it would be proper, today being Thursday, because he will resign as of tonight. That would be proper, I would suppose.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Then it would be proper either today or tomorrow. Would you, before we go into our caucus, inform us just whether the election will be held today or whether it will be held tomorrow?

Mr. McCANN. I will answer the question very frankly, Mr. Speaker. It will be quite all right to hold the election today or tomorrow for the secretaryship. I am just wondering and that is what I wanted to talk to the membership about, if Mr. Lopresti could serve the session. Naturally, he has the right to serve the session today, the session that we are in now. Would there be anything illegal in having him serve in that position, working the board there, until the session is over tonight? The only reason I bring this up, Mr. Speaker, is, if we can go through this session without the roll call breaking down, and I hope it does not—

The SPEAKER. The Chair would call to the attention of the House that there is no resignation so far as the Speaker knows, on file as yet. There has been no acceptance upon the part of the House of any resignation.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, that is true. That is, as Mr. Johnson stated, a presumption that he resigns as of tonight to accept the other job, and that Mr. Lopresti submitted his resignation in writing to the Speaker of this House.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. It seems to me, Mr. Speaker, that there will be no vacancy in the office of secretary until midnight, and nomination probably would not be in order until tomorrow when the vacancy occurs while we are in session and probably the election should be tomorrow. I believe we would go along on that if you folks want to.

The SPEAKER. You can, of course, elect just before you adjourn sine die, you can elect now, you can elect any time you have the resignation.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, we will confer with the majority leader on this matter.

The SPEAKER. What is the pleasure of the majority leader?

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, can we take a minute of time to mark the calendar now so that we can go through first and second reading?

STATEMENT BY SPEAKER

The SPEAKER. There are on the calendar, I note, at least 70 pieces of legislation, most of which would require roll calls. The progress that we make toward the goal that has been established will depend upon the duration of debate and upon the decorum in the House. The chances of ruffled tempers should be diminished or minimized. The Chair does not propose to be in a great rush. The rush must needs come from the leadership and from the members of the House.

ANNOUNCEMENTS BY SPEAKER

There are two announcements that are always made at this time in every session.

Members are requested to not take their daily calendar files home, as they will be kept in the custody of the Chief Clerk for use in the 1962 session.

Papers and pamphlets on top of the member's desks which they desire to keep should be placed inside their desks where they will remain undisturbed.

The second announcement: In accordance with the provisions of Rule 29, the chairmen of the standing committees of the House are required to file with the Chief Clerk bills and all other papers in the possession of the committee on final adjournment of the House, including committee record books. The chairmen are directed, at their earliest convenience, to comply with the provisions of this rule.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

The fifth section was read.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

Amend Sec. 4, page 3, line 18, by striking out "1961" and inserting: 1962

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

The SPEAKER. We will wait until everyone has a calendar. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Beaver.

Mr. KLEIN. These amendments are necessary because we have gone beyond the date this year when we could provide for an election of a judge this year. It now becomes necessary to elect a judge in the next municipal election, which will be 1963.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. There is one question. I notice you are striking out the sum of $10,000 as being necessary to be appropriated and inserting $17,000. Why are you increasing the $10,000 to $17,000?

Mr. KLEIN. I believe the $10,000 figure originally was inserted in the bill in error to cover the expenses from now until the end of the current fiscal period. Expenses to June 30, 1962, would require close to $17,000.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Does that contemplate a proposed increase in salary for judges or is that based on the present salary?

Mr. KLEIN. It is based on the present salary.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Is there any money in the budget, —this would not take effect until 196—, this bill would take effect immediately? Yes, it would.

Mr. KLEIN. Yes.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Is there money in the budget, do you know, for this extra $17,000?

Mr. KLEIN. I am not certain; I will have to yield to the gentleman from Washington on that point.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. I thank the gentleman.

The SPEAKER. Does the minority leader desire to interrogate the gentleman?

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. I believe that we would actually like to hear from the gentleman, Mr. Polen, whether this $17,000 is budgeted.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Beaver yields temporarily to the gentleman from Washington, Mr. Polen, and the minority leader will proceed with his interrogation.

Mr. POLEN. No, Mr. Speaker, this item is not in the budget because the budget is based on the present number of judges that are in effect. This salary of $17,000, it actually figures a few dollars less than that—it is within a few dollars, as I said—is not in the budget, but it is within the confines of our revenue due to several bills falling or not being reported.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the chairman another question please.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will proceed.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Sometime today or tomorrow we will be receiving the official estimates of revenue from the budget department, which will be an area in which we can pass appropriation bills so the Governor can sign them without line veto, and so forth. When do you expect to receive the final revenue estimates for this current fiscal year from the budget department?

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, I have no information as to when the official revenue estimates will be available.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Will the chairman, as soon as he receives copies of them today or tomorrow, deliver to us a copy so we can be guided accordingly.

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, as soon as I receive them I will make copies available to the minority.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Thank you.

Mr. KLEIN. Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Beaver who has the floor, having yielded it temporarily to the gentleman from Washington.

Mr. KLEIN. I might mention to the members of this House with reference to this bill creating a new judge in Beaver County, our county is the only fourth class county that has less than three common pleas judges. We are larger than several of the fourth class counties that already have three and slightly smaller than the others. In addition, our present judges are trying to keep current but they are dreadfully overworked. They work from early in the morning to late at night.

The SPEAKER. The Chair must confess to the gentleman that those are arguments to the bill when it comes up for final passage and not on the technical amendments which the gentleman has made to the bill.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Are the amendments adopted?

Mr. KLEIN. I would say so.

The SPEAKER. Not yet, not yet.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

They were agreed to.

The section was agreed to as amended.

The fifth section and title were separately read and agreed to.

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to as amended.

Ordered, to be transcribed for third reading.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of Senate bill No. 461, entitled:

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, that the clerk return the same to the Senate with information that the House of Representatives has passed the same without amendment.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate bill No. 885, entitled:

An Act amending the act of May 5, 1933 (P. L. 457), entitled "Building and Loan Code" further defining and limiting the rights powers duties and liabilities of such associations and shareholders and further defining terms.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Blair, Mr. Auker.

Mr. AUKER. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, Senate bill 885 is an amendment to the building and loan code. As briefly as possible and to conserve the time of the House, I might say that with most of the amendments up to page 17 I find I am not in disagreement.

However, starting on page 17, by the amendments inserted therein on pages 17, 18 and 19, I do find myself in very serious disagreement with the provisions of this bill.

Briefly, what it does by deleting on page 18, lines 1, 2 and 3, it puts the investments allowed to building and loan associations in an entirely new field; it puts them entirely into the field of commercial loans. I do not believe that this was ever the contemplation of the original sponsors of the building and loan code. I do not believe that this is a rightful field for building and loan associations throughout this State to get into for the purpose of investment.

I realize, Mr. Speaker, that some of the larger associations throughout the State probably have some serious problems in competition with Federal savings and loan associations that have this right. But taking it as a whole, for the building and loan associations throughout the State, whose boards consist of the ordinary individual, the ordinary businessman, who probably does not have too much experience with commercial loans, I say it is bad.

Of course, on the other hand, the bigger associations in the larger cities probably do have members on their boards who are very familiar with commercial loans, but we are not considering just the bigger building and loan associations in this State. This bill affects every building and loan association throughout Pennsylvania. We are here to protect the investments, on the average, of mostly small, average income shareholders who invest their savings in these building and loan associations.

Heretofore they have always been purely on residential properties. In 1957 or 1959, I believe, we amended the code to include apartment houses of certain classes and drew restrictions around that kind of loans. I can find no particular fault with that. They were still residential properties. Now by deleting these lines, you are deleting everything except theaters and factories; then every other kind of commercial loan would be included.

I grant you, too, Mr. Speaker, that building and loan associations have come up with the particular problem, some of them having great surpluses, of trying to maintain as far as possible, in view of the 8-mill tax that was placed upon them by this session of the legislature, as high an interest rate as possible and to try to find what they consider as profitable investments as possible, but, as I said before, two wrongs do not make a right. I still feel that it is a very, very serious mistake, and I reiterate, to allow building and loan associations, in line with protecting the investors, the small investors, the small, average people who put their small savings in these associations throughout the State, to jeopardize their savings by investing in commercial loans, which I believe everyone realizes would be considerably more of a risk loan than residential properties. You have certainly more likelihood of risk, more element of risk, in a commercial loan, with the failures of business and with economic conditions changing, and so forth, than you would on residential properties.

I also realize, Mr. Speaker, that they have thrown certain safeguards around these commercial loans. They limit the amount of any one loan to any one person to one percent of the value of the outstanding shares, but that is one loan to one individual. They have also raised the amount that can be loaned on commercial loans, mind you, from 15 percent to 20 percent of the total value of the assets of the association. Now this again means the liberalizing of the building and loan investment procedure, especially in this new field. They also have put a limitation on there, of course, of 50 percent of the market value of the commercial loan property on which they would place a loan under these new provisions, but market value is a very changeable factor, especially in fluctuating economic conditions such as we have today in this State, and I say to you that that is a dangerous position, even on a 50 percent loan.

Heretofore commercial loans were, and still are, unless this bill is passed, entirely in certain fields of commercial banks and that is where they should stay. They have the personnel; they have the consultant and financing counsel to guide them, which most building and loan associations throughout this State do not have, to guard themselves against such risks, and there is not the element of risk involved through this investment counselling field that there would be to the building and loan associations.

I think this is a very dangerous procedure. I believe the building and loan bureau of this State has sold the State legislature a bill of goods which is not good.

I am asking each and every one of you to carefully examine this, carefully think of what I have said and protect the investors in all the building and loan associations throughout this State, and not just pass legislation that may be more or less special for the larger associations existing in our bigger cities.

I ask the membership of the House on both sides to vote against this bill. I think it is bad legislation.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Lamb.

Mr. LAMB. Mr. Speaker, I rise in support of this bill. I must say from the very outset, to allay the fears of any member of the House, this legislation is strictly permissive. Under the provisions of this legislation, building and loans are not required or are not mandated to do certain things. The legislation gives them the right to do these things.

Mr. Speaker, I think the members of the House are able to observe that in the past 25 years the building and loan concept and theory has been widely broadened. We all remember that originally the building and loan concept was limited strictly to the financing of personal residences, but now, and I think it is indicative if you look throughout the State, charters are being changed to show that now they are not so much building and loans as savings and loans. So the general concept and theory is now not only of mortgaging and financing home building, but also investing and savings. To do this, Mr. Speaker, the building and loans need broader and wider powers.

The gentleman from Blair, Mr. Auker, points out that this is a field that they should not get into, that there are risks involved in commercial loans. Let me say this, as Mr. Auker pointed out, the bill itself provides the necessary safeguards to limit the risks. There is only a certain amount of the assets of a building and loan association that can be given in commercial loans. The bill specifically points this out and Mr. Auker himself has brought this to the attention of the House. I think, Mr. Speaker, it is a step in the right direction.

Mr. Speaker, since Mr. Auker so well explained the bill, I will not go further into it except to say that I would appreciate support of the measure.

Mr. ADAMS. Mr. Speaker, I rise in support of the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Lamb. I repeat what I said on a previous similar bill several months ago. These accounts are insured up to $10,000 in the savings and loans and building and loans, either by the Federal Savings and Loan Insurance Corporation or the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation, and the associations under this bill would be limited in the percentage they would be allowed to loan out to a 50 percent mortgage and, also, a relatively small percentage of their total assets.

I could go on and on, but I will state that I do not question the sincerity of the gentleman from Blair, Mr. Auker, but I believe he is largely wrong in what his opinion is, and I urge the members to support this bill because it is good legislation.

The SPEAKER. Does the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Donaldson, yield?

Mr. DONALDSON. I yield to the gentleman from Blair, Mr. Auker.

Mr. AUKER. Mr. Speaker, I would rather wait and hear Mr. Donaldson and then, if I have anything further to say in rebuttal, I will review his remarks first so as not to transgress the rules of the House.

Mr. DONALDSON. Mr. Speaker, the building and loan industry in the Commonwealth is now, in fact, a very great industry. Strictly speaking, there are two types of building or savings and loan institutions. There are those which are chartered by the Federal Government in which all the depositors' accounts are insured. Then there are those institutions which are chartered by the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, and those institutions may have insured accounts or they may not have insured accounts, depending upon their own preference.

All that this bill basically does, Mr. Speaker, is give those savings institutions which are chartered by the Commonwealth substantially the same rights in loaning on other than strictly residential property, give them the same rights and prerogatives as the institutions which are chartered by the Federal Government.

As a matter of fact, Mr. Speaker, I very seriously doubt if most depositors have any real idea or understanding if the institution in which they hold their accounts is Federally chartered or State chartered. They may be quite interested in whether or not their accounts are insured, but this is easily ascertainable and there are many, if not most, of the State institutions, certainly the larger ones, in which the accounts are insured.

What is going to happen, Mr. Speaker, if we do not allow our State-chartered institutions the same lending privileges, or substantially the same privileges, as the Federal institutions now have, is that the State system is going to disappear. The State-chartered institutions, particularly the larger ones which already have Federal insurance, can easily convert to Federally-chartered institutions. As a matter of fact, many of our finest associations which once were in the State system have done that very thing for the reason that they have broader powers under the Federal act.

I think all of us are proud of our State banking department and of the building and loan bureau within that department. We are proud of the institutions which operate thereunder. If we want to keep them, if we want them to compete as a great industry, then we are going to have to give them substantially these powers. The gentleman from Blair, Mr. Auker, as he always is, was very fair in explaining the terms of the bill. However, I come to a different conclusion than he did, primarily for the reasons before mentioned.

It seems to me, Mr. Speaker, that there really is not a great deal more risk in a commercial loan up to 50 percent of market value than there would be in a residential loan up to 80 or 90 percent of market value. The fact is, Mr. Speaker, that many State institutions are today in a riskier business, because what they are doing is loaning on primarily commercial property in which there is a small apartment placed in the commercial property principally for the purpose of allowing a State institution to carry the financing. It really is not a residential property, and everybody knows it, yet today some of our State-chartered institutions are loaning up to 80 percent of market value on those kinds of properties. This bill will eliminate that. This bill will make a realistic system for them to operate under. This bill is very necessary if our State system of building and loans is to continue in the Commonwealth.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Blair, Mr. Auker.

Mr. AUKER. Mr. Speaker, just a few brief remarks in the way of rebuttal. Not all building and loan associations, by any means, throughout this State are federally insured, believe me. There are quite a lot of them that do not carry this kind of insurance. I still say, Mr. Speaker, that when you get into the field of commercial loans you are into risk capital. I still say that the majority, not those of the bigger associations, probably, in the bigger cities, and made this plain in my opening remarks, probably they do need this bill, but we are here legislating not for the bigger industrial places in Pennsylvania alone; we are here legislating for all the building and loans throughout this State. The number of building and loans throughout this State would by far outnumber the building and loans in several of our metropolitan centers throughout this State.

So let us consider the greatest good to the greatest number, as we always should when we pass legislation. That should be one of the prime requisites of every person and every member sitting in this House when they pass legislation, the greatest good for the greatest number. That is why I am saying here that in voting on this bill you should vote against this bill because in that way you are legislating for the greatest good of the greatest number of the people throughout this Commonwealth in protecting the savings of the bulk of the associations throughout this state.

I say again, in answer to the gentleman from Allegheny, that the bigger associations probably do have personnel on their boards that would make these commercial loans, less of risk investments than they would in other parts of the State whose boards would not consist of these financial people and the investment counsel to whom they can have access.

Mr. Speaker, just recently, just this week, we turned down amendments to the credit union bill that the Department of Banking was against on these same kind of investments. I say to you that the credit union league that the banking department was protecting is the same as the bulk and the big majority of the building and loan associations throughout this State. If you want to be consistent, we licked that bill, and you will vote down this bill because there is a very similar analogy between the two, and I ask you to protect the investors of all the building and loan associations and not allow building and loan associations to get into risk capital. Thank you.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. McCANN asked unanimous consent to offer amendments at this time.

The SPEAKER. The amendments will be read by the clerk for information.

Will the House agree to the amendments?

They were agreed to.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading as amended?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, that the bill as amended lie over for printing.

DEMOCRATIC CAUCUS

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the majority leader.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, at this point I am going to ask for a Democratic caucus of one hour. The caucus will be held first and I ask that they bring their calendars and come immediately to the caucus room. We will caucus, beginning on page 5, on all the bills to and including page 13, bills on final passage and third reading so we may vote and proceed. Then we will have 30 minutes for lunch. The cafeteria will be empty. We expect to come back here at 2:30 d. s. t., and vote steadily on those bills, and then we will have another caucus as the prints come in on the concurrence in Senate amendments, to complete them.

MEETING OF LADY MEMBERS

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Armstrong, Mr. Helm.

Mr. HELM. Mr. Speaker, before we break for a recess, I would like to request a meeting with the lady members of the legislature from both sides of the aisle in the members' lounge in the rear of the House, immediately following the declaration of recess.

The SPEAKER. Did the gentleman come prepared with the proper number of orchids? I understand all the ladies receive a orchid as a result of the generosity and chivalry of the gentleman from Armstrong.

REPUBLICAN CAUCUS

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the minority leader.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. I am asking the Republican members to go up to our drab quarters up on the third floor and we will hold a caucus for at least an hour on this calendar.

RECESS

The SPEAKER. Without objection, the Chair will declare a recess of one and one-half hours.

The Chairs hears none, and a recess is declared.

AFTER RECESS

The time of recess having expired, the House was called to order.

The SPEAKER (Hiram G. Andrews) IN THE CHAIR

SENATE MESSAGE

CONCURRENCE IN HOUSE RESOLUTION

The clerk of the Senate being introduced, informed that the Senate has concurred in the resolution from the House of Representatives as follows:

In the House of Representatives, March 30, 1961.

In 1951 The Philadelphia Inquirer, a newspaper of general circulation, commenced the waging of a vigorous campaign to compel the Trustees of the Barnes Foundation, located in Merion, Montgomery County, Pennsylvania, to open to the general public its multi-million dollar collection of paintings.

The Barnes Foundation, despite the fact that it enjoys tax immunity as an educational institution, has successfully resisted every attempt made to open its gates to the public as well as to artists, students, and critics, because of rules laid down by its founder, Dr. Albert C. Barnes.

In further pursuit of its campaign on behalf of the public, the aforesaid newspaper instituted lawsuits in the Common Pleas and Orphans' Courts of Montgomery County to compel the trustees of the aforesaid Foundation to open its doors to the public.

Through the personal efforts and intervention of the Attorney General of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania who relentlessly and with diligence unparalleled in the history of the Attorney General's office, prosecuted on behalf of the public the aforementioned lawsuits in the Orphans' Court of Montgomery County.

On December 12, 1960, it was announced that an agreement had been reached between the Attorney General and the Trustees of the Barnes Foundation wherein and whereby the fabulous gallery would be open to the public.

On Saturday, March 18, 1961, the gallery was open to the public for the first time in thirty-eight years.

The Attorney General has stated publicly that the campaign to open the doors of the Barnes Foundation gallery to the public would never have started were it not for The Philadelphia Inquirer; therefore be it

Resolved (the Senate concurring), That The Philadelphia Inquirer and the Attorney General of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania be given the highest commendation in bringing to a successful conclusion their untiring and public-spirited campaign for the good of the public in causing the gallery of the Barnes Foundation to be open to the public; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be transmitted to The Philadelphia Inquirer and to the Attorney General of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

STATEMENT BY SPEAKER

The SPEAKER. The Chair desires to make a statement and we would like to have the attention of the members of the House.

The Chair has been informed by way of rumor, which is sometimes correct and sometimes incorrect, that from 13 to 17 members of this House have sometime, either yesterday or during the day, arranged for transportation home tonight as soon as certain bills the House will consider have been acted upon.

Sometimes history repeats. I think it was in 1939 when the Chair was then minority leader, that the gentleman on the left of the middle aisle operated with a majority, as I remember, of about five. Maybe I am wrong about the year; I think it was 1949. The gentlemen on the left of the middle aisle had a very, very, very important bill they wanted to pass, and the gentlemen on the right of the middle aisle were not so sympathetic with that bill. The result of it was that five of the majority party left Harrisburg, and the result of that was that this House sat twiddling its thumbs from 9 o'clock in the morning until 10 o'clock at night while absent members were being searched for and brought back to the hall of this House.

The parliamentarian has been asked to prepare various resolutions; that is, the Chair has been asked to tell them how to go about certain things.

Any member of this House can ask for a roll call for the purpose of ascertaining the absentees and then he can ask the House to see that the absentees are brought back. Or any member of this House can raise the question of no quorum, and, if it so happens that there is no quorum in the hall of the House, the only thing that can be done is to bring back enough members so there is a quorum.

Then there is another matter to which I hope the leaders in the House and Senate have given their attention. We have passed a sine die resolution naming not only a day, but a certain hour on the day, when we shall adjourn sine die. When that hour comes, any member can ask and, if he does ask, the Chair will recognize him, and call for the order of the day, and the order of the day is sine die adjournment, without reference to any unfinished business that may be left upon the calendar.

We cannot measure the extent of the debate that will occur on some of the measures we have yet to face, and the Chair's suggestion to the leadership in the House and Senate would be that in some way they arrange in proper fashion to have at least three hours leeway on the sine die resolution. The Chair made that suggestion and it was turned down, but I think that a sine die resolution, in view of the conditions which face this House, might have such leeway. However, the Chair is not in the custody of the calendar; the Chair is not making the rules. The province of the Chair is solely to see to it as fairly as possible that the rules of this House, the privileges and rights of the members, are maintained.

I do hope the Chair is in error, and I do not think he is, but I hope the transportation for this evening that has been arranged for has been canceled.

BILL ON FINAL PASSAGE

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on final passage of Senate bill No. 805, entitled:

An Act amending the act of May 20, 1937 (P. L. 728), entitled "An act providing for the creation of a Board of Arbitration of Claims arising from contracts with the Commonwealth . . ." changing the compensation of members providing for the appointment of an executive secretary and other employes changing the limitations on the filing of claims increasing the powers of the board further providing for rules of procedure before the board providing for appeals and making an appropriation.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the majority leader.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, Senate bill 805 was defeated yesterday. In the present printer's number, if you will read the bill, they have stricken out "the board" and inserted "the Auditor General." The bill has been amended to read "the board," as was requested—employes under the jurisdiction of the board. This bill has been amended to that version and I ask the membership to vote "aye."

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Fineman.

Mr. FINEMAN. Mr. Speaker, I think the most important amendment to the existing law that Senate bill 805 seeks to bring about is something that should be favorably received by all the members of this House on both sides of the aisle. When a businessman enters a contract with the State and a bona fide difference of opinion or conflict arises, the conflict is resolved eventually by the board of arbitration of the State. There is no appeal procedure presently from the decision of the board of arbitration, which board is appointed by the Governor so that a businessman may very well be at the mercy of the State when he enters into a contract with the State.

The amendments that have been incorporated in Senate bill 805 sets up an appeal procedure by means of which a businessman can now take an appeal to the court, not on questions of facts, but on questions of law. This is something that all of us should desire and I urge all the members to vote affirmatively on this bill.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Cameron.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, the amendments put in this bill last night were put in at our request, and the amendments that were put in last night make the bill satisfactory to us and we ask our members to vote "aye."

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, that the clerk return the same to the Senate with information that the House of Representatives has passed the same without amendment.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate bill No. 202, entitled:

An Act authorizing the Department of Property and Supplies with the approval of the Governor to acquire a tract of land with buildings improvements and antiques and other personal property therein in the Borough of Brownsville Fayette County for preservation care and maintenance as a historical site by the Pennsylvania Historical and Museum Commission.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the minority leader.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, may we have a quick explanation of this bill from the chairman of the Committee on Appropriations, and the necessity for it? Also, does it require a two-thirds vote?

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, Senate bill 202 makes an appropriation of $20,000 to the Department of Property and Supplies to acquire the historic "Bowman's Castle" in the borough of Brownsville, Fayette County, and to be turned over as a historical site to the Pennsylvania Historical and Museum Commission.

I do not like to pass on the constitutional question, not being a constitutional lawyer, but my interpretation would be that this bill would require 140 votes.

The SPEAKER. Section 17 of the constitution, article 3: "No appropriation shall be made for any charitable or educational institutions not under the complete control of the Commonwealth." I do not think that the beneficiary of this act is either a charitable or an educational institution.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Then, Mr. Speaker, it would only require 106 votes, is that right?

The SPEAKER. Yes, that is right in the Chair's opinion.

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, I was in error. This bill would only require 106 votes.

The SPEAKER. That is the opinion of the Chair.

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, that the clerk return the same to the Senate with information that the House of Representatives has passed the same without amendment.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 730, entitled:

An Act amending the act of June 1, 1956 (P. L. 1959), entitled "An act fixing the salaries and compensation of the Chief Justice and judges of the Supreme Court the President Judge and judges of the Superior Court the judges of the courts of common pleas the judges of the orphans' courts the judges of the Municipal Court of Philadelphia and the judges of the County Court and Juvenile Court of Allegheny County certain associate judges not learned in the law certain state officers and the salary and expenses of the members of the General Assembly and repealing certain inconsistent acts" increasing the salaries of judges of courts of common pleas orphans' courts County Court and Juvenile Court of Allegheny County and Municipal Court of Philadelphia

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Goldstein.

Mr. M. H. GOLDSTEIN. Mr. Speaker, in accordance with the constitution and the rules of this House and my conscience, I have decided to not vote on this issue. I have discussed the matter with the Speaker and the parliamentarian. I submit my reasons to be incorporated in the legislative journal.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman will send his reasons to the desk; the reasons will be spread upon the journal of the House. The gentleman declares he has a personal interest and is not qualified to vote.

Mr. M. H. GOLDSTEIN filed the following statement for the record:

The Constitution of Pennsylvania, Article III, section 33, provides as follows:

> "A member who has a personal or private interest in any measure or bill proposed or pending before the General Assembly shall disclose the fact to the House of which he is a member, and shall not vote thereon."

Rule 67 of the House implements said constitutional provision.

The bill now pending before this House relates to an increase in salaries of Judges of the Court of Common Pleas. I am a nominee for said office in Allegheny County. I have examined rulings on this matter and believe that I am bound by the decision of Speaker Talbot of the House, who in 1933 in response to a parliamentary inquiry spoke as follows:

> "That the right of a member to vote where a question of personal interest was involved was a matter entirely within the conscience of the individual member."

Honorable S. Edward Moore, the House parliamentarian in a review of this subject in 1941 summarized the issue as follows:

> "In conclusion the question is definitely one upon which each individual member must satisfy his conscience. He must settle it for himself."

Inasmuch as I am a nominee for judge of the Court of Common Pleas of Allegheny County, in accordance with the constitution of Pennsylvania, the rule of this House and my conscience, I am not voting on this salary measure.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Berks, Mr. Adams.

Mr. ADAMS. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the spokesman or the sponsor of this bill.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will someone be interrogated on Senate bill 730?

The Chair sees no volunteers.

Mr. ADAMS. Then I am going to draft somebody. I would like to interrogate the majority leader.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman could ask himself some questions.

Will the gentleman from Greene, Mr. McCann, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I shall. I am not the sponsor of the bill which he asked for, nor the spokesman for the bill, but I will assist wherever possible.

Mr. ADAMS. Mr. Speaker, I note that there is a salary increase in this bill from $20,000 to $25,000 for judges in populated areas from 150,000 to 1,000,000 population. I would like to know how many judges fall into that category and how much it is going to cost and where the money is coming from. One at a time.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, if the gentleman desires fiscal matters, or the cost of the bill when it becomes effective, I will yield to the gentleman, the chairman of the Appropriations Committee.

Mr. ADAMS. That is acceptable.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman from Greene yields to the gentleman from Washington, Mr. Polen.

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, I was not paying too close attention but I believe the gentleman from Berks asked how many judges were affected. Under the existing law there are 192 judges affected, plus those put in by the amendments, which would be the Superior and Supreme Courts.

Mr. ADAMS. Mr. Speaker, I believe he missed—the category I am inquiring about is the judges that fall into the population category from 150,000 to 1,000,000. I believe that is an increase of $5,000 a judge, from $20,000 to $25,000 annually.

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, I have not developed the number in the different categories; I just have the total.

Mr. ADAMS. Mr. Speaker, could the gentleman tell me approximately how many of the judges fall in that category?

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, I could not. I would have to review the matter.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, if I may, I believe I remember once reading in the manual that you have on your desk, and I want to check this, the judicial districts, but I remember one time there were 38 judges or 40 in this category.

Mr. ADAMS. I thank the majority leader.

What is the total cost for this bill?

Mr. POLEN. In 1961-1962, the fiscal year in which we are now, there would be no cost because this bill is not effective until July 1, 1962. In 1962-1963, the next fiscal year, based on the present number of judges and not including any additions that might be made by this General Assembly, the cost would be $819,500.

Mr. ADAMS. I thank the gentleman, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. Speaker, these judges are elected for a term of 10 years at the present salary of $20,000 a year, that is $200,000. Now under the sitting judge rule that is in effect, at least in Berks County, and presumably in most counties, a judge is almost assured of a second 10-year term, and we have had a number of them who have had the third term in Berks County, but just taking two terms, or a total of 20 years, that is a salary of $400,000 for 20 years.

Now, Mr. Speaker, we have a lot of problems in raising money. There have been bills passed here for which we did not know where the money was coming, that was not appropriated, and I believe I asked where this money was coming from. I do not know that I heard that, whether it had been appropriated or not, and where the money is being raised from. I would like to further interrogate Mr. Polen on that.

Mr. POLEN. What was the question, Mr. Speaker?

Mr. ADAMS. Whether the money to pay for these increases has been appropriated and from what source of revenue it is coming, if it is.

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, no money has been appropriated because there is no money required in the 1961-1962 fiscal year. The money would, however, have to be appropriated in next year's budget for the 1962-1963 fiscal year.

Mr. ADAMS. Mr. Speaker, in view of the fact that it will not become effective until next year and we are faced with increased budget costs, particularly in the education field, can you project where you contemplate raising the money when it will be included in the budget?

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, I could not project what the next session of the General Assembly might do in the fiscal session. However, it would be my hope, and I read this morning, that the national gross income was supposed to go up to $540 billion, and it would be my hope that the increased economy would bring in sufficient money from existing taxes that would not require any additional taxes to take care of our State expenditures.

Mr. ADAMS. I share that hope with the gentleman. However, we seem to have run into difficulties in raising money for the proposed educational program, and I suggest that perhaps it might be wise to use this money in that field where it is sorely needed.

Also, before I could condone giving these terrific increases, an increase of $5,000 is more money than a lot of people are earning in a whole year. We have State employees, many of them, who are earning less than $5,000, less than $4,000, and some have brought to my attention the fact that they are earning less than $3,000 a year. I have complained frequently about payroll padding, and so forth, and I believe there could be some reductions in the State payroll, but I believe that the people in the low categories should receive more money than they are receiving instead of giving these fantastic increases to people who are already well paid.

And I suggest to the member that this is not proper, that this is nothing more than a huge give-away program of money which we can sorely afford to give, and which we do not even have, and I urge the members respectfully to defeat this bill.

Mr. TOMASCIK. Mr. Speaker, I should like to make a statement concerning my action with respect to voting or not voting on the bill under discussion.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman is in order and will proceed.

Mr. TOMASCIK. Since I have been honored by the members of the Democratic persuasion in Luzerne County with a nomination to judicial office in the Common Pleas Court of Luzerne County, I wish the record to indicate that I am present in my seat but because of the nature of the bill and because it affects me I shall not take part and shall accordingly disqualify myself in that regard.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman states because of his personal interest in the legislation before us he will not vote.

Mr. FARABAUGH. Mr. Speaker, in looking over this amended bill, I find that the increases vary, which will, in the final analysis, mean that the salaries will vary from $22,500, I believe, up to $32,500 per year for the judges.

In view of the fact that we have a very difficult problem in this session of the legislature to find the neeessary money, particularly for the schools—we have not yet found sufficient money for them—certainly these increases are not justifiable. As the previous speaker has stated, the increases in most of these cases is above a pretty reasonable salary to start with, and is considerably beyond what many people are earning today. I suppose if I were to go into details to prove my point I would be questioned here as to being off the subject.

I believe it was in 1955 or 1957, I do not know which, but the judges got a substantial increase in salary and at that time the argument was used that it had been so long since they had got an increase that it was justifiable. Personally I have not seen any great changes that would justify another increase at this time.

I believe in this session there was what I call a "sneaker" put in a bill to increase their pensions, and now this on top of it makes it all the more unbearable. I presume that most attorneys hope to be a judge some day. Maybe they are under certain obligations here, but those of us who are in the class with the working people should have a little feeling for the taxpayer who has to provide this money. If anyone can show me where this increase is justifiable in any case, in any one of these cases, I will be glad to change my thinking, but until that time I hope you will all consider where this money has to come from and the fact that we have not provided and finally will provide sufficient money to give our schools what they need. I hope you will consider this carefully before you vote on this bill.

Mr. HOCKER. Mr. Speaker, I have no quarrel with the judiciary. Fortunately, I have one of the hardest-working courts, I believe, in the Commonwealth. I have a court in my county which handles all the Commonwealth cases which provides them with as much or more work than they can possibly do. My judges are not traveling judges. They sit in Dauphin County at all times and I can find any of them on the bench down there any day in the week.

However, I quarrel with the way this is being done. This is back-door legislation, what we are doing. The Chairman of the Appropriations Committee has been very fair when asked many, many times whether the item before us was in the budget. In all instances when it was not he has been fair enough to make that statement on this floor.

However, in order to do what we are doing here today this bill had to be amended to take effect July 1962. Now if you just think for a minute what that does to the legislative body. Passing this legislation in this session will mean that the budget department will have no choice but to put this in the budget of next year. They have lost their choice as to whether or not this is something that should be done. That is bad. That is the worst kind of housekeeping I know of.

Then they will tell us in the next session, and you will all be here, be the good Lord willing, you will still be in this House, and when you walk in here you will have $800,000 around your neck that you will have to find new revenue for, not because of anyone else, but because of something that you are doing to yourself.

We used to have a rule, I think it has been set aside by someone, that before the Governor could sign a piece of legislation the Auditor General had to certify that the money was available to take care of it. I would like to know—and I think that was the reason the date was changed—I would like to know how the Auditor General could certify to the Governor of this Commonwealth that this money will be available in July of 1962.

I do not like this kind of housekeeping. I have made that statement. I think it is bad to do this. I think it is bad to mandate something that you do not have and have no idea where it is going to come from.

I agree with the chairman of the Appropriations Committee that I hope there will be enough people at work and that we will have increased spending in this Commonwealth, that our broad-based tax can bring in enough revenue to take care of this, but I have no guarantee of that. I have no guarantee.

I may be asked, if I vote for this piece of legislation, to support a tax, and if I vote for it I should be willing and ready to support a tax to pay for this, but I say, ladies and gentleman, if you want to do this it should be done properly. Wait until the next general session of the legislature, pass it, and then furnish the money to pay for it. I plead with you not to tie this rock around your necks this afternoon. Thank you very much.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, we have a similar situation with respect to this bill. It is a 78-page bill. There are numerous amendments being offered to it and, in the few minutes we have to look over these amendments, we cannot ascertain what they do to the bill. Therefore, it is agreeable to us that these amendments be inserted into this bill so we can then read it.

Many municipalities are interested in this planning bill and they are interested in the bill as amended, so it is all right with us if the amendments are inserted. Then we will look the bill over and caucus on it when we get it.

(During roll call)

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the minority leader.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, I think the membership on this side of the House would like to have Mr. Polen explain the system of crediting against existing obligations that these three bills call for. Perhaps he explained it, but I was tied up here and did not hear what he said.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. We will have the gentleman explain it after we announce the roll call on this bill; he can explain it on the next bill.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate bill No. 732, entitled:

An Act making an appropriation to Western Pennsylvania School for the Deaf in Edgewood Pittsburgh and crediting said appropriation to the indebtedness of said school to Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Washington, Mr. Polen.

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, Senate bills 731, 732 and 733, are merely bookkeeping transactions. There is no appropriation actually contained in any of them; these amounts have already been paid under Social Security, and this is simply an off-setting transaction—they are credits.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. I believe that is the explanation we wanted, Mr. Speaker.

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, that the clerk return the same to the Senate with information that the House has passed the same with amendments in which the concurrence of the Senate is requested.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate bill No. 806, entitled:

An Act amending the act of March 10, 1949 (P. L. 30), entitled "Public School Code of 1949" providing for the establishment and operation of area technical schools departments or classes by the Department of Public Instruction in certain cases.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the gentleman from Washington, Mr. Polen, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. POLEN. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, Senate bill 806 seems to project the Department of Public Instruction into a new field of education. Would the gentleman please explain this bill to the House and then after the explanation I would like to ask a few questions about it.

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, this bill is the result of the joint committee on unemployment headed by Senator Lane, and it was worked out by Senator Lane and the Governor's office for a training program for the unemployed. It gives the Department of Public Instruction the right to establish vocational schools where they do not have them. Presently this will not cost the State any money; it will just enable them to use Federal money that would be available if and when a program is not being conducted in certain areas of the Commonwealth.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, the Department of Public Instruction, of course, is presently engaged in operating some educational institutions, is it not?

Mr. POLEN. Is the question: some educational institutions?

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Yes.

Mr. POLEN. The department itself, I do not believe, is operating any. Under the present program, the different school districts or the county boards can operate such training programs, but this is to be used in areas of great unemployment, where the local districts or the county superintendents do not feel that they are in a position to handle it, and this Federal money can be used by the Superintendent of Public Instruction to establish vocational training schools for the training of the unemployed.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. I believe the gentleman has stated that there is not an appropriation in this bill for that purpose?

Mr. POLEN. This is right.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Was not the material that you read in your summary there as to receiving money from other sources, was that not stricken out of the bill?

Mr. POLEN. From other sources?

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. There is only one page left in the bill, the method of payment, and so forth, has been stricken out of the bill.

Mr. POLEN. Yes, because the program would be operated by the Department of Public Instruction with Federal funds received for that purpose.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Does it say that in the bill anywhere?

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, I do not have the bill before me, but that is what will be done.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. In glancing at the bill I cannot see where it is predicated on the receipt of Federal funds.

Do you have any information as to where these particular schools will be located?

Mr. POLEN. I could not say where they would be located, but it would be in an area where there is no training program that has been established by the local authorities, and where there is a great area of unemployment. For instance, Fayette County would be a prime target where the superintendent would establish a school of this nature. It is a training program for the unemployed to fit into the Federal program.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. I thank the gentleman.

Mr. Speaker, I believe the lady from Northampton would like to make a comment on it.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the lady from Northampton, Mrs. Reibman.

Mrs. REIBMAN. Mr. Speaker, my information indicates to me that this is a part of the aid to depressed areas program on the Federal level to help provide money for the training of unemployed adults, as well as certain school children. This fits in with the Federal program on vocational training.

It is just stand-by legislation to permit the department to operate these special classes or special schools if the needs are not being met in certain areas of the Commonwealth.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, I do not like to question the lady, but the bill of course does not say that. Anything with reference to Federal aid probably was stricken out of the bill.

I realize that it is probably not good judgment on our part to stand up here and say we do not want technical training schools established up in the coal regions, for instance, but one thing that strikes us is the way this is drawn. As I read it now, this school would be set up by the Department of Public Instruction where they feel that the local school boards are not doing the job. Of course, it is only one page; it does not say who would pay the teachers, whether there would be taxation for it, but it would appear to me the way this bill is drafted that it would be a direct appropriation from our State budget to operate those schools without any local effort or anything. That is the way it looks to me.

We realize that there are areas of unemployment where we must take these young people who have not gone to high school and train them and we do not like to vote against a bill like this, but it seems that we could carry out the idea of our local schools doing this and providing them with 100 percent of the money. If this is a bill, as it appears to me, that 100 percent of the money is to be provided by the State, you should let the local school boards do it and send them 100 percent of the money; let them get the Federal aid and do the job.

Although I do not believe we are going to vote against this particular bill, it certainly should be amended to provide that the local people can do it and if the State is going to pay 100 percent of it, plus Federal money, the local people ought to be commissioned to do it.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Washington, Mr. Polen.

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, that is exactly what the intention is. Where the local district does it, that is O.K., but this would give the superintendent of Public Instruction the power, where they have not done it and they do not want to do it, or cannot do it, to go in and establish these schools for the training of the unemployed, in areas that are depressed.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Centre, Mr. Fulmer.

Mr. FULMER. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, it seems to me that the time has long come and gone when we should pay attention to the people who are trying to make a living by the use of their hands.

For many years we have been training people for post-high-school work in our colleges, and yet we have ignored a large part of our population which will be earning its living by the use of its hands. Now, it seems to me, as Mr. Johnson has said, that the local school districts should assume this responsibility. It is my understanding that at the present time, through the Department of Public Instruction, the local school districts can have programs of this nature. However, it seems to me that maybe someone will have to show the way for these school districts to adapt themselves to the needs in their particular communities.

Mr. Speaker, even though I think this bill should have more provisions as to how the money is supposed to be appropriated and how the program shall be conducted, I think that if it is abused between now and 1963, when we come back here into session, we can then correct these abuses. Therefore, Mr. Speaker, I would urge the members of the House to support this particular bill.

Mr. KORNICK. Mr. Speaker, this bill is very essential for us in Fayette County. Our school districts and the county board have a vocational program going on now, but it is spread all over the city of Uniontown. We are renting five or six buildings. Therefore, it is very essential and necessary that we have some type of legislation like this to take care of the adult training and also the students graduating from high school for vocational training. I ask the members on both sides of this House to vote for this bill.

Mr. WHITTAKER. Mr. Speaker, for many years I have been interested in vocational and technical training, living right next door to one of the best technical schools in Pennsylvania. To establish these schools helter-skelter is the wrong thing to do. We have legislation going through which will allow us to establish approximately 10 or 12 area technical schools. I would suggest that we do a good job with those 10 or 12 area technical schools before we open the door to allowing these schools to be put almost any place the department would like to place them. It takes a lot of money, millions of dollars, to establish a good technical school, and to establish a poor one is a crime.

This is not needed legislation, in my estimation, at the present time. This can be taken care of with present legislation. Let us establish the 10 or 12 good ones and go on from there at the next session. I advise you to vote against this bill.

Mrs. REIBMAN. Mr. Speaker, I would just like to say that this bill is just a completion of the entire vocational education program in Pennsylvania. I might say that numerous delays have been taking place in many areas of this Commonwealth which would have developed industrially had there been facilities for the training and retraining of adults and young people.

While Pennsylvania has postponed the establishment of these schools, other States such as Connecticut, North Carolina, Louisiana, Kentucky, Georgia and California have made rapid progress in implementing their plans. These States will soon occupy a favored position in the national competition for industry due to their ability to provide industry with the craftsmen and technicians needed.

I would hope that every member on both sides of the aisle would do everything in their power to assure that we have training facilities for all of our people, particularly for those in the depressed areas. Please support the bill.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate bill 826, entitled:

An Act prohibiting the expression by the judge before the jury or any juror in a criminal proceeding of his belief opinion or thought concerning the guilt or innocence of any defendant in such proceeding.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. Mr. Speaker, I had not really intended to speak on this bill, but it seems to me that this bill will result in a very drastic change in our trial of criminal cases.

In the first place, the bill, as you will notice, states that a judge will not be able in any manner whatsoever to express his own belief, opinion or thought concerning the guilt or innocence of any defendant.

It seems to me that there are many instances where a judge might perfectly properly say to the jury, for example, that he believes a sustaining witness of the defendant was telling the truth, or that an impartial witness was not telling the truth. It seems to me that this bill would prevent a judge from saying that.

In addition, the present law in Pennsylvania, which has been in operation for time immemorial, I think has worked very well. It permits a judge to give an opinion. The judge, of course, can say and does say properly to the jury that the jury need not follow his opinion. I agree that it has possibly been abused, but in the long run it seems to me that passage of this bill will result in a tremendous number of mistrials. It will benefit, of course, the criminal more than anyone. It will result in more motions for new trials, more writs of habeas corpus by prisoners who are already in jail, and I think it is a very drastic change in our present law and it is a bad bill.

Mr. McCORMACK. Mr. Speaker, I would like very briefly to discuss this bill that I see on the calendar. I have read it and I am inclined to agree with the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Lippincott. There are many aspects in a bill like this that should be explored and gone into at considerable length. I think to present the General Assembly with a bill like this on the closing day of the session and realizing the significance of it is not clear to the committee that usually gets such a bill. The Judiciary Committee, it seems, should be given the opportunity of going into this bill to see whether or not a bill like this is really necessary. It is changing the law in Pennsylvania that has been in effect for a long time and, in order for us to justify a change, we should first decide, or have some evidence before us which would indicate, that there has been serious abuse resulting in unfair convictions of criminals, but I do not think there is anyone here in the House today who can speak on this bill and tell us of any abuses that have taken place.

I have done a considerable amount of criminal trial practice in Philadelphia and as an attorney representing defendants I thought many times it was unfair of the trial judge to express his opinion as to the guilt or innocence of my client to the jury, who are the sole triers of the facts, but at the same time I realize that in all the cases where that has been done there was never any abuses perpetrated. I am satisfied that I have had a fair trial in those cases despite the practice of the trial judge.

If there is any attorney here who is particularly interested in the passage of this bill, I would like to hear him get on the floor and tell me of some of the abuses so that, perhaps, I might alter my opinion that this is a bill that requires serious study by lawyer members of the General Assembly, and not a bill that is foisted upon us in the closing days of the session. Unless I hear some testimony concerning this aspect of it, I am going to have to vote "no" and ask the members of the House to vote "no." We can always bring it up next session and go into it at length, but I do not want to go any further into it today because everybody is anxious to adjourn. So I will ask the other members if they will vote against this bill at the present time.

Mr. FINEMAN. Mr. Speaker, I think the bill has much merit. As the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. McCormack, stated, a jury is the sole arbiter of the facts to be tried in a case and the decision to be reached. That is the purpose of the jury system and, when the members of the jury hear the presiding judge express an opinion about the innocence or the guilt, or the weight of the evidence, or the quality or quantity of the proof that has been produced, or has not been produced, they are unquestionably influenced by the thinking of the judge and it does not suffice for the judge to say to the jury, you may ignore my opinion on this question because you are the sole triers of the facts and you make the decision.

When it comes to questions of abuse, this is a double-edged sword and it will work to the disadvantage of the defendant, as well as to the disadvantage of a prosecutor or a plaintiff.

I know from personal experience that there is abuse exercised, fortunately, only by a very few judges, but even those few cases should not have been allowed to exist and, if this type of legislation were on our books, it would not exist.

Several years ago, Mr. Speaker, I tried a case in the Common Pleas Court of Philadelphia County involving the interpretation of a document. It is true that there is never any certainty about the outcome of litigation. As a matter of fact, the only certainty is the uncertainty. But being guided by all probabilities that I could observe as the trial progressed, I had that trial won hands down. It was a feeling that you get during the course of a trial from the reception you receive from the jury, from the nature of the arguments, but when the judge came to make his closing charge to the jury he took that trial completely out of my hands. This was an instance, Mr. Speaker, of abuse, abuse that should not have taken place. I do not think it should be properly the function of a trial judge to express an opinion as to whether a plaintiff or defendant, or the prosecution in a criminal case, or the defendant in a criminal case, should prevail. I think this is the function solely of the jury and this bill should receive favorable reception from the members of this House.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from York, Mr. Gailey.

Mr. GAILEY. Very briefly, Mr. Speaker, it is not often that I find myself in disagreement with my colleague from Delaware on matters legal. But I think the fact that this has been in our law for a long while does not of and in itself make this a good rule. As the gentleman of course knows and as he could have told you, this is not something by statute law; this is something that arises from common law and goes back centuries even before our jurisprudence system here in the United States, to the courts of England. There have been at least several appellate cases in recent years that have been appealed on this ground where the courts, the trial courts, said in no uncertain terms that he thought the defendant was guilty. Then so long as the trial court goes on to say, of course, it is not my opinion that counts, it is yours, it is not grounds for a new trial.

It seems to me that this does, in fact, violate the principles of the fair trial if the jury is to determine the guilt or the innocence of the accused. Our appellate court has criticized this law, but has said that it is rooted in our law and, in the absence of legislative direction to the contrary, they have no authority to make any change.

I think this is good legislation. I respectfully request that members on both sides of the House consider it carefully and I hope, of course, that they vote for this bill.

The SPEAKER. Does the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Cauley, desire to be recognized?

Mr. CAULEY. Mr. Speaker, I speak in behalf of this bill. This is good legislation. I thought from time to time over many years trying cases, where the judge has invaded the rights of the jury in telling them and pronouncing what he thought of the guilt or innocence, that it has taken away his constitutional rights, that it has invaded the constitution because there is a presumption of innocence. This is a good rule and this should be enacted. If it should fall now, I think in the years to come, or until it has had an opportunity to be corrected, you are going to find a greater invasion of this. The defendant in a criminal case is presumed to be innocent. The jury has the absolute right to determine those facts. A jury is impressed by a judge in his judicial character when he makes a pronouncement. I urge everybody to vote favorably on this legislation.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. McCormack.

Mr. McCORMACK. Mr. Speaker, I want it clearly stated on the record that I am not saying this is necessarily a bad bill; I am merely saying that we should be given more time to consider the implications involved in a bill such as this. It should not come over in the closing days of the session where we have not had an opportunity to go into it at length. It might very well be a good bill. I am not saying that it is not. I am just saying that we should be given more time.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Adams, Mr. Worley.

Mr. WORLEY. Thank you, Mr. Speaker, I want to say a few words in support of this bill.

I think that this is very good legislation. I have a recollection from my history books that the jury that tried William Penn was sent back by the court, and sent back, and finally sent back several times, until they came back and brought in a conviction.

Now that is something that started then and we have been trying to get away from it ever since in our Constitutions here in America.

Do not tell me that a statement made by a judge is not influential upon a jury. And for a judge then to say that you can disregard it is even more influential than to just say it without a request to disregard the court's opinion because it has the power of suggestion, and, psychologically, it has more influence than if the judge does not say anything about disregarding it after he has made the statement.

I say that this is a bad procedure. If the jury is going to be the determiner of the facts, then let the jury determine the facts and not the court.

Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, as we understand this bill, if there is a vacancy in the office of the assistant county superintendent of schools and it is not filled within 90 days by the local people, then the Superintendent of Public Instruction can make the appointment.

We think this is an unreasonable invasion of home rule and the right of the people back home to make these appointments. We can see no necessity for the law. Sometimes back home they do not make that appointment for 90 days for a reason, generally a good reason. They fill the vacancy when the time comes. We are, therefore, against this bill.

Less than the majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the negative and the bill falls.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate bill No. 880, entitled:

An Act amending the act of August 16, 1951 (P. L. 1236), entitled, "An act authorizing the Supreme Court and the Superior Court to appoint and fix the compensation of reporters of their decisions and assistants and employes and repealing certain acts" removing the limitation on the salary of reporters.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the minority leader.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. I hope the membership does not get the impression that we are against these bills. Of course we have voted for many of them, but here is another bill that is taking away from the General Assembly prerogatives that we enjoy, that of fixing the salary of this court reporter, and we are reposing it in the judges of the respective courts. We can see no reason for depriving ourselves of this prerogative that we have. If these reporters should have more money, I think the bill should so provide and we would raise that particular salary if that is in order. But for us to abdicate our function in that regard, we do not think is a good plan and we therefore ask the members to vote against this bill.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Washington, Mr. Murphy.

Mr. MURPHY. Mr. Speaker, I too agree wtih Mr. Johnson that it is our responsibility to raise the money to afford the salaries of these various staffs of the courts and I feel it is also our duty and responsibility to establish their salaries.

On the question, recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Less than the majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the negative and the bill falls.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate bill No. 882, entitled:

An Act amending the act of December 3, 1959 (P. L. 1688), entitled "Housing Agency Law" clarifying and supplementing provisions of existing law relating to the financing of cooperatively-owned housing changing the terms of housing loans for elderly persons modifying the reserve requirement for outstanding Agency bonds and placing the Agency's report to the Legislature on an annual basis.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The SPEAKER. The chair recognizes the minority leader.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, I understand the gentleman from York, Mr. Gailey, can explain this bill. In our caucus we did not have a memorandum on it. It may be a good bill, but we would like to hear somebody say so.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from York, Mr. Gailey.

Mr. GAILEY. Mr. Speaker, the members of the House who were here last session will recall, I am sure, that our good friend and colleague, George Schwartz from Philadelphia, was one of the principal sponsors and exponents of this legislation.

It was found, however, due to some changes in the Federal Housing Law and due to circumstances which had arisen, that changes in fact had to be made. Now, this bill does four things: (1) the bill as we passed it two years ago states that in co-operative housing projects which are eligible for these loans or for this assistance.

The present law says that every member must be in the middle income category, which is defined as being the middle one-third of certain statistical data accumulated both by the state and Federal Government. They found out that as a practical matter this was almost impossible to achieve, that in any unit of any size you would find people outside this middle one-third. So the first thing this bill does is to change that to make the requirement that only 50 percent of the people need be in this middle income category. The balance can be either below or above.

The second thing that this bill does is in the area of the percentage of people in a co-operative housing project who must be elderly in order to qualify for certain assistance. Now the National Housing Law sets this requirement at 50 percent in the bill that we passed. We had increased that to 65 percent, and after a good bit of deliberation they decided that the 50 percent requirement, as set in the National Housing Law, was a much more reasonable figure and would enable this program to move forward a lot more rapidly.

The third thing that this bill does changes the requirement as to the aggregate principal amount of outstanding bonds in the relationship to the amount of capital reserve funds in these projects. Now, the present law says that the aggregate principal amount of outstanding bonds may not exceed twelve and one-half times the amount of the capital reserve fund. The bill is changed, striking out that requirement altogether. It should be pointed out, however, to the members this does not mean that there is no check whatsoever, because, of course, in order to have bonds outstanding there must be a bond debenture. And anyone who has had anything to do with bonds and debentures knows that the underwriters insist on all sorts of safeguards in order to protect the bondholders. So it would seem to me that there is still ample protection for the bondholders in removing this restriction which seems to the people who have sponsored this bill and who propose it to be much too restrictive.

One other thing that this bill does, a lesser one perhaps, has to do with the amount of interest credit which a co-operative housing group is entitled to. In other words, if they meet the requirements of 50 percent in the middle income provision, and if they meet the requirement of at least 50 percent, being elderly people, then they are entitled to certain credits on the interest they pay on the loan from the Pennsylvania Housing Authority's loan. Now, it provides that if, at any time, the people who own the project cooperatively do not need this cash, then they are in default in this aspect of it, and if it is accrued within twelve months, they lose this preferred rate of interest.

The final provision is to make the report from any given unit to the State from the authority to the legislature due on an annual basis rather than biennial. This would not be the kind of report which merely reports what has happened over the past year; it will also, of course, set forth their requirements for the forthcoming fiscal year. Since we are now on an annual basis instead of biennial, that is the reason for the change. I do not, of course, pretend to be an expert in all aspects of this. Should this explanation not be enough for the membership, I would be glad to obtain any information they may require in regard to it.

On the question, recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, that the clerk return the same to the Senate with information that the House of Representatives has passed the same without amendment.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate bill No. 905, entitled:

An Act amending the act of April 12, 1951 (P. L. 90), entitled "Liquor Code" excepting certain restaurants from the prohibition of granting licenses to places of amusement.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Goldstein.

Mr. M. H. GOLDSTEIN. Mr. Speaker, I want to call to the attention of the House that this is a special purpose bill designed to give a liquor license to one racing track in the State of Pennsylvania, that the laws of the State of Pennsylvania do not prohibit children under 21 from attending race tracks and that they would be able to participate in every event, including liquor and cocktails at the harness racing events.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, Senate bill 905 would be for the purpose of granting license as the situation was outlined there. But I am sure if the gentleman has ever been at any of the race tracks he knows they have many beautiful club houses in adjoining States. In those club houses they have facilities for cocktails and very good food and, certainly, in Pennsylvania, in the respective counties in which they voted favorably to grant such establishment, I would also hope that we would also grant to them the same rights for the purpose of operating club houses which would be brand new and would give an opportunity for people to properly have a drink with their food in the club houses in those facilities.

Mr. M. H. GOLDSTEIN. Mr. Speaker, will the majority leader consent to be interrogated?

Mr. McCANN. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. M. H. GOLDSTEIN. Mr. Speaker, does the majority leader know that there are States in these United States which have legalized gambling which absolutely prohibit the attendance of minors at these events?

Mr. McCANN. Yes, that is quite true.

Mr. M. H. GOLDSTEIN. And is it not true in the State of Florida?

Mr. McCANN. That is quite true and I believe also in one other State.

Mr. M. H. GOLDSTEIN. And does the gentleman not think it would be a healthy measure to make such a regulation as part of the law of Pennsylvania so that minors would not be attending these race tracks and being in these restaurants for the purpose, directly or indirectly, of drinking?

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I am sure we can argue this both ways, but when you take your family with you in a properly conducted establishment, you bring your children with you, and, if you are there at the race track and many people would go there, and if that would be the case, you certainly would say that the children are there and can be influenced by the fact that alcoholic and malt beverages are served. I assume it would be the same as when I took my family to the hotel and they dine with me and the alcoholic beverages are served there.

Mr. M. H. GOLDSTEIN. Mr. Speaker, I am glad that the majority leader made the observation of bringing the family. I think we will have family night at the race tracks if this bill passes.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

DEMOCRATIC CAUCUS

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I am going to ask the Democratic members to take their house calendars and immediately come to the new House caucus room so we can immediately caucus on bills on page 14, bills on concurrence in Senate amendments, on 911, 1487 and 1792, and the conference committee reports on pages 15, 16 and 17. As soon as that is over you will be released to eat.

Therefore, I ask the membership, when I make the necessary motion, to please come to the new House caucus room immediately and bring your calendars with you so that we can break after caucus and eat a bite and come back to our session in the evening.

REPUBLICAN CAUCUS

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, we are also calling a Republican caucus immediately. We will caucus on concurrences, on conference committee reports and several other bills on the final passage calendar. We will try to get the caucus over with as rapidly as possible as I understand we will not have to be back here until 8:30 tonight. That is correct, is it not?

Mr. McCANN. That is right.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. We want everyone on the Republican side to go to caucus immediately so we can finish the business of the caucus promptly.

SENATE MESSAGE

HOUSE BILLS CONCURRED IN BY SENATE

The clerk of the Senate being introduced, returned bills from the House of Representatives numbered and entitled as follows:

House BILL No. 56.

SENATE RESOLUTION SERIAL No. 130

The clerk of the Senate being introduced presented an extract from the Journal of the Senate, which was read as follows:

In the Senate, August 31, 1961.

Whereas, There is a need for a closer medium of contact and communication between the General Assembly and the offices of the Governor and the various administrative offices and agencies, and

Whereas, Functions of the legislative arm of government are hampered and delayed by lack of facilities and lack of co-ordination of existing facilities between its own agencies and the members of the House of Representatives and Senate, and

Whereas, It is desirable to create a continuing commission of the General Assembly to direct the ways and means whereby the agencies, standing committees, officers and employees of the Assembly may operate for the best interests of the Commonwealth by expediting and simplifyng the legislative processes, assisting and advising with special committees and agencies, and generally acting as an advisory and executive arm of the Legislature.

Therefore Be It Resolved, (if the House of Representatives concurs) that there is hereby created the General Assembly Advisory Council whose function shall be to co-ordinate and advise on the duties of special committees and agencies of the General Assembly or either House thereof; to co-ordinate the functions and duties of the Legislative Reference Bureau, the Legislative Budget and Finance Committee, Joint State Government Commission, Local Government Commission, and other commissions or committees; the creation and staffing of a legislative library within one of the presently existing legislative commissions or committees, and to give immediate attention to a revision of the rules of the House and Senate whereby the major House and Senate committees shall receive and study proposed legislation during the interim between sessions of the Legislature and during the Fiscal Session of the Legislature.

And Be It Further Resolved, That the Council hereby created shall have the right and power to obtain, upon request, reports and information from all agencies, commissions and committees now or then currently engaged in programs of construction or planning, and to obtain facilities and space for the Legislature and its committees.

And Be It Finally Resolved, That the Council shall consist of not less than twenty nor more than thirty members of the General Assembly, to be appointed by the Speaker of the House and the President Pro Tempore of the Senate, the membership to be bi-partisan at all times, and the officers shall be elected by the members of the Council.

Ordered, that the clerk present the same to the House of Representatives for its concurrence.

The SPEAKER (Hiram G. Andrews) IN THE CHAIR

RESOLUTION

CANNED MUSIC DEVICE IMPLEMENTATION

Mr. DENGLER offered a resolution and asked and obtained unanimous consent for its immediate consideration.

The resolution was read, considered and adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives August 31, 1961

Inasmuch as the House of Representatives is continuously striving to raise educational standards in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania; and

Inasmuch as "music" is an integral part of our educational program in which the music teachers are trying to present the best in music; and

Inasmuch as 75% of the canned music, which is inflicted on us through the media of the juke boxes, radio, and television, is not melodious, not harmonious, is lacking in form and unity and appeals mostly to the lowest instincts of the human race, actuating not the brain nor the heart, but the feet; therefore be it

Resolved, That the members of the House of Representatives petition the makers of juke boxes and other mechanical devices for the projecting of canned music to include in the lists of the names of the records, a slot labelled "Silence" and thus make it possible for a person to deposit a coin in the slot "Silence" thereby gaining a temporary respite from the barbaric and senseless sounds that emanate from these infernal machines, and be it further

Resolved, That we petition the disc jockeys to play at least one classical or semi-classical selection every half-hour, and be it further

Resolved, That we congratulate the teenagers for their fundamental appreciation of good music in spite of the continuous flood of jangled sounds and noises that our commercial music interests are continually feeding us through a multitudinous number of musical media.

BILLS ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate bill No. 916, entitled:

An Act amending the act of August 9, 1955 (P. L. 323), entitled "The County Code" authorizing counties to make appropriations and to enter into contracts for improvement of transportation operations and facilities and to accept gifts grants and federal loans in connection therewith.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Messrs. FETTEROLF and GIBBONS asked unanimous consent to offer amendments at this time.

The SPEAKER. The amendments will be read by the clerk for information.

Amend Sec. 1, (Sec. 1997), page 2, line 6, by inserting after "Facilities" (a)

Amend Sec. 1, (Sec. 1997), page 2, line 9, by inserting after "may" subject to a referendum

Amend Sec. 1, (Sec. 1997), page 2, by inserting between lines 16 and 17: (b) The referendum procedure shall be as follows:

A petition requesting that the commissioners enter into contracts and long range cooperative programs with federal, State and local governmental agencies or public utilities for the improvement of transportation operations and facilities within and across county lines shall be signed by qualified electors of the county equal in number to at least one per cent (1%) of the highest total vote cast for any county office at the last municipal election. The petition shall be in the form required for nomination petitions by the election laws of the Commonwealth, except that the said petition shall be circulated for not more than six (6) months prior to the last filing day, which shall be ninety (90) days before the general or municipal election at which it is desired to submit the question. The petition shall be filed with the county board of elections, and the validity of the petition and any objections thereto shall be determined in accordance with the election laws of the Commonwealth.

The election on the question shall be governed in all respects by the election laws of the Commonwealth insofar as they are applicable.

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to the offering of amendments at this time? Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Montgomery, Mr. Fetterolf, still has the floor.

Mr. GALLAGHER, Mr. Speaker, I desire, at the proper time, to speak on these amendments.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman desires to inform the House as to the nature of the amendments he is offering.

Mr. FETTEROLF. Mr. Speaker, in order to point out more clearly the purpose of the amendments, I would like briefly to summarize the purpose of the bill.

This bill is an amendment to the county code which would permit the board of county commissioners to enter into contracts and long-range cooperative programs with Federal, State and local governmental agencies or public utilities for the improvement of transportation operations and facilities within and across county lines. It also gives the board of county commissioners the right to contribute county money and to expect Federal funds in the support of this sort of transportation project.

Now then, the amendment which I have introduced, in conjunction and collaboration with Mr. Gibbons from Delaware, amounts to providing for a referendum on this matter.

I believe that all the people should have the right to decide for themselves if they wish to have their tax moneys poured into this new and probably worthwhile project, one which, in all likelihood, could mushroom to great proportions in the years ahead. It is probably true but that a scant 25 percent of the people living in the suburban Philadelphia counties commute to Philadelphia by way of public transportation. It perhaps is not proper that all in a suburban county subsidize a project for the benefit of the minority. Therefore, I believe it not only proper but fair to allow all the people to speak their minds in a referendum on this issue.

There is another point which should be made. Some of the members of the House may not be aware of the tremendous impression which has been created in the minds of hundreds of thousands of suburban Philadelphia residents ever since Congressman Bill Green insisted that portions of neighboring counties be annexed to Philadelphia for political purposes in order to preserve the six congressional seats in Philadelphia and they have become wary. Does this sort of action mean eventual physical annexation? they ask. Does this mean Bill Green will eventually dictate all things to us? Truly many believe this a possibility and they are today watching and waiting. I say people in this state of mind have a proper right to consider carefully this mass transportation project being hand in hand with the big city of Philadelphia. Philadelphia stands to be the gainer, and suburbanites realize this. They want a chance to express themselves on the degree to which their counties commit them.

For these reasons I ask that the people of the Philadelphia suburbs be given this opportunity in a referendum. I ask all of you in this House to consider their interest and support this most important amendment. Of course there is no question that our railroads need a financial shot in the arm. Too long have they suffered in this commuter service between the suburbs in Montgomery, Delaware, Bucks and Chester counties and the big city. But I say too, that 300,000 people whom I represent also have a right to their expression. Ladies and gentlemen of this House, I make a very sincere plea for your support in this vote.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Bucks, Mr. Gallagher.

Mr. GALLAGHER. Mr. Speaker, I would like to address my remarks to the members of the Assembly in opposition to these amendments.

I would like to say, first of all, that I am surprised that the gentleman is offering these amendments this evening when The Philadelphia Bulletin, in tonight's paper, carries this story, "Four Suburban Counties Agree to Join City in Commuter Line Plans." This news item is the result of a combination of meetings and agreements which the four suburban counties and the city of Philadelphia, the county commissioners of each of these counties, in working out an agreement and a plan whereby the residents of these counties will eventually have the opportunity to take the advantage of better commuter service.

I would like to say again that the gentleman has raised a specter of the reapportionment program as an issue here, but apparently the county commissioners of these four counties do not believe that this is an issue. They look at this problem as one of cooperating with neighboring counties and providing for the public and the citizens of these counties the best possible transportation available.

This bill that we have before us today will entitle these counties to $230,000 of Federal funds to provide a better commuter service in the area.

I have before me correspondence from my county commissioners wherein they cite a resolution that they adopted authorizing their participation in this program.

The move to place these amendments into the bill to provide for referendum at this time, after the Republican Party has instituted scare tactics in these areas about the congressional reapportionment program, would be fatal to the bill and thereby lose this Federal aid to our commuter problem, this aid to our mass transportation problem. I can speak with authority on this situation because I have been one who has come out and opposed this reapportionment program, and all the petitions and all the nonsense that the Republican Party is trying to institute at rallies in these suburban counties will not reapportion this State's congressional system. It is my vote, the vote of Representative Gremminger, the vote of Representative Fry that are going to decide this matter. I say that the Republican Party has made a mistake in trying to institute these scare tactics and now we are faced with this problem here. We are not talking about municipal annexation; we are talking about municipal cooperation. We have seen this thing work in the city of Philadelphia where they have improved mass transportation in the city. We have seen it work to the extent that the county commissioners in the four suburban counties, who are mainly Republican county commissioners, have seen fit to come to an agreement with the city of Philadelphia that they may enter into an agreement with the city; that they may participate in the Federal program for aid to this program.

With all this in mind, ladies and gentlemen, with the fact that in tonight's Bulletin the county commissioners have agreed to enter into this plan—they are waiting for my county commissioners to come back from vacation to sign the agreement. They will sign it after Labor Day. This is how far they have gone into this and I feel that the referendum is not necessary. These people are elected by the people of the various counties. They were elected on the basis that they would represent the people of the counties. They know what the people want; they know that they need this mass transportation program; they know that they need additional commuter service; they know the feeling, the temper, the actual fact of the matter, and they can well decide this.

So, Mr. Speaker, I would ask the members on both sides of this House to vote down these amendments and to support this bill for progress in this area.

The SPEAKER. Does the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Isaacs, desire recognition?

Mr. ISAACS. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Bucks, Mr. Gallagher.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Bucks, Mr. Gallagher, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. GALLAGHER. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. ISAACS. Mr. Speaker, I understand you to say that you would oppose the Green plans for the reapportionment of the Congressional District by a Philadelphia district overlapping a suburban county, and if I understood you correctly, you said that Representatives Gremminger and Fry from the counties of Delaware and Bucks would likewise oppose any such plans whereby any Philadelphia Congressional District would overlap a suburban county.

The SPEAKER. The Chair would hope. . . . . .

Mr. GALLAGHER. Mr. Speaker, I will answer the question, please.

The SPEAKER. The Chair would hope that we do not get involved in reapportionment while discussing this thing.

Mr. ISAACS. Mr. Speaker, the bill was the last question on the floor of this House. He opened the door. I am interrogating him on his statement, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. GALLAGHER. Mr. Speaker, seeing that Mr. Fetterolf opened the question when he referred to the problem. . . . . .

The SPEAKER. The Chair does not like to be shouted at. He does not shout at the gentleman from Delaware. If his remarks were provocative then the Chair did not say anything, and the Chair simply expressed the hope that we would not get into reapportionment in discussing this measure. If the House wants to do that, the House is privileged to do so.

Mr. GALLAGHER. Mr. Speaker, probably if I answered the gentleman's question I could clarify the matter. I said that the position of the Republican Party in the suburban counties will not bring about the defeat of the Green proposal to congressional reapportionment. I said that my vote, and I have publicly announced as being opposed to this plan, my vote and the votes of Representatives Gremminger and Fry will help to decide this issue. I did not say that those two gentlemen were opposed to this.

Mr. ISAACS. Mr. Speaker, that is all I wanted to know and I thank the gentleman for his answer and I am pleased to know that he is representing the sentiments of Representative Fry and Representative Gremminger. Both gentlemen being here in the House, if this is not a fact, I think they should know about it. I thank the gentleman, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. GALLAGHER. Mr. Speaker, I have to clarify this. I am not representing their position. I am saying that the petitions you people are circulating will do no good. It will take the votes of myself and these other two gentlemen to accomplish what you are trying to accomplish upon the people by signing these petitions.

Mr. ISAACS. I understand the gentleman clearly, Mr. Speaker, and I thank him for his remarks.

The SPEAKER. Does the gentleman from Bucks, Mr. Williams, desire to be recognized?

Mr. A. D. WILLIAMS, Jr. I do, Mr. Speaker, for a few words on this amendment.

The SPEAKER. The Chair thanks the gentleman for offering to speak on the amendments.

Mr. A. D. WILLIAMS, Jr. There must be a spirit of congeniality which we have arising out of these sessions which develops at the end of the session, and I have the pleasure and the opportunity for probably the first time in my three years here to agree completely with the other Representative from Bucks County, Mr. Gallagher, on this issue. We in Bucks County want our hands free to cooperate with Philadelphia if we so choose. That is the only issue here involved. This is a question which is entirely one of Home Rule. We merely want the legal authority to enter into a commuter train pact if we so desire. We have not made any formal agreements yet that I know of, but we desire to have a right to do so if we wish. I would like to see these amendments defeated and the bill passed.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

So the question was determined in the negative and the amendments were not agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Lippincott.

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Bucks, Mr. Gallagher?

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Bucks, Mr. Gallagher, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. GALLAGHER. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. Mr. Speaker, did the gentleman state or did I understand him to say that the Bulletin article indicated an agreement had been reached concerning regional planning on this mass transit between certain counties?

Mr. GALLAGHER. Mr. Speaker, the Bulletin article said that, "Four Suburban Counties agree to join City in Commuter Line Plan" "Will Sign Pact After Labor Day".

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. Does that mean, Mr. Speaker, that this bill is not necessary? In other words, have they reached an agreement without this bill?

Mr. GALLAGHER. Mr. Speaker, I would suggest that these gentleman are doing this in anticipation of this bill because. . . .

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. Is that indicated in the article that they are doing it in anticipation of this bill?

Mr. GALLAGHER. Mr. Speaker, I do not know that the article gives that inference, but I would be glad to have the gentleman read it and decide for himself.

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. I was sure that you had read it and that is why I asked you.

Mr. GALLAGHER. Mr. Speaker, I had read it but you might read into it a different interpretation than I would. Maybe you would like to read it now and decide what your opinion is on the matter.

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. I thank the gentleman. Mr. Speaker, I say seriously that there is a great deal of confusion among a lot of people concerning this regional planning and this mass transit idea. I think there has been a lot of confused statements by people of both parties concerning this idea, as printed in many newspaper articles and many press releases recently. It seems to me that the implications of this bill on mass transit are very serious and very tremendous as far as the suburbs are concerned. I feel and I know many of my colleagues in our county feel, and many of the leaders in our county feel, that this could develop into a tremendous financial monster as far as the suburbs of Philadelphia in particular are concerned. It seems to me that we should go easy before we pass a bill like this in the very last minutes of this session. I recall reading another Bulletin editorial in line with what the gentleman from Montgomery and the gentleman from Delaware said, which said in effect that regional planning had been set back ten years by the grand political annexation plan which certainly is tied in with this whole idea. I say that we should go very slow in passing this type of legislation. There is no rush on this and I ask all the members to vote against this bill.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Bucks, Mr. Gallagher.

Mr. GALLAGHER. Mr. Speaker, I would like to speak in behalf of the bill.

Mr. Speaker, I would like to say that some months ago, myself, Representative Gremminger and Representative Fry introduced a bill in this House that would exempt the suburban residents from the Philadelphia wage tax, and when I introduced that bill I suggested that if the Mayor of the city of Philadelphia wanted the counties to participate in his mass transportation program, the first thing he should do is agree to support that bill and thereby gain the confidence of the people in the suburban counties. Unfortunately, the county commissioners in each of these suburban counties, who happen to be Republican, saw fit to ingore this offer of compromise and enter into this agreement. Now, they have missed the point because of their actions, but I still must support this bill because it is a good bill for the people of the suburban counties. They need this type of mass transportation program, and even though they threw out our bargaining point and their ace, I still think that this is a good bill and have agreed to support it wholeheartedly, and I respectfully request each and every member to support the bill.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Isaacs.

Mr. ISAACS. Mr. Speaker, appropos to the remarks of the gentleman from Bucks, Mr. Gallagher, concerning the Philadelphia wage tax, that bill was in the Committee on Municipal Corporations. I believe, and I may be wrong, that he may have been secretary of the committee. I happen to be a member of that committee. I was there at every meeting; I may have missed one. The bill was not brought up. I did not hear the gentleman ask that the bill be brought up, I did not hear him ask the chairman to bring it up. I might say the Republicans were there to supply the votes for the bill. That is just to straighten out the record, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes. Mr. Gallagher.

Mr. GALLAGHER. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman has entered into a round which I cannot answer because we are not permitted to speak about activities in committee, but he knows full well what happened in those committee meetings and if his people had been there we would have done something. I ask that we have a roll call at this time, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. For what purpose does the majority leader rise?

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I hope that they have debated the bill fully. The bill is Senate bill 916 and I would appreciate it if we could go to a roll call.

Mr. ISAACS. Mr. Speaker, I did not bring up anything about the Philadelphia wage tax.

The SPEAKER. The Chair does not like to be shouted at when he has been very, very lenient and calm, and so forth.

Mr. ISAACS. I apologize to the Speaker if I was shouting, but I did not bring up the Philadelphia wage tax, Mr. Speaker, into this discussion. And inasmuch as the gentleman from Bucks sought to do so, I think I am entitled to answer the gentleman and I am just trying to keep the record straight.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, that the clerk return the same to the Senate with information that the House of Representatives has passed the same without amendment.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate bill No. 932, entitled:

An Act amending the act of December 22, 1959 (P. L. 1978), entitled "State Harness Racing Law" changing the commission to an independent administrative commission permitting corporation organized to hold race meetings to have a perpetual duration permitting the renewal of licenses and authorizing elections to determine if a racing plant is to be located within the county once every four years.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. McCANN asked unanimous consent to offer amendments at this time.

The SPEAKER. The amendments will be read by the clerk for information.

Amend Title, page 2, second line of Title, by inserting after "commission" providing for its membership

Amend Bill, page 6, by inserting after line 18

Section 2. The members of the State Harness Racing Commission in office at the time of this enactment shall continue in office and shall continue to have the same powers and duties as heretofore granted until the expiration of the term for which they were appointed.

Section 3. This act shall take effect immediately.

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to the offering of amendments at this time? Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the majority leader.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, these amendments are the ones that restore the State harness racing commission to office; at the time it was enacted it provided that they should continue in office and continue to have the same powers and duties as heretofore granted until the expiration of the terms for which they were appointed. They are the restoration amendments to the so-called "ripper section" which restores the harness racing commission in that section.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. M. H. Goldstein.

Mr. M. H. GOLDSTEIN. I have a series of amendments but I would like to have Mr. McCann correct me if I am wrong. These constitute a temporary abatement of the "ripper," and when the individuals' terms have expired, then no longer will the commission be under the jurisdiction of the Secretary of Agriculture, is that not true?

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, that would be true. That is the other section of the bill.

Mr. M. H. GOLDSTEIN. Thank you.

Mr. McCANN. This restores that section, as I indicated very clearly, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. M. H. GOLDSTEIN. Mr. Speaker, all I would say is that I think it would be better to have had this particular bureau under the Secretary of Agriculture, it relates to horses and horses are associated with agriculture.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. M. H. Goldstein. Has the gentleman from Allegheny finished?

Mr. M. H. GOLDSTEIN. Have the amendments of Mr. McCann been agreed upon?

The SPEAKER. They have not.

Mr. M. H. GOLDSTEIN. I have no desire to debate them; I just made my observation, that's all. I do not care for a roll call on this particular issue, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Bedford, Mr. Foor.

Mr. FOOR. Mr. Speaker, I desire to offer amendments at the proper time.

The SPEAKER. The Chair will recognize the gentleman at the proper time.

Mr. McCANN. This vote has been agreed to according to information that I have.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

They were agreed to.

On the question,

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to the offering of amendments at this time? Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Goldstein, who will explain the first set of amendments he is offering.

Mr. M. H. GOLDSTEIN. Mr. Speaker, I recognize that we are in the last, or next to the last day of this session.

The SPEAKER. We hope.

Mr. M. H. GOLDSTEIN. We hope. What tomorrow brings nobody knows. I also recognize we have very many important matters to discuss. I am extremely sorry that these particular matters could not be reviewed and debated at great length.

The purport of my amendments is simply this: The majority leader is familiar with the amendments. In plain English, if you believe in taking politics out of harness racing, you will vote for these amendments. If you believe in keeping harness racing in politics, then you will vote against the amendments. I ask for a roll call.

Mr. Speaker, I want to correct a statement which I might have made inadvertently. The purpose of these amendments is to keep politics out of harness racing.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Eilberg.

Mr. EILBERG. Mr. Speaker, I rise in opposition to these amendments. There is no reason why we should make public officers, public employes or party officials second-class citizens. We, in effect, are doing this if this amendment should go into the bill. It is my belief that this amendment is patterned after the New York racing law, and I call to the attention of the members that this provision that is proposed by Mr. Goldstein is probably unconstitutional because it limits the opportunities of persons from doing what they should be free to do.

I might say in respect to the New York law that the New York law has not been tested. Mr. Goldstein oversimplifies the problem. The problem is whether we are to take away from our people the freedom of engaging in any legal enterprise.

Mr. M. H. GOLDSTEIN. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman from Philadelphia consent to be interrogated?

Mr. EILBERG. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. M. H. GOLDSTEIN. Mr. Speaker, is it not true that these amendments are identical with the statute passed to that effect in the State of New York?

Mr. EILBERG. Mr. Speaker, in my remarks I indicated it was my belief that that was the case. I also indicated that that statute has not been tested in the courts and I am of the opinion that this provision would be unconstitutional.

Mr. M. H. GOLDSTEIN. Mr. Speaker, is it not true that this particular type of statute was passed in the State of New York because of the terrific scandal involving politicians of both parties in connection with the establishment of harness racing tracks?

Mr. EILBERG. I am not familiar with the situation as it exists in New York.

Mr. M. H. GOLDSTEIN. Mr. Speaker, if Mr. Eilberg is not familiar with the situation, I think in a matter of this great import he should have studied it, because the facts are these, that this particular type of legislation was passed in order to eliminate the scandals whereby politicians made tremendous sums of money because of their interest in race tracks.

No. 2, I am not trying to make second-class citizens out of politicians, I am trying to make first-class citizens out of politicians. When you have a public office, you have a public trust and you also subordinate yourself to certain obligations. Today in the State of Pennsylvania if you are a member of the PUC you cannot hold public utility stock, and that does not make a public utility commissioner a second-class citizen. When a man or a politician has great influence and when you are giving an individual, a group of individuals, a monopoly for the benefit of themselves, their children and their grandchildren, I say the act is not only constitutional, but morally right and proper.

I ask everybody, both Democratic and Republican, to vote "aye" on this. If this is to be a party measure and part of the Democratic platform to vote to keep politicians in harness racing, let the people of the State of Pennsylvania know where you stand.

I ask for a roll call.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Eilberg.

Mr. EILBERG. Mr. Speaker, we should not take this opportunity to discourage people from rendering public service work. Instead of encouraging public service, the sponsors of this amendment attempt to penalize persons who engage in such public service. We want to encourage people to go into public service and we want to encourage people to go into politics.

Too often we forget that people like Jefferson, Madison, Hamilton and Lincoln were also politicians, Mr. Speaker. I say vote down these amendments.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

The yeas and nays were required by Messrs. M. H. GOLDSTEIN and EILBERG and were as follows:

So the question was determined in the negative and the amendments were not agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading as amended?

Mr. M. H. GOLDSTEIN asked unanimous consent to offer amendments at this time.

The SPEAKER. The amendments will be read by the clerk for information.

Amend Title, page 2, last line of Title by inserting after "years" and prohibiting the attendance at harness horse race meetings by minors and requiring the commission to provide by rule for enforcement of certain provisions of the act

Amend Sec. 1, page 2, line 2 by striking out "and" where it appears the second time

Amend Bill, page 6, by inserting after line 18,

Section 21. Prohibiting of Wagering by Certain Officials, Employes and Minors, Prohibition of Attendance by Minors—No commissioner, secretary, deputy, officer, representative, employe or counsel of the commission shall bet upon the outcome of any harness horse race conducted at a track at which pari-mutuel betting is conducted by any licensee of the commission, and no corporation which is licensed under this act shall permit any person who is actually and apparently under twenty-one years of age to bet at, or attend a harness race meeting conducted by it. The State Harness Racing Commission shall by rule provide for enforcement of this section.

Section 2. This act shall take effect immediately.

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to the offering of amendments at this time? Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. M. H. Goldstein, who will explain the second set of amendments.

Mr. M. H. GOLDSTEIN. The import of these amendments is very simple. Many people who favor legalized gambling do not favor establishment of a family night in connection with legalized gambling. These amendments clearly provide, like many other States, that minors cannot attend harness racing events. I certainly hope for support of the majority on this particular amendment, and I ask for a roll call.

The SPEAKER. Does the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Eilberg, desire to be recognized?

Mr. EILBERG. I do.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Eilberg.

Mr. EILBERG. Will the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. M. H. Goldstein, agree to be interrogated?

Mr. M. H. GOLDSTEIN. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. EILBERG. Would you mind reiterating what the effect of these amendments would be?

Mr. M. H. GOLDSTEIN. These amendments, Mr. Speaker, merely state that if you are under twenty-one years of age, you cannot attend a harness racing event. These amendments are in accord with the laws of the State of Florida, which prohibit the attendance of minors at harness racing events. And I am quite certain that many people who attend these events would not want minors either to witness gambling or to be in an area where there is public and open drinking. Therefore, I would solicit your support in connection with these amendments.

Mr. EILBERG. Mr. Speaker, I rise in opposition to these amendments. The law presently provides that minors may not bet at harness racing tracks. The commission, the race track commission, has agreed that minors between the ages of ten and sixteen may attend only if they are accompanied by adults; over sixteen they may attend.

Now, Mr. Speaker, it is our feeling that minors should be able, should be permitted, to visit race tracks because racing is a sport just as football, just as baseball, is a sport. Racing is part of the American heritage. How else will youngsters see and learn the sport? Mr. Speaker, I say that there is nothing wrong with youngsters observing and seeing what races are like. The amendment is unduly harsh; the law is completely effective now in prohibiting betting; the regulations that the racing commission have are very fair. I ask that you vote against the amendments.

Mr. M. H. GOLDSTEIN. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman from Philadelphia consent to be interrogated?

Mr. EILBERG. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. H. M. GOLDSTEIN. Is the gentleman from Philadelphia familiar with the regulations of the Pennsylvania Harness Racing Commission in respect to attendance by minors?

Mr. EILBERG. I believe I am.

Mr. M. H. GOLDSTEIN. Now, for my clarification did you say that minors under the age of sixteen can attend if they are accompanied by an adult. Is that correct?

Mr. EILBERG. That is correct. By a parent or guardian, I should say.

Mr. M. H. GOLDSTEIN. By a parent or another adult. And those between sixteen and twenty-one can attend without any parental control whatsoever, is that correct?

Mr. EILBERG. That is correct. Just as any such minor can attend a baseball or football game.

Mr. M. H. GOLDSTEIN. That is all, thank you.

Mr. Speaker, I shall be brief. One of the problems that we are discussing in America today is juvenile delinquency. Now, if the gentleman from Philadelphia thinks that we are aiding in the abatement of juvenile delinquency by allowing juveniles between sixteen and twenty-one to attend harness racing events, where local gambling is conducted—where the type of people who attend these events—where there is open drinking, then I say that he is on the wrong side of the fence. I ask everybody on both sides of the aisle to vote in favor of these amendments.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Eilberg.

Mr. M. H. GOLDSTEIN. Pardon me, I just want to make one more observation. Mr. Eilberg has stressed the fact that children and young people go to baseball games and to football games. There is no public betting at baseball games and football games, at least in Pittsburgh. I said "public betting."

The SPEAKER. The Chair again recognizes the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Eilberg.

Mr. EILBERG. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. M. H. Goldstein, suggests that there is something awful, something dirty, something malicious about attending a harness race track. I think the gentleman must not have attended many harness racing tracks. You have a very beautiful park; you have a situation which is very well policed and patrolled. When the gentleman talks about juvenile delinquency, certainly he should not talk about juvenile delinquency at the race track.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

So the question was determined in the affirmative and the amendments were agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading as amended?

Mr. FOOR asked unanimous consent to offer amendments at this time.

The SPEAKER. The amendments will be read by the clerk for information.

Amend Title, page 2, fourth to last line of Title, by striking out "authorizing elections to determine" in fourth line, all of last two lines, and inserting: changing provisions relating the privilege of local option in counties.

Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 20), page 6, line 16, by inserting after "question" Therefore the commission may license a racing plant within such county until a majority of the electorate of the county, at a subsequent election, vote against locating a racing plant within the county. Thereafter the authority of the commission to license a racing plant within any county shall be determined by the results of the last preceding election on the question.

Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 20), page 6, line 17, by striking out "four-year" and inserting: ten-year

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to the offering of amendments at this time? Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Bedford, Mr. Foor.

Mr. FOOR. Mr. Speaker, the amendments which I offer would amend section 20. As it now reads, section 20 provides for local option every four years until a county agrees to establish a racing corporation. After that there is no provision for the people to eliminate this corporation. My amendment would merely provide that after harness racing had been established in a county, that the people then would have the opportunity to vote against it if they so desire. We changed the period to read "ten years" instead of "four years." This is in order that once the racing corporation has been established, they would have ten years to protect their investment. Certainly if the county has the right to vote for harness racing, if it becomes bad, they should have the right to vote to eliminate it.

I would like to ask everyone to vote to support these amendments for home rule, and I ask for a roll call vote.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Eilberg.

Mr. EILBERG. Mr. Speaker, I rise to oppose the amendments offered for the reason that a track operation runs somewhere between $12 million and $20 million. It would be extremely unfair to investors of such an enormous amount of money to face the prospect of oblivion after such a relatively short time. Please vote down the amendments.

Mr. FOOR. Mr. Speaker, I purposely changed the time limit to ten years to allow a horse racing corporation to protect their investment. Certainly there is nothing in these amendments that say there must be a referendum in ten years; it is only there to protect the people if the horse racing corporation becomes undesirable. Certainly the opposition to this would not want to deny the people of Pennsylvania, once they have established a horse racing corportion, forever to have to put up with it and never be able to vote on it.

I ask you to vote in favor of the amendments.

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading as amended?

RECONSIDERATION OF VOTE

Mrs. MUNLEY. Mr. Speaker, I move that the vote by which the second set of amendments offered by the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Goldstein, to Senate bill No. 932 were agreed to be reconsidered.

Mr. NEEDHAM. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The SPEAKER. How did the lady from Lackawanna, Mrs. Munley, vote on the amendments to this bill?

Mrs. MUNLEY. Mr. Speaker, I voted with the prevailing side.

The SPEAKER. How did the gentleman from Lackawanna, Mr. Needham vote on the amendments to this bill?

Mr. NEEDHAM. Mr. Speaker, I voted with the prevailing side.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. M. H. GOLDSTEIN. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. M. H. GOLDSTEIN. Can the motion to reconsider be considered on the same legislative day?

The SPEAKER. It can if some sort of business has intervened from the time the original action was taken.

Mr. M. H. GOLDSTEIN. Well, Mr. Speaker, if that be the case, has some sort of business . . .

The SPEAKER. A motion to reconsider any vote must be made on the same day on which the vote to be reconsidered was taken, or within the succeeding five days in which the House was in session.

Mr. M. H. GOLDSTEIN. Did I understand the Speaker to say if some other business intervened, it could be reconsidered the same day?

The SPEAKER. There was another amendment pending considered by the House, and that consideration of the other amendment was business before the House and made the motion to reconsider a perfectly proper parliamentary motion.

Mr. M. H. GOLDSTEIN. Mr. Speaker, I ask for a roll call on the motion to reconsider.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, I yield to the majority leader and then I would like to be recognized.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I yield to the minority leader.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, to the extent that this motion is debatable, this is probably the second time this session—we gave in before, but here is a situation—where we should not reconsider, and those amendments should stay in the bill.

Now this race track is going to be in Philadelphia. You know it is a large city and I am not saying that there is any more juvenile delinquency in that lovely city than there is in any other, but we know that there is plenty of it down there. Here are amendments put in the bill to make sure that minors do not go to race tracks and, as Representative Goldstein pointed out, to frequent the bars and become addicted to gambling on horses in early years. Here is a splendid amendment which everybody in all sincerity wrote into this bill and it certainly should stay there for the good of Pennsylvania, for the good of the sport. I have been in Florida where minors are not allowed to attend the track and they run it pretty well down there and we would run it pretty well in Pennsylvania.

So we are asking everybody to vote "no" on the motion.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Greene, Mr. McCann.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I ask the membership on this side of the House to vote "aye" on the reconsideration.

On the question recurring,

So the question was determined in the affirmative and the motion was agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the second set of amendments offered by Mr. Goldstein?

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, I just wanted to ask for a roll call and for reasons expressed before we ask that the members of the House vote "aye" on the amendments offered by Mr. Goldstein.

The SPEAKER. For what purpose does the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Filo, rise?

Mr. FILO. Mr. Speaker, for the information of the members and for myself, I would like to know and have the amendments read that we are voting on at the present time.

The SPEAKER. The amendments will be read by the clerk in full.

For what purpose does the gentleman from Bedford rise?

MOTION TO ADJOURN

Mr. FOOR. Mr. Speaker, if the Democratic Party in the House is going to play this kind of politics and play politics with the juveniles of our State, I hereby make a motion that this House now be adjourned to reconvene tomorrow morning—

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman yield until the amendments are read? The gentleman certainly is not privileged to discuss them.

Mr. FOOR. Mr. Speaker, is not a motion to adjourn in order at any time?

The SPEAKER. If the Speaker heard him. The Speaker might not be able to hear him.

The clerk will read the amendments.

The amendments were read by the clerk as follows:

Amend Title, page 2, last line of Title by inserting after "years" and prohibiting the attendance at harness horse race meetings by minors and requiring the commission to provide by rule for enforcement of certain provisions of the act

Amend Sec. 1, page 2, line 2 by striking out "and" where it appears the second time

Amend Bill, page 6, by inserting after line 18,

Section 21 Prohibition of Wagering by Certain Officials, Employes and Minors, Prohibition of Attendance by Minors.—No commissioner, secretary, deputy, officer, representative, employe or counsel of the commission shall bet upon the outcome of any harness horse race conducted at a track at which pari-mutuel betting is conducted by any licensee of the commission, and no corporation which is licensed under this act shall permit any person who is actually and apparently under twenty-one years of age to bet at, or attend a harness race meeting conducted by it. The State Harness Racing Commission shall by rule provide for enforcement of this section.

Section 2. This act shall take effect immediately.

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to the offering of amendments at this time? Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

POINT OF ORDER

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Goldstein.

Mr. M. H. GOLDSTEIN. Mr. Speaker, a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. M. H. GOLDSTEIN. I am reading from the Pennsylvania Manual, page 215, the by-line is:

Defeated Cannot Be Offered Again

The point of order was raised that "the amendment is out of order, because it had been offered and voted down when the section was under consideration, decided April 29, 1911.

Now if that be the rule that was voted down, why does not the same principle apply when it was approved? I would like to have a ruling from the Parliamentarian.

And, incidentally, I am asking the gentleman who made the motion to adjourn to withdraw it. We have a lot of important business to consider, and I want this issue to be decided on its merits. I am not interested in any filibustering nor delaying tactics.

RULING BY SPEAKER

The SPEAKER. The Chair will rule in conformity with Mason's Legislative Manual.

An amendment once adopted may not thereafter be changed or modified except by reconsideration of the vote by which it was adopted. When a proposed amendment has been defeated, the same amendment may not be proposed again without first reconsidering the vote by which the amendment lost. It is therefore important that every amendment be in final form before being voted upon.

The Chair thinks that it is very clear that an amendment defeated can be, and, frequently has been, reconsidered. But you cannot offer the same amendment again.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

Amended House Bill returned for concurrence No. 1598.

BILLS ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate bill No. 613, entitled:

An Act amending the act of March 10, 1949 (P. On the question,

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the House give unanimous consent to the offering of amendments at this time? Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, may I explain this to our caucus so they will understand this particular bill? Our calendars are marked to drop this bill. Mr. Speaker, we have been informed that Senate bill No. 613 must be used, and the other items dealing with the extra money on each classroom is being stripped out by these amendments so that we may have a bill to vote on the increase of the school building authority; otherwise, there is no bill at this session increasing the school authority and therefore the projects could not continue for reimbursement. I will ask that the membership agree to the amendments offered by the lady from Northampton, Mrs. Reibman, and that the bills be ordered into print as soon as possible.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

They were agreed to.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading as amended?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, that the bill as amended lie over for printing.

RECONSIDERATION OF VOTE ON SENATE BILL No. 934

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I move that the vote by which this bill was agreed to on third reading as amended be reconsidered.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I move that the vote by which the amendments to Senate bill No. 934 were agreed to on third reading be reconsidered.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, it is my understanding that the bill is in the position of its prior print number now, and Mr. Johnson asks that they have an opportunity to caucus on it in this position.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. You know it is presently on third reading.

Mr. McCANN. In its original print number of 1262. Is that right? Do I have to make any other motion that it lie there until such time as they will caucus and we call up the vote?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. No.

BILL PASSED OVER

There being no objection

Senate bill No. 934, printer's No. 1262,

was passed over temporarily at the request of Mr. A. W. JOHNSON.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the minority leader.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, there is a bill on page 14, Senate bill 639, on which a promise was made that that bill would be called up and we would have the recommittal motion and the prospective amendments by Mr. Prendergast. Time is flying and we would like to have the amendments offered and get that in print so we can act on it tomorrow.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, that is true and I also have two other bills.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Before we get into these concurrences? They can be done tomorrow, I would think. I am not going to make the motion to make this a special order of business, but I certainly would like to. It seems that you could call it up and, if you have any other bills that you would like to amend and get to the printer, we ought to do it forthwith.

Mr McCANN. Mr. Speaker, will you run the three concurrences then and we will proceed to that one?

SENATE MESSAGE

The clerk of the Senate being introduced, returned bill from the House of Representatives numbered and entitled as follows:

HOUSE BILL No. 1487.

L. 1216), entitled "An act to define real estate brokers and real estate salesmen and providing for the licensing regulation and supervision of resident and non-resident real estate brokers and real estate salesmen and their business" changing educational and training requirements for licensure changing the place of hearing specifying the nature and weight to be given to the report of a representative appointed by the commission to hold hearings in connection with any of its disciplinary proceedings and providing for the taking of testimony

With the information that the Senate had passed the same with amendments in which the concurrence of the House of Representatives is requested.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The clerk will read the amendments.

The clerk read the amendments as follows:

Amend Title, page 2, line 1 of Title, by inserting after the word "proceedings" the word "and"; line 2 of Title, by striking out all of said line as follows: "and bringing auctioneers within the provisions of the act"

On the question,

Will the House concur in the amendments made by the Senate?

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I request that the House concur in the amendments made by the Senate.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman from Cameron, Mr. Tompkins, yields to the gentleman from Dauphin, Mr. Bowman.

The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Dauphin, Mr. Bowman.

Mr. BOWMAN. Mr. Speaker, very briefly, there may be some confusion with respect to the Senate amendments to this bill, at least on our side of the House.

As this bill passed the House, auctioneers were included within the provisions of the real estate brokerage license act. The amendment put in by the Senate removes auctioneers from the bill, which means they are not subject to the commission. They made one other provision with respect to the commission being empowered to require by rule and regulation certain additional non-educational, at least non-college, degree requirements.

Gentleman, as you all well know, I am bloody and scarred from this session and I would very much appreciate, in spite of the fact that I have fanned many windmills this session, I would very much appreciate your support in concurring in the amendments to this bill. Thank you very much.

On the question recurring,

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. A parliamentary inquiry. I understand Mr. Fineman wants to make a motion to recommit. Mr. Prendergast has amendments he would like to insert in the bill. Now it is a question of who gets to the microphone first which one of these proceedings will take preference over the other.

Mr. FINEMAN. Mr. Speaker, I think I had the floor first.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The motion to recommit has precedence.

Mr. PRENDERGAST. I yield the floor to Mr. Fineman.

MOTION TO RECOMMIT

Mr. FINEMAN. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be recommitted to the Committee on Judiciary.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Erie, Mr. O'Dell.

Mr. O'DELL. Mr. Speaker, I wish to oppose the motion to recommit. I think it should come up for a vote and I ask all the members to vote against recommittal. I request a roll call.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Farabaugh.

Mr. FARABAUGH. Mr. Speaker, this bill has been on the calendar a good while and I am asking the membership to vote down this motion to recommit so we can amend it and make it acceptable.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Butler, Mr. McCandless.

Mr. McCANDLESS. Mr. Speaker, I just wanted to say that I rise to oppose this motion. I hope that all the members of the House will vote against it. This bill has been on the calendar for a long time and I am telling you this, that this affects agriculture. Agriculture has asked very little in this session and I would like to see something done on this.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Isaacs.

Mr. ISAACS. Mr. Speaker, I am not going to debate the merits of this bill or try to. However, I am going to make a statement and I would like a little latitude in making it.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The motion before the House is to recommit. Remarks will be confined to that motion.

Mr. ISAACS. This statement will be on the motion to recommit, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair will remind the gentleman if he gets off the track.

Mr. ISAACS. Mr. Speaker, I happen to be the only layman on the Committee on Judiciary. The sportsmen in my district want this bill and they want it badly. The bill did not come out of Judiciary Committee. The Chairman of that committee is Mr. Rudisill from York, as fine and honest a gentleman as occupies a seat in this House. I think, and I am sure, had the Judiciary Committee been able to consider this bill and make a report, you would have had a better bill on the floor than is here today.

I am going to vote against the motion to recommit but I do it with reservations, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. For what purpose does the gentleman from Adams, Mr. Worley, rise?

Mr. WORLEY. Mr. Speaker, I am not going to speak on the bill.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. I can assure the gentleman he is not. The motion before the House is to recommit.

Mr. WORLEY. I am going to speak on the history of the present law.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The motion before the House is for the recommittal of the bill.

Mr. WORLEY. Well, I understand the history is something that was relevant here the other day when I objected to the gentleman from Philadelphia. The history is relevant on a motion to recommit and I will ask the gentleman to rule again.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman heard the Chair: The motion before the House is a motion to recommit, and his remarks will be confined to that motion and the reasons for recommittal.

Mr. WORLEY. Mr. Speaker, may I speak against the motion to recommit?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman is in order.

Mr. WORLEY. In relation to that I would like to tell a little story that happened . . .

The SPEAKER pro tempore. There cannot be any connection between a story and a motion to recommit.

Mr. WORLEY. Just about two weeks ago I spoke to the Adams County Federation of Sportsmen.

This is on the motion to recommit and if I am out of order I will appreciate your ruling so.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman will proceed and we will stop him if he gets out of order.

Mr. WORLEY. When I spoke to that group of farmers and sportsmen who were present there one of the group got up and stated this: . . .

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. FINEMAN. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. FINEMAN. The gentleman must confine his remarks to the motion. Any story that might have been told outside of the committee room or reasons affecting the motion are not germane to the subject before the House at this monment.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair has ruled the gentleman must confine his remarks to the motion before the House. The gentleman will have every opportunity to speak on the bill when the bill come up for passage.

Mr. WORLEY. Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

This man in the meeting said . . .

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman is out of order.

For what purpose does the gentleman from Erie, Mr. Schaaf, rise?

Mr. SCHAAF. Mr. Speaker, under the circumstances I feel compelled to move the question, and I ask for the necessary 20 seconds.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair would like to request the gentleman not to make the motion to move the previous question.

Mr. SCHAAF. There will be opportunity to debate the bill if this recommittal motion fails. I do not think it is fair to the rest of us.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman is correct. There will be every opportunity given to debate the bill, and the Chair will insist that the gentleman from Adams confine his remarks to the motion to recommit.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

The yeas and nays were required by Messrs. O'DELL and FINEMAN and were as follows:

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Messrs. PENDERGAST and FARABAUGH asked unanimous consent to offer amendments at this time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The amendments will be read by the clerk for information.

Amend Title, page 1, first line of Title, by striking out "landowner's liability" and inserting: the liability of landowners of agricultural lands or woodlands .

Amend Title, page 1, last two lines of Title, by striking out "or who has entered for his own purposes on"

Amend Sec. 1, page 1, line 1, by inserting after "landowner" of agricultural lands or woodlands.

Amend Sec. 1, page 1, line 3, by striking out "or who has entered for his own purposes on"

Amend Sec 1, page 2, line 2, by striking out "the" and inserting: such.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the House give unanimous consent to the offering of amendments at this time? Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Northampton, Mr. Prendergast.

Mr. PRENDERGAST. Mr. Speaker, the amendments which I have offered I think carry out the intent and purpose of the bill, which is to limit the liability of those owners of agricultural and woodlands that are subjected to people who come on their lands without their leave for the purposes of hunting and fishing. It limits their liability with respect to any negligent action which might occur on their premises except in those cases where the negligence occurs or where the act or omission which occurs is of a willful or malicious nature.

It is my impression, Mr. Speaker, that the members on both sides of the House are almost fully in agreement with these amendments. As a little bypass, or let us say, a footnote, I would like to point out to the Speaker of the House and I refer to the Speaker of the House that these amendments were orginally prepared on June 28th and this particular bill was reported out of committee on June 11. Sometime, perhaps five weeks later, we members of the House were subjected or were the recipients of two issues of "Disspelling the Fog", a very admirable and a very informative piece of journalistic ability. However, in these two particular issues, the Speaker of the House pointed out that this amendment should be introduced to this bill or this bill should be amended with respect to the purpose and intent for which it was orginally introduced in the House. I merely make this for the record to point out to the Speaker that there are members of the House, many of us, to whom these particular amendments occurred on our first reading of the bill the first time it came on the floor of the House. I hope that every member of this House will concur in the amendments and vote in favor of them. Thank you very much.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Does the gentleman desire a roll call on his amendments?

Mr. PRENDERGAST. I desire a roll call, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is the request seconded?

Mr. AUKER. I second the request.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. All the votes recorded on the boards were in favor of the amendments and the machinery in recording the roll call has skipped and failed to properly record. Is the House satisfied to take a voice vote on the adoption of the amendments?

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

The were agreed to.

Ordered, That the bill as amended lie over for printing.

RESOLUTIONS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

By Mr. ADAMS. RESOLUTION No. 106.

In the House of Representatives, August 31, 1961.

Legislative Route No. 06041 between Mertztown and the Berks-Lehigh County line in Longswamp Township, Berks County is badly in need of repair and improvement.

A considerable amount of new home construction in this area has in recent years more than doubled the flow of traffic over this road which was highly inadequate even prior to its increased usage.

The numerous accidents which have occured on this narrow and hazardous highway of slightly over two miles in length attest to the dire need for prompt remedial action; therefore be it

Resolved, That the House of Representatives hereby urges the Pennsylvania Department of Highways to expedite the widening, blacktopping and general improvement of the aforementioned Legislative Route No. 06041 in order to alleviate the extremely hazardous conditions which presently exist and to prevent further accidents; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be transmitted to the Secretary of Highways.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

By Mr. ADAMS. RESOLUTION No. 107.

In the House of Representatives, August 31, 1961.

Probable water well pollution in the Oley Township Area near Pleasantville, Berks County, has the possible danger of illness for the large number of people in the area depending on the wells as the source of water for home consumption; therefore, be it

Resolved, That the Sanitary Water Board in the Department of Health is hereby requested to cause an investigation of the alleged water well pollution in the Oley Township Area near Pleasantville, Berks County, and to take any necessary steps to eradicate the source of any contamination found to exist; and, be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be forwarded to the Sanitary Water Board.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

HOUSE RESOLUTION No. 90

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I call up House Resolution No. 90 on page 17 of today's calendar.

The resolution was read, considered and adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, July 12, 1961.

The interest of the Commonwealth in the welfare of its men and women who served their State and Nation as members of the armed forces is reflected by certain rights and privileges conferred upon these veterans by the General Assembly Some of the statutes date back to the Civil War others are as recent as the present session of the General Assembly Many of the veterans' laws are duplications and some may no longer be necessary Often provisions specifically affecting veterans are contained in general legislation where they are difficult to locate In order to assure that the current laws reflect the continuing interest and gratitude of the citizens of the Commonwealth to those who served their State and Nation when called upon to do so in the past it is essential that the entire area of veterans' laws be examined and studied in order to ascertain which laws should be retained or modified and which should be repealed as duplications therefore be it

Resolved That the Joint State Government Commission study the various laws of the Commonwealth affecting veterans and be it further

Resolved That the Joint State Government Commission be directed to report its findings and recommendations to the 1963 Session of the General Assembly.

HOUSE RESOLUTION No. 101

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I call up House Resolution No. 101 on page 17 of today's calendar.

The resolution was read, considered and adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, August 21, 1961.

The Federal Highway Law presently prohibits the construction or location of commercial establishments or facilities of any nature on the rights-of-way of the Interstate Highway System

The purpose of this prohibition is highly commendable as it is intended to protect the traveling public from dangers and distractions caused by such establishments and also to protect the scenic beauty of the countryside

A minor exception to this provision in the Federal law however appears both desirable and necessary that exception being authorization for the erection at certain intervals of public telephones

The ready availability of public telephones along these highways would make possible the immediate reporting of any accident or other emergency Such telephones would also add greatly to the convenience of travelers and would not be unsightly therefore be it

Resolved (The Senate concurring) That the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania memorialize the Congress of the United States to make necessary amendments to the Federal Highway Law in order to permit the erection of public telephones within the rights-of-way of the Interstate Highway System and be it further

Resolved That copies of this resolution be transmitted to the presiding officers of each house of the Congress of the United States and to each Senator and Representative from Pennsylvania in the Congress of the United States.

SENATE RESOLUTION SERIAL No. 120

In the Senate, May 24, 1961.

Whereas, The American Indian is the original American and has resided on this continent since time immemorial; and

Whereas, He has made an indelible imprint on our national character and culture and history is replete with names and deeds of many outstanding American Indians who have contributed immeasurably to our way of life, our moral standards and our love of nature; and

Whereas, Indian words and water lore, arts and handicraft are basic in the manuals of the Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Camp Fire Girls and the many other American patriotism-building youth groups, while outdoor enthusiasts, young and old, all over the world rely on Indian folkways for guidance and inspiration; and

Whereas, The American Indian has made such other outstanding contributions to our American economy and the cultivation of corn, cotton, tobacco, beans, squash, tomatoes, peanuts, melons, and other vegetables, which have today become basic American industries; and

Whereas, A number of states celebrate "Indian Days" in September when traditional Indian festivals are held in recognition of the contributions the American Indian has made to our national life; and

Whereas, The ancient Pennsylvania American Indian contributed philosophies of confederacy, cooperative democracy and the brotherhood of man, which have been embodied in our modern way of life which makes fitting recognition by our Commonwealth; therefore be it

Resolved (The House of Representatives concurring), That the fourth Saturday in September of every year is designated as Pennsylvania American Indian Day, and the Governor of this Commonwealth is authorized and directed to issue annually a proclamation setting aside that day as a public occasion and inviting the people of the Commonwealth to observe that day with appropriate ceremonies.

On the question,

Will the House adopt the report of the Committee of Conference?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. McCormack.

Mr. McCORMACK. Mr. Speaker, I do not want to upset any timetable now; is there any time involved?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair would advise the gentleman that there is.

Mr. McCORMACK. I wanted to discuss this bill but it—

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair would inform the gentleman that there is a request for a possible caucus, and we would like to return before the end of this legislative day.

Mr. McCORMACK. I will be very brief then, Mr. Speaker.

After reading this conference report I notice there are deletions in this bill of which I seriously question the wisdom. This has to do with the admission of mentally ill persons to hospitals and institutions, and, under the present law, the application is required to be in writing on a form prescribed by the Department of Public Welfare. In addition to the application for admission, Mr. Speaker, there is required to be filled in a physician's certificate under the present law. Under section 312 of the Mental Health Act, the physician who examines this patient to be committed to a mental institution must set forth his residence, his license to practice medicine, that he has been in practice for at least three years and has had at least one year's experience as a medical or an osteopathic physician in an institution, that he is not related by blood or marriage to the patient or applicant, that he is not a member of the fulltime staff of the institution to which the person is to be committed, and that he has examined the patient with care and diligence within a week of making the certificate. Now these are the things that are required to be in the physician's certificate.

I hope somebody is listening to me, Mr. Speaker.

POINT OF ORDER

The SPEAKER pro tempore. For what purpose does the gentleman from Dauphin, Mr. Hocker, rise?

Mr. HOCKER. I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman will state his point of order.

Mr. HOCKER. Mr. Speaker, I have a lot of respect for the gentleman's ability in this field. I am interested and I want to hear it. I would humbly submit to the Chair to keep order in this House while the gentleman is speaking on this highly controversial bill.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman's point is well taken. The sergeant-at-arms will see that all visitors are seated and that no one is permitted to stand in the rear of the House. The members will please extend the courtesy of this House to the speaker.

The gentleman will proceed.

Mr. McCORMACK. Mr. Speaker, the reason I suggest that they listen is that I want to pose several questions at the end of my remarks and I hope they can be answered to my satisfaction.

Mr. Speaker, the present act goes on to require the physician to set forth in his affidavit that his opinion is that the patient is or is thought to be mentally ill, mentally defective, inebriate, epileptic, or in need of and will be benefited by care and the admission applied for. Also, the information relative to the patient given to him by others and the facts as to the physical and mental condition and the behavior of the patient which he has observed and on which he bases his opinion.

All of this information, Mr. Speaker, which must be submitted by affidavit by the examining physician under the act is stricken out, and in lieu thereof this bill says merely, "every application shall be in writing on a form described by the department," and "It shall contain such information as the department may require on the form prescribed by the department." Now, that is in lieu of all the specifications that are under the present Mental Health Act and my question, Mr. Speaker, is this: Does the Department of Public Welfare, at the present time, have a particular form setting forth the prescribed information from the examining physician, or do they have any rules and regulations which would take the place of the detailed information that they are going to delete from the Mental Health Act? I would appreciate it if I could get an answer to that question.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is the gentleman directing his interrogation to any particular person?

Mr. McCORMACK. No, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. May we have a volunteer?

The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Beaver, Mr. Stone.

Mr. McCORMACK. Mr. Stone was on the conference committee, but I understand that these were deletions not made in the conference committee but deletions that were made when we passed this bill and sent it over to the Senate. Is that correct?

Mr. STONE. Mr. Speaker, I hope I can shed some light on this. The gentleman has repeatedly said that he prefers to have time to look over the bill that we are now considering. Mr. Speaker, the conference committee report in essence is the same bill that was introduced on March 8, 1961; it is the same bill that the gentleman voted for on May 2nd of this year, which passed this House by a vote of 184 to 12.

The change was that when it arrived in the Senate, in their wisdom, they saw fit to remove the provision which required that if a patient were to remain in a mental institution beyond a 30-day period that it would have to be court commitment. The conference committee felt that to allow the superintendent to have that kind of power would be possibly opening the door to abuse of discretion, so the committee unanimously reinstated the bill in the form that it passed this House, and that is what is before us right now.

Now to specifically answer the gentleman's question, I would have to assume that the department would have forms prepared that would probably be in more detail, and, when they removed these things that the gentleman mentioned, they would be removing them in order to allow them more latitude.

Mr. McCORMACK. Mr. Speaker, may I interrogate the gentleman from Beaver, Mr. Stone.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the gentleman permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. STONE. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. McCORMACK. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman has the memorandum from the Department of Public Welfare, does he not, that supports this bill?

Mr. STONE. The Department of Public Welfare did not agree with the provisions of the conference committee report. They agreed with the Senate amendments. In other words, they wanted the superintendent to have the power to keep the patient there beyond the 30-day period without a court order. That was where the disagreement was. At no time was there a disagreement over the language the gentleman is calling our attention to now.

Mr. McCORMACK. That was not discussed. Did the gentleman say that I voted for that bill?

Mr. STONE. I think you did.

Mr. McCORMACK. I thought that I did not vote for it. What was the date?

Mr. STONE. March 8th.

Mr. McCORMACK. I am having one of my lieutenants check it.

Mr. Speaker, I do want to ask the gentleman one more question. In this memorandum from the Department of Public Welfare, there is nothing set forth therein pertaining to the information required to be submitted by affidavit by the examining physician, is there?

Mr. STONE. That is correct. The memorandum the gentleman saw had to do with the conference committee only and not the original bill.

Mr. McCORMACK. I see. Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. STONE. Mr. Speaker, if the gentleman from Philadelphia did not vote for this bill on March 8, perhaps he should have; it is a good bill.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Blair, Mr. Auker.

Mr. AUKER. Mr. Speaker, what the gentleman from Beaver has said is true. The reason I voted "no" on this bill on the first round was for the very reasons that the gentleman from Philadelphia brought out. That is the reason I am voting "no" on it again.

On the question recurring,

Will the House adopt the report of the Committee of Conference?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

The SPEAKER pro tempore. For what purpose does the gentleman from Philadelphia rise?

Mr. McCORMICK. Mr. Speaker, if I may at this time, I would like to correct the record on the conference report on House bill 869, by stating for the record that on May 2, 1961, I was one of the 12 persons who voted against House bill 869 and not for it, as the gentleman from Beaver said.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The statement made by the gentleman on personal privilege will be spread upon the record.

Since we are now about to enter into a special order of business that I am sure the Speaker of the House will personally desire to preside over, I am returning the gavel to the Speaker of the House.

The SPEAKER (Hiram G. Andrews) IN THE CHAIR

RESIGNATION OF SECRETARY

The SPEAKER. The Chair has a communication to read, addressed to the Speaker:

Dear Speaker Andrews,

I hereby tender my resignation as Secreary of the House of Representatives, effective today, August 31, 1961.

Sincerely
Philip Lopresti

SPECIAL ORDER OF BUSINESS

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I move that this House make a special order of business in regard to the election of a Secretary of the House of Representatives immediately.

The motion was agreed to.

RESOLUTION

ELECTION OF SECRETARY

Mr. McCANN offered a resolution which was read by the clerk as follows:

In the House of Representatives, August 31, 1961

Resolved, that C. O. Williams of Washington County, be elected Secretary of the House of Representatives.

The SPEAKER. Are there any other nominations? The Chair hears none.

On the question,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

It was adopted.

The SPEAKER. The Chair hereby declares C. O. Williams of Washington County duly elected Secretary of this House of Representatives.

COMMITTEE TO ESCORT SECRETARY

The SPEAKER. The Chair appoints the minority leader, the majority leader and the retiring secretary as a committee to escort the secretary-elect to the bar of the House to take the oath of office.

The committee will proceed immediately in the performance of its duty.

OATH OF OFFICE ADMINISTERED

The oath of office was administered by the Speaker as follows:

Do you, C. O. Williams, solemnly swear that you will support, obey and defend the Constitution of the United States, and the constitution of this Commonwealth, and that you will discharge the duties of your office with fidelity; that you have not paid or contributed, or promised to pay or contribute, either directly or indirectly, any money or other valuable thing to procure your nomination or election, except for necessary and proper expenses expressly authorized by law; that you have not knowingly violated any election law of this Commonwealth, or procured it to be done by others in your behalf; that you will not knowingly receive, directly or indirectly, any money or other valuable thing for the performance of non-performance of any act or duty pertaining to your office, other than the compensation allowed by law? If so, answer, "I do."

Mr. C. O. WILLIAMS. I do.

STATEMENT BY SECRETARY

The SPEAKER. Does the new secretary of the House desire to say a word to the members of House?

The SECRETARY (Mr. C. O. Williams). Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I wish to thank you for your generosity and for the confidence you have placed in me here this evening. I want to assure you that I will be here to perform my duties and during the period that you are in Harrisburg I assure you we will try to make your work more pleasant. I assure you that you will be welcome in our office at any time during the interim period between sessions. I assure you that whatever your wishes might be, if it is within the jurisdiction of my office, I shall do my very best to justify the confidence you have placed in me here this evening. I thank you.

The SPEAKER. I am sure that the House would welcome a word from our retiring secretary.

STATEMENT BY RETIRING SECRETARY

Mr. PHILIP LOPRESTI. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, all I can say is that it has been a joy for me to have been a member associated with this wonderful group and to have been your secretary for this session.

I have had several members approach me and say, we are sorry to see you leave. Well, if I were indeed leaving, I myself would be sorry. But I am not leaving. I am going to continue to serve the members of the House along with the members of the Senate. I hope, I sincerely hope, that the service I will be able to give in the future will be of a little more value than it has in the past. Thank you very much.

STATEMENT BY MAJORITY LEADER

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, at a time like this words fail a person, when you have been extremely close to a friend whom you have enjoyed working with, as I have with the 210 members of this House. Somehow you hate to see this man Phil leave as secretary of this House, for at times when troubles are the greatest his cool judicial temperament always prevailed and always found an answer that was so helpful.

I can never personally repay this man for the help he personally gave to me in 1955, 1957 and 1959. All we can say, and I say this personally, as well as for our entire membership, we wish Phil the best of health, the greatest happiness and the continued success of which he is deserving. We wish we could only say that we here tonight have not lost a friend, but promoted a friend to another one of our legislative commissions. I personally am extremely proud that he was selected as the executive director of the Legislative Budget and Finance Committee, effective September 1st. Good luck Phil, and don't let us down.

STATEMENT BY MINORITY WHIP

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the minority whip.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, nothing that I or the members on this side of the House could say would better demonstrate the affection for this man than the standing ovation which he just received.

It has been my privilege to serve in this House with Mr. Lopresti, the retiring secretary, and with Mr. Williams, the incoming secretary, during the period of time that I have been a member of this House. I have found both of them to be very capable men, honest and dependable. I have served with Phil Lopresti while he was chairman of the Judiciary Committee one session, I have served with him on a number of investigating committees, and I have always found the man to be fair.

We wish him well in his new work, and we like to look upon it as a promotion to a higher position where he can better serve the interests of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Mr. Speaker, may I add, without detracting anything from the secretary-elect, that the members on this side of the House respectfully request that the gentleman, Mr. Lopresti, continue in his secretarial duties until sine die adjournment of this session.

The SPEAKER. He will so do.

Of course, out in Cambria County we are very proud of him.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE OF CONFERENCE ON HOUSE BILL No. 1181

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I call up the report of the Committee of Conference on House bill No. 1181.

The report of the Committee of Conference was read as follows:

To the Members of the Senate and House of Representatives:

We, the undersigned, Committee of Conference on the part of the Senate and House of Representatives for the purpose of considering House bill No. 1181, entitled; "An act creating an Anthracite Mine Law Study Commission for the purpose of making a study and investigation of all laws relating to underground anthracite coal mines and the preparation of a modern code relating thereto."

Respectfully submit the following bill as our report:

MARTIN L. MURRAY,
HUGH J. McMENAMIN,
(Committee on the part of the Senate.)

JAMES MUSTO,
JOSEPH G. WARGO,
(Committee on the part of the House of Representatives)

An Act Creating an Anthracite Mine Law Study Commission for the purpose of making a study and investigation of all laws relating to underground anthracite coal mines and the preparation of a modern code relating thereto

The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania enacts as follows

Section 1 There is hereby created a commission to be known as the "Anthracite Mine Law Study Commission" which shall consist of seven members one of whom shall be the Secretary of Mines and Mineral Industries three of whom shall represent the bargaining agent of the hard coal mining industry and three of whom shall represent the anthracite operators The Governor shall appoint the members representing the operators from a panel of at least five names submitted by the underground anthracite coal mine operators of the Commonwealth The Governor shall appoint the members representing the bargaining agent of the hard coal mining industry from a panel of at leasst five names submitted by the collective bargaining agency for mine employes in the anthracite coal mines of the Commonwealth The members of the commission shall serve without compensation Vacancies occurring in the membership of the commission shall be filled by appointment by the Governor in the same manner as original appointments are made

Section 2 It shall be the duty of the commission to make a complete study and investigation of the existing laws of the Commonwealth relating to underground production and mining of anthracite coal for the purpose of revising codifying and modernizing the laws to the end that miners employed in anthracite coal mines are afforded the greatest degree of protection and safety consistent with modern methods and machinery available in such industry

Section 3 The commission shall require and secure the cooperation of the Department of Mines and Mineral Industries its engineers experts clerks stenographers and other employes as may be deemed necessary to carry out the work of the commission and all State officials who are charged with any duties and responsibilities relating to the administration and enforcement of the existing laws relating to anthracite coal mines

Section 4 The commission shall make a report to the Governor and to the General Assembly during the 1961 session of the General Assembly or during the 1963 session of the General Assembly together with a draft of such proposed legislation as it deems necessary to carry its recommendations into effect The existence of the commission shall terminate upon the making of its report or if no report is made at the final adjournment of the 1963 session of the General Assembly

On the question,

Will the House adopt the report of the Committee of Conference?

The SPEAKER. For what purpose does the gentleman from Schuylkill, Mr. Heffner, rise?

Mr. HEFFNER. Mr. Speaker, I would like to debate the conference report.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman.

Mr. HEFFNER. Mr. Speaker, tonight I rise to oppose the conference report on House bill 1181. I ask the membership of this House to vote against the report.

What this conference report does is briefly this: It restores the bill to the original seven members, three of whom will represent the collective bargaining agent, and with that provision I have no quarrel, and three of whom will represent the operators, but it struck out some very pertinent language which was in the original bill as it passed this House, simply, that one of the three operators would be an operator whose employes are not affiliated with the bargaining agent.

Mr. Speaker, again I say to this House, the omission of this language from this House conference report is unfair, unrealistic, unjust and discriminatory.

This is a study to study the underground mining laws in Pennsylvania, to revise and modify them so we may have a modern anthracite code. This, and let me emphasize this, is to study the underground mining laws of Pennsylvania.

If you will look at the anthracite region today, you will find that 50 percent of the underground mining is done by the big operators, who are well represented in this bill. The other 50 percent is done by small mines, small operators, the little guy, if you please. These small miners, although they mine 50 percent of the underground anthracite coal in Pennsylvania, are not given one representative on this commission. Let us say it a different way: Although the big operators mine only 50 percent of the coal, they are given 100 percent of the representation to make a study of our mining laws in the anthracite region. I ask you, is this fair? Is this just?

All we wanted in a conference report was that one small operator would be placed upon this study commission so the commission could be afforded the views of the small mine operators of Pennsylvania. I do not think that was an unrealistic request, but it was brushed aside in favor of big business, if you please.

Mr. Speaker, I ask the question tonight, why? Why were they denied representation on a mine study commission? I can only arrive at one answer: There is something sinister about the mine study commission that is going to be constituted if this conference report is adopted on this bill. The big business operators will have used this mine study for their own selfish motives, and I predict, that if this House should pass this conference report and it becomes law in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, in 1963 you will find placed on all our desks a new mine code which will be unfair to the small mines in Pennsylvania, a new mine code which I charge will try to legislate these small mines out of business in Pennsylvania. I hope the people who are behind this know what they are doing, because the small mines in Pennsylvania are very important and mighty vital to our economy and the economic life of Schuylkill and Northumberland Counties in Pennsylvania. Any industry which grosses $50 million a year in their business should be taken into consideration, an industry which mines 50 percent of the coal certainly should deserve just one individual on this commission.

Mr. Speaker, I have always tried to vote for legislation which I believed to be fair. I have voted for many issues which were labelled fair education, fair housing and many other "fair" bills. All I ask for tonight is that this General Assembly not lend its hand to built-in discrimination by this piece of legislation. Let us vote for a fair, underground mine committee in Pennsylvania, so that it will bring forth a fair mining code. That is all I ask tonight. I appeal to each and every one of you tonight to exercise your common sense, to exercise your sense of fairness and vote for the little guy in Pennsylvania, the small mine operator, and vote down this unfair conference report.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Luzerne, Mr. Musto.

Mr. MUSTO. Mr. Speaker, I have been a very, very quiet boy the last few years that I have been a member of this House. I find myself in a position tonight of being accused of standing for big business, although, nevertheless, my good friend on the other side of the House does not know that big business for years has been denying me the right to be employed in and around the mines. My good friend on the other side of the House neglected to inform the members of this House that the independent coal operators are reckoned and are responsible to the welfare fund which is the miners pension fund in the anthracite coal region.

I want to appeal to the members of this House in fairness. I am no lover of the members of the United Mine Workers of America in the anthracite coal fields. No, no. I am opposed today and I was opposed 40 years ago to the same leaders of the United Mine Workers of America in Luzerne County in the anthracite coal fields, but tonight I find myself in the position that, lo and behold, we are not going to go back to the dark ages when we must make labor slave without being recognized as a labor union.

I would like to know, and I am not aware, that those independent coal operators are unionized. Do they belong to a union? Do they belong to any union? Now let me be fair to my friends. I am going to ask to concur. I am going to be grateful to everybody, even to people who have been opposed to it. I thank everybody.

On the question recurring,

Will the House adopt the report of the Committee of Conference?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

BIRTHDAY

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Before we reach the hour of midnight, it is the birthday of the gentleman from York, Mr. Gailey.

Will Dr. Dengler take the microphone?

Mr. DENGLER. I think it would be a very nice break if we sang lustily "Happy birthday, dear Jack."

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from York, Mr. Gailey.

Mr. GAILEY. Mr. Speaker, I want to thank the members of the House, of course, for the melodious greetings. In my years up here, may I say, this is the first time it has ever been the dubious privilege of the House to serenade me on my birthday. In deference to the length of the session, let us hope from the standpoint of future years, it is the last time they have a chance to serenade me on my birthday.

ADJOURNMENT

Mr McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I move that this House do now adjourn until Friday, September 1, 1961 at 12:01 a. m. e. s. t.

The motion was agreed to, and (at 11:58 p.m., e. s. t.) the House adjourned.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. JACK P. WISE, Assistant Pastor of Market Square Presbyterian Church, Harrisburg, offered the following prayer:

Let us pray.

O Thou Who art the Lord and Father of us all, we know that some things done here in this Session of the Legislature have grieved Thee, but that many things have pleased Thee. We humbly seek Thy forgiveness for those times we have dismissed the implications of our faith from our political actions and, in so doing, have failed Thee.

We thank Thee that when we have turned to Thee, Thou hast always been there. We thank Thee for the natural abilities and strengths that Thou hast granted to each Senator, and for the guidance Thou hast granted them in the use of these God-given talents.

We would thank Thee for the comradeship of this Senate, for the good will among men who differ, for the faithful service of the employees of this Body, and for all that has made this an important Session.

As we approach the Close of this Session, we would seek Thy guidance and blessing on our final actions.

We pray in Jesus' name, Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED

The PRESIDING OFFICER. A quorum of the Senate being present, the Clerk will read the Journal of the preceding session.

RECESS

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I now request a recess of the Senate for an hour and thirty minutes, during which time the desk can remain open.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Are there any objections? The Chair hears no objection, and declares a recess of the senate until 2:00 a. m., Eastern Standard Time.

AFTER RECESS

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The time of recess having elapsed, the Senate will be in order.

HOUSE MESSAGES

HOUSE ADOPTS REPORTS OF COMMITTEE OF CONFERENCE

The Clerk of the House of Representatives being introduced, informed the Senate that the House has adopted Reports of Committees of Conference on HB 67, 775, 781, 785, 787, 869, 1227 and 1335, which were laid on the table.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE OF CONFERENCE ON HB 67 TAKEN FROM THE TABLE

Without objection, Mr. WEINER called from the table Report of Committee of Conference on HB 67 and received unanimous consent for its immediate consideration.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE OF CONFERENCE ADOPTED

HB 67 (Pr. No. 2724)—Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I move that the Senate adopt the Report of Committee of Conference on House Bill No. 67, entitled:

An Act to protect the public safety by regulating the mining of anthracite coal; prescribing duties for certain municipal officers and imposing penalties.

Mr. McMENAMIN. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. McMENAMIN. Mr. President, the hour is a little bit late, but I would like to say a few words about House Bill No. 67. This bill, I think, has a storied history. I will be very, very brief because of the hour and the circumstances under which we are trying to close this Session of the Legislature.

This bill is a substantial re-enactment of an Act of the 1921 Session of the Legislature, which was fought through the courts all the way to the United States Supreme Court, and there declared unconstitutional.

We believe that today the climate of the judiciary in America is such that the bill is presently constitutional. This bill was declared constitutional by the Pennsylvania Supreme Court in 1922.

I would urge my fellow Senators to vote for the enactment of this measure. I am certain, since this bill was first passed in the 1921 Session of the Legislature, that many orators have come down here from the anthracite coal regions who have been much more eloquent than I could ever be.

This bill, in effect, gives the right to property owners to sue, for damages, owners or operators of coal mines who, by reason of negligent mining, damage property on the surface.

Mr. President and fellow Senators, this is a real problem in the anthracite coal counties. All of us know that many people during their lifetime, if they can achieve the goal of owning their own homes, feel they have had a very, very successful life. However, too many times, because of negligent or illegal coal mining in the hard coal fields, little home owners have had their life savings, which are represented by the home they own, wiped out. For more than a generation, the property owners in the hard coal fields of Pennsylvania have been trying to get the right to sue for damages, if they can prove their case, against the coal companies or the coal operators who have caused the damage. This bill will be of very great benefit to the people of the hard coal counties.

I would urge at this moment that the Conference Committee Report on House Bill No. 67 be accepted.

Mr. WARE. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Lackawanna, Senator McMenamin.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Will the gentleman from Lackawanna, Mr. McMenamin, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. McMENAMIN. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. WARE. Senator, is my impression correct that the present bill incorporates in it a reference to the object of safety?

Mr. McMENAMIN. I did not hear you, Senator Ware.

Mr. WARE. The present bill, if my understanding is correct, incorporates in it the safety feature which was not a part of the 1921 Act.

Mr. McMENAMIN. Senator Ware, I believe that is correct. I searched in the Senate Library earlier tonight and I was not able to find—which I thought I could find quickly—the 1921 Act. However, it is my general understanding that this present bill has a safety feature which was not in the earlier Act.

Mr. WARE. Being a lawyer, then that would or would not strengthen the position of the bill in the event it is taken into court as to constitutionality?

Mr. McMENAMIN. Senator Ware, I think you are correct; it would. Let me say again that the Pennsylvania Supreme Court did declare it constitutional the first time, and the United States Supreme Court was the court which declared it unconstitutional but not on that ground exactly.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

BILL DROPPED FROM CALENDAR

SB 761 (Pr. No. 1283)—Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I move that Senate Bill No. 761 be dropped from the Calendar.

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. HAYS. Mr. President and Members of the Senate, in 1959, I took an oath of office to carry out the Constitution of Pennsylvania. I deeply regret that this Session is going to close without giving me an opportunity to vote on a Senate reapportionment bill.

Mr. SESLER. Mr. President, for the same reason and many other reasons, I oppose this motion and ask for a roll call.

Mr. EHRGOOD. Mr. President, I deeply regret that I am not able to vote for a Senate reapportionment bill either.

It is too bad that time has gone by and here we are in the last day of the Session. Under this bill, Lebanon and some other nice county are to be combined. Senate Bill No. 761 is just not quite the right bill. I am thinking about another bill.

Mr. STAISEY. Mr. President, I join with my colleague, Senator Hays, in the sentiments he has expressed. The oath he took in 1959, I took in 1961. I will insist and work for reapportionment so long as thirty-five per cent of the people of this Commonwealth elect more than fifty per cent of the Senators.

Mr. MULLIN. Mr. President, I am voting against this motion for the reasons given by the other Senators who are opposed to it.

Mr. BELL. Mr. President, I am voting for this motion because—although Delaware County has had the bad features taken out—the bill, as a whole, is a very bad bill.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, I came into this late, and just heard the discussion. I am not taking any stand on whatever action is being contemplated. However, I would say that this bill has been a fair bill. It is a bill which was drawn so that it would get the desired equality of representation.

From that point of view, it seemed to me it was a worth-while bill. It should have been given consideration and it should have been brought to a vote in the Senate.

I regret very much that due to the bill being put over constantly, it was not brought up. I realize now, however, that there is no opportunity and, as far as I am concerned, I, personally, have no objection to whatever action is taken on it.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I think the remarks that the gentlemen have made and will make, apparently, in regard to this bill will be found in the record of previous days' business.

I am not making any further statement, except to observe that it is rather late in the Session to wait until the last day of the Session. The bill cannot pass anyway. I suggest that my motion be put to a vote.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I think this is a very bad bill and I think it should be defeated.

Mr. STAISEY. Mr. President, I should merely like to make the observation that this may, to some, be a good bill and to others it may be a bad bill. However, to the credit of Senator Seyler, he is the only person who presented a bill.

Mr. STROUP. Mr. President, just briefly the question is purely academic at this stage of the game, first of all. Secondly, anything as important as Senatorial reapportionment should have more deliberation than has been accorded to this bill. I understand there is a committee which could have considered this, and that the committee was never called together in order to make any final deliberations or any deliberations whatsoever on this bill.

Consequently, it has not received due course process here in the Senate. To act upon the bill is really a matter that is entirely beyond the proportions of this Body.

Until a serious job has been done and a serious study has been made, and others have been called into conference on it, certainly we should not act.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, I do not know if I correctly understood the gentleman. I think he said that the committee was never called together and somehow the bill was moved to the floor illegally. If he has said that,—I hope he has not—I would like to state that this is categorically not true.

The committee had a duly constituted meeting. The meeting was announced, Members attended the meeting, and it was brought out of committee by a majority vote. There was nothing at all irregular about its progress. The statement is just not correct.

Mr. STROUP. Mr. President, in reply to Senator Seyler, I would say that what I have to say and what I have said is hearsay only. However, I understood that the two Members on the Republican side of this Chamber, who were delegated to consider this matter, never had any opportunity to consider it. I believe those two Members did not look into this matter. Am I correct, Senator Seyler?

Mr. SEYLER. I did not understand your statement, Senator.

Mr. STROUP. Am I correct that there were two Members on this side of the Chamber who were to look into the matter of Senatorial reapportionment and were to be consulted on it?

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, I cannot answer this. I can only say that the duly authorized committee of this Senate, appointed by the President pro tempore, met at the call of the Chairman at a duly announced meeting, which was announced a day ahead of the meeting. The Members of both parties attended the meeting of the committee. It was that committee which, by a majority vote, brought out this bill.

This is the regular procedure, Senator, as I understand it. Any other arrangements, I know nothing about. I am just telling you that it operated in the way that a committee is supposed to operate under the rules.

Mr. STROUP. Mr. President, I stand corrected by Senator Seyler. My information, apparently, is incorrect. I apologize to the Senator if I called him to task for it.

Mr. SESLER. Mr. President, I previously requested a roll call on this motion.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, let us proceed with the business of the Senate, and vote on this bill one way or the other.

I think the bill was arbitrarily and capriciously handled. I am not in favor of it. However, I will be in favor of legislation that is in proper form. I am not in favor of this type of legislation. Let us vote "yes" or "no."

Mr. SESLER. Mr. President, in view of the lateness of the hour, I will withdraw my request for a roll call.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

A voice vote having been taken, the question was determined in the affirmative and the bill was dropped from the Calendar.

REASONS FOR VOTE

Mr. STAISEY. Mr. President, I should like to have the record show that I voted "no." I will continue to vote "no" so long as I represent a District of 416,000 people, while other Senators only have 108,000 people to represent.

Mr. SESLER. Mr. President, I would like the record to show that I voted "no" as long as we have Districts ranging from 53,000 to 550,000.

Mr. MULLIN. Mr. President, I represent 523,000 people and it is too much. I want to be recorded as voting "no."

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I am sorry the gentlemen are compelled to represent those Districts.

Mr. STAISEY. Mr. President, I appreciate the comments of the very distinguished Minority Leader. However, after eight months here, I find that one Senator can only do so much and there is so much to be done for 416,000 good people.

BILLS ON THIRD READING, DEFEATED ON FINAL PASSAGE

HB 1019 (Pr. No. 1239)—Read at length the third time and agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. BELL. Mr. President, I would like to make a very brief statement as to why I am going to vote "no" on this bill.

Mr. President, this bill would invalidate the present borough, township and city ordinances that prohibit gunning within their limits. Therefore, I am going to vote "no" on the bill.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

(During the calling of the roll, the following occurred:)

Mr. VAN SANT. Mr. President, having relied upon the information supplied by the Senator from Chester County, which was very misleading, I would like to change my vote from "aye" to "no." I might say the same for my colleague from Northampton County, Senator Rooney.

We hope that in the future, the Senator from Chester County will swim in the Conewingo Dam, even though he never swam before in his life.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Senator Rooney, do you desire to change your vote?

Mr. ROONEY. Mr. President, my spokesman has spoken.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, it appears that someone laid an egg here and brought forth a turkey.

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

HB 1463 (Pr. No. 1796)—Read at length the third time and agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. SESLER. Mr. President, just for the record, and I think I speak for a number of the other Senators, we are not against the intent of this bill. We are simply against the extremely inartful language—as the court would say—which would breed, I am sure, a great deal of litigation.

We hope that in future Sessions, this provision will come to our attention again.

Mr. McMENAMIN. Mr. President, I am reliably informed that the distinguished Senator from Northampton County, Senator Rooney, has an announcement of interest to make.

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. ROONEY, Mr. President, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The gentleman from Northampton, Mr. Rooney, will state it.

Mr. ROONEY. Mr. President, the hour has now reached

4:40 a.m., according to my watch. That is Eastern Daylight Time.

As I stated last night, I am going to dedicate another road in Northampton County. Radar came into effect at 12:01 a.m. I do not want to break any laws and I, at this time, beg the Members of the Senate to excuse me.

I ask the Members of the Senate, on their way to their homes tomorrow, to take it easy. Radar is in effect and I hope they will all drive safely.

I want to take this opportunity to especially thank Senator Wade for all of the cooperation he has given me, as Chairman of the Senate Highways Committee. I thank the Members of the Senate who helped bring radar into effect. I have every reason to believe that highway carnage will be greatly reduced in Pennsylvania.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. There being no objection, the gentleman from Northampton, Senator Rooney, is excused.

Mr. VAN SANT. Mr. President, I am sorely disappointed. After all of this time here in Harrisburg on his many activities,—especially as Chairman of the Highways Committee—I certainly thought that Senator Rooney was about to announce that he was going to get married.

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, I would like to say to Senator Rooney that I very much appreciated his expression of cooperation. I would like to also say to him that I believe that he served very well and ably as Chairman of the Highways Committee of the Senate.

Mr. Berger. Mr. President, we will deeply regret that Senator Rooney will not be able to be with us at the termination of the Senate Session and the General Assembly of 1961 later in the day. We can only say to him: "May your shears snip sharply."

Mr. SESLER. Mr. President, I do not see what dedicating a new road has to do with leaving the Senate at at 4:40 in the morning.

HOUSE MESSAGE

HOUSE ADOPTS REPORT OF COMMITTEE OF CONFERENCE

The Clerk of the House of Representatives being introduced, informed the Senate that the House has adopted Report of Committee of Conference on HB 1181, which was laid on the table.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE OF CONFERENCE ON HB 1181 TAKEN FROM THE TABLE

Without objection, Mr. WEINER called from the table Report of Committee of Conference on HB 1181, and received unanimous consent for its immediate consideration.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE OF CONFERENCE ADOPTED

HB 1181 (Pr. No. 2732)—Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I move that the Senate adopt the Report of Committee of Conference on House Bill No. 1181, entitled:

An Act creating an Anthracite Mine Law Study Commisison for the purpose of making a study and investigation of all laws relating to underground anthracite coal mines and the preparation of a modern code relating thereto.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. WAGNER. Mr. President, I would like the Members of the Senate to know for their own guidance—and to make whatever determinations they wish—a little something of the history of this bill.

This is a measure that provides for a commission to study and recodify the anthracite mining laws. It was a good bill when it came over from the House. However, I was disturbed by the fact that it made no provision whatever for the representation of the small mine operators, who mine at least fifty per cent of the coal in my District and are short 100 per cent of any representation on this important commission.

Because the Members of the Senate on both sides seemed to see the logic of my suggestion, I amended the bill to provide for one operator of these small mines to be represented, along with the operators of the big mines. The bill went back to the House, with the amendment.

After we had made a compromise over here, Senator Weiner and I inserted a second amendment, which would enlarge the membership of the commission so that one additional representative could represent these small independent operations. The House disagreed with the amendment, and the bill went to a Conference Committee.

I am rather disappointed in the fact that I was never notified when the Conference Committee was going to meet, was never given an opportunity to re-establish my position, but was asked to sign the Conference Report, which was the first I knew about it and which I naturally refused to do.

I think, Mr. President, that the treatment was shabby; not the treatment of myself and certainly not of the Senate, but of the segment of this great industry that needs representation and its entitled to it. So far as I am concerned, because of the history of this and the absolute refusal for anybody to budge an inch in the interest of democratic representation of a cross-section of industry, I, personally, want to be recorded as voting "no" on this Conference Report.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman will be so recorded.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

THIRD READING CALENDAR

HB 773 CALLED UP

HB 773 (Pr. No. 2746)—Without objection, the bill, which previously went over in its order temporarily, was called up from page 5 of the Third Reading Calendar by Mr. WEINER.

BILL ON THIRD READING AMENDED

HB 773 (Pr. No. 2746)—Read at length the third time,

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. WEINER, by unanimous consent, offered the following amendments:

> Amend Sec. 1, page 2, lines 7 to 9 by striking out all of lines 7 and 8 and "SIXTY DOLLARS ($18,507,760)" in line 9 and inserting: eighteen million five hundred seventeen thousand seven hundred sixty ($18,517,760)
> Amend Sec. 1, page 5, by inserting after line 18:
> (10) For the use of the School of Forestry for the purpose of conducting research on diseases of maple trees in Pennsylvania the sum of ten thousand dollars ($10,000)

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendments?

Mr. STROUP. Mr. President, the maple blight disease is threatening the maple forests and the maple groves throughout the Commonwealth. As a consequence of this particular threat and the lack of knowledge as to the cause of it, there is a necessity to study this particular blight.

House Bill No. 1575 passed the House of Representatives by a vote of 199-0, appropriating $10,000 to the Department of Forestry at Pennsylvania State University to try to analyze the cause and prepare recommendations that may stop the spread of this dastardly disease across the maple groves and through the maple forests.

This study concerns, particularly, Somerset County and Bedford County, which have a very large maple sugar industry. Since House Bill No. 1575 arrived in the Senate too late to enable us to have it passed, these amendments have been offered to House Bill No. 773.

Mr. President, I would like to express my deep appreciation, on behalf of thousands of our citizens, to Senator McGinnis, Senator Stiefel and Senator DiSilvestro for their cooperation in bringing House Bill No. 1575 out of the Appropriations Committee, and to further express appreciation to Senator Weiner, Senator Berger and Mark Gruell for helping us to get these amendments in House Bill No. 773 so that the same can be amended and sent to the House for concurrence. This shows the splendid cooperation that comes out of this particular Chamber when such a matter occurs which is of vital necessity to many of our citizens and to our industry. I thank the gentlemen and I thank the Senate for its excellent cooperation.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, more particularly, I think the thanks ought to go to Mark Gruell, who really did the grueling work in getting these amendments together and getting them here at this time.

The PRESIDENT. He is really not listening, Senator Weiner. Were you listening, Mr. Gruell? The Chair is sorry there are not more Senators present to really applaud him. He has done a terrific job.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the amendments?

They were agreed to.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading, as amended?

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I request that the bill, as amended, be laid on the table.

The PRESIDENT. The bill, on third reading, as amended, will be laid on the table.

CLOSING REMARKS

Mr. STAISEY. Mr. President, I have been authorized, on behalf of the freshmen Senators on the Democratic side of the aisle, to make this expression of our thanks to the Lieutenant Governor for the many courtesies that he has extended to us, to the Majority Leader and the Majority Whip for the help and assistance they have given us, and also to the very fine Minority Leader and Minority Whip for being very easy on us.

We also, Mr. President, want to thank the Pages and the various functionaries here in the Senate for being so helpful in teaching us the process that is so essential in the conduct of this august Body.

Mr. President, we also want to thank the Members of the press who have been so fair in their treatment of us, in allowing our constituents to know what our efforts have been, and always resolving any close question in our favor.

For these things, Mr. President, we are deeply appreciative. After this Session's experience, we trust that come the next Session, we will be veterans and take our places with the other Members of the Senate, who have served very much as our mentors and our teachers.

Mr. BELL. Mr. President, I have been authorized by the freshmen Senators on the Minority side to join with the expression of the freshmen Senators on the Majority side.

We also appreciate everything that has been done. We have had a wonderful President pro tempore. We appreciate our own leadership and the leadership of the Majority Party. I think we have had a terrific experience during this Session.

This last twenty-four hour period has been one of stress and strain. However, I think the Senate of Pennsylvania has done magnificiently during the entire Session, especially during the past week.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, on behalf of the Caucus Officers of the Democratic Caucus, and I am sure this is true of the gentlemen on the other side—all of the things that the Legislature did, both partisan and nonpartisan, were only possible because of the cooperation that we received not only from the Membership, but from the ladies and gentlemen who sit in the front of the Senate, who do their jobs quietly, who never get a chance to make a speech, who never get into the Journal or the record, and who just continue to do the everyday, mundane tasks that nobody knows about or sees, but which the people in the leadership appreciate.

For myself, I want to say that some of the things we have accomplished here—and I am sure they are many—were not accomplished by me, personally, but by the people all working together in harmony on both sides of the aisle. That is how anything is accomplished in any organization of any group. No one man does it. No one person carries the ball or the program. It is done by a group of people, all moving in the same direction at the same time toward a common goal.

For my small part that I played, and it was very small—I just want to say thank you to everybody for the cooperation they gave me during the Session.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Does Senator Berger care to be recognized to add to the atmosphere and the mood now prevailing?

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I most certainly do. I would like to incorporate in my remarks all of the things that have been said by the previous speakers.

I certainly appreciate the consideration given to me by the Senators on both sides, by the President of the Senate, our Lieutenant Governor, by the President pro tempore of the Senate, and by those very capable Senators who have presided over this Body in the absence of the Lieutenant Governor.

Particularly, I want to express my appreciation to the Majority Leader and thank him for his consideration and cooperation throughout the days of this Session, and to extend the same to his Caucus Officers.

Certainly, Mr. President, we could not get along without the fine work that is done by the Officers, both elected and appointed, sitting at the front of the Senate, and the young ladies who, whenever we say anything, have to go to work and who are meticulous and careful in taking down our every remark.

So, Mr. President, as we end this Session of 1961, I want to thank all of my colleagues in the Senate, and all of the people who have worked so hard during this—what I consider a very, very difficult—Session.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. On behalf of the Lieutenant Governor and the occasional occupants of the Chair, of the Officers of the Senate and of the employees, who have all done a fine job, I thank the various gentlemen who have expressed their kind sentiments, and agree that this seems to be a fine spirit in which to end this Session of the Senate.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I would like at this time to express my thanks for the cooperation which was given our side by both the senior Members of the Senate and the freshmen, who have indicated to all of us that they are very able. I anticipate that in the years to come, they will be more experienced and I am quite sure they are going to do a splendid job.

The thought that enters my mind as we close this Session is that this has been a wonderful Session and, at the same time, quite difficult. The Majority Party and the Minority Party were evenly represented and there were quite a number of expressions of opinion, which I feel is good. I think it brings about good government.

The legislation that we have resolved to pass here has been considered seriously by the Membership on both sides of the Senate. That, in itself, is an indication that this Senate of Pennsylvania has done a wonderful job.

In closing, I would like to recite a portion of a poem, which I have repeated over and over again in my times of confusion and frustration. I am directing this not only to the junior Members of the Senate, but the seniors, too.

It is as follows:

"Success"

"It is found on the soul of you and not in the realm of luck;
The world will furnish the work to do, but you must furnish the pluck.
"You can do anything you think you can. It all depends on how you view it;
So when you have convinced yourself, go ahead and do it."

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The songbird of the Senate being absent, we have nothing to top Senator Lane's recitation.

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative and the report of the Committee of Conference was adopted.

Ordered that the clerk inform the Senate accordingly.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, at this time we will work very carefully and each person mark his or her calendar as we go. This is the same calendar you will work with now for the final session we are in. I ask again that we check everything out very carefully.

Mr. Speaker, I believe that this brings us up to the present date, except that I would like to know if the chief clerk can give me some information for the entire House as to any printing reports that he has from the printer as of this hour.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. We are unable to give the majority leader at this time any report as to the length of time it will take for the printing. The Chair would like to suggest that perhaps if we have some votes that we can take at the moment, we would then have our caucuses and come back and get a late report as to what the printing situation is. The Chair would also like to clear the table before we recess.

DEMOCRATIC CAUCUS

Mr. McCANN. I am going to ask that this House recess for a period of one hour. The membership on the Democratic side will proceed to the new House caucus room to immediately caucus on the bills in the front of the calendar that moved to third reading, which are here in print to this hour. Then we come here and vote those bills and the amendments battle that we would have on the various bills which would certainly place us in a good position for the printer for a matter of a couple hours.

REPUBLICAN CAUCUS

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, we will also caucus during the same period. Bring your calendars to the caucus room immediately so we can get on to the business of the day.

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, that the clerk return the same to the Senate with information that the House of Representatives has passed the same without amendment.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate bill No. 651, entitled:

An Act to empower cities of the second class second class A and third class boroughs incorporated towns townships of the first and second class and counties of the third through eighth class individually or jointly to plan their development and to govern the same by zoning subdivision and land development ordinances and other ordinances by official maps by reservation of certain land for future public purpose and by the acquisition of such land providing for the establishment of planning commissions planning departments and zoning hearing boards authorizing them to charge fees make inspections and hold public hearings providing for appropriations appeals to court and penalties for violations and repealing acts and parts of acts.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Dauphin, Mr. Bowman.

Mr. BOWMAN. Mr. Speaker, I did not hear the printer's number announced and I am not aware of its being in print.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, Senate bill No. 651, printer's No. 1296, was delivered about, roughly, around 11 o'clock to your desks. The new printer's number is 1296.

Mr. BOWMAN. I thank the Speaker.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Elk, Mr. Renwick.

BILL RECOMMITTED

Mr. RENWICK. Mr. Speaker, I move that Senate bill 651, printer's No. 1296, be recommitted to the Committee on State Government for further study.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I rise to oppose the motion to recommit Senate bill 651, printer's 1296, and I ask that the members oppose the recommittal so that the bill may be debated and voted on.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the minority leader.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, I would be inclined to support the motion to recommit. I understand that earlier we thought the municipalities, and so forth, around the State were for this bill. I understand now they are not for the bill in its present form and it would probably be the wiser thing to now recommit it.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from York, Mr. Gailey.

Mr. GAILEY. Mr. Speaker, at this hour I certainly do not want to prolong the discussion, but I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Elk very briefly.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Elk, Mr. Renwick, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. RENWICK. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. GAILEY. Mr. Speaker, am I correct in surmising that the gentleman from Elk wishes to recommit this bill because he feels that it has not received sufficient study?

Mr. RENWICK. That is right.

Mr. GAILEY. I thank the gentleman.

Mr. Speaker, I would like to make a brief statement in opposition to the motion to recommit.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman is in order.

Mr. GAILEY. Mr. Speaker, I cannot agree with the gentleman when he says that the bill has not received sufficient study. I think the members who are familiar with the work in this area know very well that this code has been studied exhaustively over a period of several years. More specifically, the material in this particular bill, I know for a fact in my county of York, has been worked on intensively for the last several months.

Now, Mr. Speaker, this bill has been amended to make it a "may" bill. There is no compulsion whatsoever on local municipalities or counties to use this method. It says they may use it. Mr. Speaker, this bill has indeed received sufficient study and I would ask that the members give those of us from counties that would like to be able to use this method at least the opportunity of voting on the merits of the bill.

I ask, therefore, that the membership oppose the motion to recommit.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Blair, Mr. Auker.

Mr. AUKER. Mr. Speaker, I rise to support this motion. Here is a bill of 70 pages reported out in the last days of this session. I am sincere in saying that I try to read as much as possible every bill on the calendar, but I have not had a chance to read this bill in these closing days. There may be things in here that would vitally affect local municipalities. There may be jokers in this bill for all I know. I honestly cannot support a bill of this size, receiving as little consideration as it is possible to give a bill of this size at this late hour.

I think it is legislation at its worst, to try to pass a bill of this size at this late hour when it could have so many possible repercussions on local municipalities.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Filo.

Mr. FILO. Mr. Speaker, I wish to express the same sentiments as the gentleman from Blair just expressed. I want to tell the members of the House that the boroughs' associations of second class townships is against this legislation. As Mr. Auker stated, this is a bill with many pages, 76, 77, 78 pages. There have been amendments made to it, and I do not think anybody in this House could explain the bill. Therefore, I second the motion to recommit the bill.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Elk, Mr. Renwick.

Mr. RENWICK. Very briefly, I would like to answer the gentleman from York, Mr. Gailey. There is probably a number of people who have studied it, as he said, but I do not think the legislature or any members of the legislature, have studied it. Therefore, I ask you to recommit the bill.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Luzerne, Mr. Curwood.

Mr. CURWOOD. Mr. Speaker, I cannot stand here and say that I know too much about this bill, but in Luzerne County we have a board that has been working on these projects and I had a call yesterday to support this bill. I think while we fellows are out here maybe we do not know what is going on back home, but it is about time we find out what is going on back home. I object to the motion to recommit this bill.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. May we have a roll call, Mr. Speaker?

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

The yeas and nays were required by Messrs. A. W. JOHNSON and RENWICK and were as follows:

BILL PASSED OVER

There being no objection

Senate bill No. 758, printer's No. 1251,

was passed over at the request of Mr. McCANN.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate bill No. 787, entitled:

An Act providing for the acquisition by the Department of Forests and Waters of the Kinzua Bridge and certain adjoining grounds for a State park.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

MOTION TO RECOMMIT

Mr. ROVANSEK. Mr. Speaker, I move that Senate bill 787, printer's No. 943, be recommitted to the Committee on Rules for further study.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, I have been here for 16 years and I have striven to help my people of McKean County by reason of my being here. Today we passed a pork bill, the GSA bill, House bill 1335, with many new projects in it, and, as floor leader, I could have really upset the apple cart on that bill. All this bill does is authorize the Department of Forests and Waters, if in their opinion, they deem it advisable, to buy Kinzua Bridge in my county, one of the greatest tourist attractions in Pennsylvania. There is no money in the bill; I am asking every member in this House to vote down this motion to recommit.

MOTION WITHDRAWN

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Cambria.

Mr. ROVANSEK. Mr. Speaker, I withdraw my motion to recommit Senate bill 787.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the majority leader.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I ask the membership to vote "aye" on Senate 787 in support of the statement made on the floor.

The SPEAKER. For what purpose does the gentleman from Erie, Mr. Schaaf, rise?

Mr. SCHAAF. In this brief period, Mr. Speaker, I just want to take the opportunity to tell the gentleman from McKean, Mr. Johnson, that we are going to use every effort possible to paint the minority caucus rooms for them in 1963, so they are no longer drab.

The SPEAKER. For what purpose does the gentleman from Cameron rise?

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, in that connection, I think, perhaps, they will be painted for the benefit of the now majority in this House.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

Mr. HELM IN THE CHAIR

BILL ON FINAL PASSAGE

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on final passage of Senate bill No. 934, entitled:

An Act amending the act of March 10, 1949 (P. L. 30), entitled "Public School Code of 1949" further providing for school nurse services and changing reimbursement provisions with respect thereto.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

AMENDMENTS WITHDRAWN

Mr. McCANN. So the record will show, I ask the consent of the House to withdraw the amendments and that the bill be voted upon in its present form under printer's No. 1262.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman has withdrawn his amendments that had previously been offered to this bill.

On the question recurring.

Shall the bill pass finally?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Does the gentleman from Washington, Mr. Capano, desire recognition? Does the gentleman desire to debate the bill? The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Washington, Mr. Capano.

Mr. CAPANO. I did intend to speak on this bill, however, since it is so late I would like to insert my remarks in the journal and ask that they be spread upon the record.

Mr. CAPANO filed the following statement for the record:

Mr. Speaker and members of the House:

I desire to give the members of the House a brief explanation of the purposes and intent of Senate bill No. 934.

The School Health Services Act had its beginnings during the administration of Governor Martin when a so-called "School Health Act" (1945, June 1, P. L. 1222) became law. There was concern at the time that health measures respecting children in the Commonwealth were inadequate, and this was showing up in persons who were physically defective for purposes of the draft. Of course, it was not contemplated that some children should have the indicated health checks and that others need not. So the act pointedly stated that it was applicable to "every child attending, or who should attend an elementary, grade, or high school, either public or private, within the Commonwealth." The definition of "children of school age" was therefore most carefully framed so as not to be restricted to public school children.

This policy for all children thus became the considered and enacted public policy of the Commonwealth. No constitutional issue was raised then. No constitutional question was raised when, in 1949, the act was revised, with the same definition "children of school age." No question of constitutionality was raised when, in 1957, the act in its present form was adopted.

Nursing services were included in the 1945 act. That act provided also that medical and dental services should be provided. The Department of Health was assigned to reimburse school districts for all services provided. This policy was continued in the 1949 act. The 1957 act did not change this. Section 2505 of the Public School Code has provided since 1949 that: "The reimbursement provided for by this Section shall be paid by the Department of Health out of any money appropriated to said department for administering the provisions of Article fourteen of this act." There is no basis for calling the funds in question "educational funds." They are public funds being used for a public purpose and being dispensed according to the following scheme: public funds go to the Department of Health; the Department of Health pays the school district; the school district (or joint school board) employs a "school nurse"; this nurse is assigned by the school district for the performance of health services to "children of school age" regardless of the school in which they are found.

Senator John H. Dent (now a United States Congressman) was one of the co-sponsors of the 1957 bill. He had stated that it was never the intention of the sponsors of this bill to exclude nursing services as far as parochial schools are concerned. The Jewish Community Relations Council of Greater Philadelphia has stated that S.640 (a similar bill) does not violate the principle of separation of church and state and it has unequivocally endorsed the measure. The American Civil Liberties Union, Greater Philadelphia Branch, has today announced that it finds no constitutional objection to H.1845 which is also a similar bill and that they endorse it.

Senate bill 934 is intended to correct a deficiency in existing law so as to make it plain that school nursing services are to be provided to private, including parochial, school children. The term, "child of school age," as here employed is intended to embrace (1) public school children (2) private school children (3) parochial school children.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Cameron, Mr. Tompkins.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, this bill becomes effective on July 1, 1962. Yesterday I voted "no" on a number of bills that were effective on that date, by reason of the fact that you are merely piling upon the next session of the General Assembly a lot of money bills for which we have not provided the money in this session. I want the record to show that I am voting against this bill for that reason.

MOTION TO LAY ON TABLE

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Dauphin, Mr. Bowman.

Mr. BOWMAN. Mr. Speaker, I move that Senate bill No. 934, printer's number 1262, be laid upon the table.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the majority leader.

Mr. McCANN. I ask the membership of the House to oppose the motion to lay Senate bill 934, printer's number 1262, upon the table.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

The yeas and nays were required by Messrs. BOWMAN and BACKENSTOE and were as follows:

Mrs. KOOKER. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask for a roll call on these amendments.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Does the lady desire to explain the amendments?

Mrs. KOOKER. The amendments simply change the effective date of the bill from 1961 to 1963.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the majority leader.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I ask the membership to vote "no" to the amendments offered by the lady to Senate bill No. 20, changing the effective date of this proposed legislation.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

The yeas and nays were required by Mrs. KOOKER and Mr. BACKENSTOE and were as follows:

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair will entertain a motion to postpone action on the bill.

Mr. McCANN. The agreement was that we would vote the amendments offered to the bill at this time, so that if the amendments were adopted, the bill could be printed. Otherwise, it is ready for a vote and we will not vote the bill now.

BILL PASSED OVER

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Without objection, the bill will be passed over temporarily.

FORMER SPEAKER WELCOMED

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair notes the presence in the hall of the House of a former Speaker of the House, the former Lieutenant-Governor, the gentleman from Greene, Mr. Roy E. Furman. We are glad to have you with us.

BILL ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate bill No. 919, entitled:

A Joint Resolution proposing an amendment to article nine section four of the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania providing for and regulating Commonwealth debt for capital improvements and certain other purposes and prohibiting debts and obligations inconsistent therewith.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Cameron, Mr. Tompkins.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, this bill is one of the recommendations of the Constitutional Revision Commission of 1958. The bill was principally the product of suggestions made by our advisors at that time, David Baldwin and David Kurtzman. This was an objective report prepared at that time, and it is designed to abolish authorities in the State of Pennsylvania that have their obligations taken over by general obligation bonds of the Commonwealth, and to forbid that type of financing, forbid authority financing, General State Authority financing, in the future and to get a better debt control in the State of Pennsylvania.

This bill was embodied in House bill 993 of this session and we had a discharge resolution on it to get the bill out of committee.

Mr. Speaker, I happened to be one of the sponsors of this House resolution on this very same subject, and this bill, being a duplicate of that, I am asking the members of this House to support this bill in the interest of good fiscal management of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

ANNOUNCEMENT

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, for the information of the membership, we, of course, have a good many bills that are not yet in print at this hour, and it is now four o'clock in the morning. It is going to be recommended at this point, and I hope Mr. Ominsky can give us some information on this, that if we recess until 10 a.m. we will have all the bills and concurrence reports here in position to be voted on.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair would like to inform the respective floor leaders, as well as the members, that I have had a report from the chief clerk and at 10 o'clock we will have a calendar for today and all bills will be in print.

For what purpose does the gentleman rise?

Mr. GELFAND. Mr. Speaker, I object to this recess.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. We have not declared a recess, or even attempted to declare one, up until the present time.

Mr. GELFAND. I am hearing rumors that we are intending to recess at four o'clock until 10 the next morning. If my ears belied me, I will apoligize, but it occurs to me that I just heard the Acting Speaker make a statement to that effect. If such a recess is being requested, I am now rising to object to it, because we do have bills available upon which we can work and I would like to work on those bills.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair did not announce that we are going to have a recess. The Chair merely made an announcement that the bills will be in print by 10 o'clock. I might add, the Chair hopes that we will take a recess.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I mentioned that we would ask for a recess because the bills are not here in print. I asked when, in the opinion of the chief clerk, they would be able to deliver all the bills. Certainly there is work. We have been jammed up in the printing trying to get this done at this point, and I am not trying to delay any more than the next person in completing the work. Therefore, I will, at the proper time, when I am informed, be most pleased to ask for a recess so that the members may have an opportunity to sleep for a couple hours.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Gelfand.

Mr. GELFAND. If the time does come that we do not have any bills on our desk upon which we can work, maybe I will withdraw any objection, but at this time I believe we do have some bills available upon which we can work. If I have the tenor of this House and if I can feel the pulse of things, I think there are many of us who would rather sit here and work through and have it over with.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I have to ask for a recess until the printer catches up. Certainly, there are bills that can be debated. I am sure the gentleman has reference to a bill I passed over temporarily, and there are one or two other bills. But I have to, in trying to work this out, ask for the recess for a period until 10 a.m.

MOTION TO RECESS

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, I move that we have a recess until 10 a.m.

THE SPEAKER (Hiram G. Andrews) IN THE CHAIR

The SPEAKER. The Chair will take the sense of the House.

The Chair recognizes the minority leader.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, the understanding was, on our side, that we would recess from the hours of 4 a.m. to 10 a.m. this morning. I therefore move that this House recess until 10 a.m., d.s.t., this morning.

Mr McCANN. Mr. Speaker, that was the understanding with the printer on the delivery of the bills and I hope everything can be delivered by then.

The SPEAKER. We can either have a voice vote or a roll call vote.

The motion is to recess until 10 a.m. this morning.

For what purpose does the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. McCormack, rise?

Mr. McCORMACK. Mr. Speaker, is this a motion to recess until 10 o'clock?

The SPEAKER. That is right.

Mr. McCORMACK. Mr. Speaker, I would like to have eight hours sleep, so I would like to move that we recess until 12.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

It was agreed to.

RECESS

The SPEAKER. Without objection, the Chair declares a recess until 10 a.m., d.s.t.

AFTER RECESS

The time of recess having expired, the House was called to order.

The SPEAKER (Hiram G. Andrews) IN THE CHAIR

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, that the clerk return the same to the Senate with information that the House has passed the same with amendments in which the concurrence of the Senate is requested.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on final passage of Senate bill No. 639, entitled:

An Act limiting the liability of landowners of agricultural lands or woodlands for personal injuries suffered by any persons while hunting or fishing upon or who has entered for his own purposes on the landowner's property.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Berks, Mr. Adams.

Mr. ADAMS. Mr. Speaker, I would just like to know who the people are who are opposed to this bill. I see we have a few.

I want to speak in behalf of this bill. This is a bill that is highly beneficial to both the farmer who owns the land and also to the sportsman, and that includes the hunter and the fisherman who uses the land for his own purposes.

This bill is very necessary in order to keep the farm lands open for the hunters and the fishermen, and, unless we have legislation of this sort, we are going to find that very shortly there will be no place to hunt or fish any more.

I respectively urge all the members to vote "aye" on this bill for the benefit of the farmer and the hunter and the fisherman.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Fineman.

Mr. FINEMAN. Mr. Speaker, some weeks ago in one of your editions of "Dispelling the Fog"—

The SPEAKER. Are we going to go through that again?

Mr. FINEMAN. Happy day, the end is in sight!

In one of your editions of "Dispelling the Fog," Mr. Speaker, the edition dated July 24, 1961, you had this one sentence in there which set forth the purpose of Senate bill 639. You stated, "The ostensible purpose of Senate bill 639 is to say to the world, including all of the allegedly dumb hick farmers, that land owners should be responsible for the injuries sustained by persons who trespass"—who trespass—I repeat that word because that is the key word in this sentence, "who trespass upon his land for the purpose of hunting and fishing thereon."

Mr. Speaker, I say to you, and I realize full well that assertions to the contrary notwithstanding, you are not a learned member of the Bar and perhaps you are not as familiar with case law on this subject as some of the attorneys in the House might be. But if this be the purpose of Senate bill 639, then Senate bill 639 is absolutely unnecessary because the law of negligence in this Commonwealth today as to trespassers is, as a general proposition, that a landowner owes absolutely no liability, no obligation, no responsibility whatsoever to anyone who trespasses on his ground, other than to refrain from wantonly and intentionally inflicting harm on anyone who might come on his ground.

For instance, he does not have to search his ground to look for latent defects, and even if he were to find a negligent condition on his ground he would not have to repair it. Even if he found a negligent condition on his ground he would not have to post a sign saying beware of this dangerous condition. He has absolutely no responsibility whatsoever except for certain stated conditions which are not germane to the argument at the moment, to anyone who trespasses on his ground, hunter or fisherman.

I might say that I am sympathetic with what is sought to be accomplished here, but this is not the way to do it because of the confusion that will ensue. A hunter or a fisherman who comes on another's ground, without that person's permission, comes there at his own peril. Even if he were to come with the owner's permission, so that in effect he became a licensee and not a trespasser, even if the negligent condition were one that he might reasonably expect to anticipate, one that was visible and obvious to the eye as distinguished from one that was latent or one that connot be readily discovered; even in that circumstance, the landowner has no responsibility whatsoever to that trespasser.

I say to you, in addition to the fact that there is no need for this legislation and that it interrupts, confuses, difuses and does everything harmful to existing case laws, I say that in addition to this, the bill is discriminatory, Mr. Speaker, and not constitutional in that it constitutes class legislation. You say that this bill should be passed because we should give an exemption to the farmer from any claims for liability as a result of an injury sustained by a person who hunts or fishes on his ground. Mr.

Speaker, I ask, why should that be so? Why should the person who allows children to come on his ground to play, why should he be held responsible if that person is injured in the course of the play? Do we not also want to promote and encourage competition and competitive sports with children, healthy activities, recreation? Do we not want to encourage these? Is not our purpose just as fine and noble in that instance as it is in the purpose of encouraging hunting and fishing? Yet, there is no exemption in favor of property owners who allow children to come on their ground. To that extent this bill is discriminatory. It is not only discriminatory, but poorly worded, poorly written, and will lead to a great deal of confusion.

Let me point these things out to you: This bill states in section 1, ladies and gentlemen, that no landowner—landowner—of agricultural lands or woodlands shall be liable, etcetera. Now, I say too, if the purpose, the purport, the intent, of this bill is to encourage hunting and fishing, why have we limited the exemption to landowners? What about the farm land that is rented or leased to a sole tenant, a tenant farmer, who runs the farm? Under this bill the tenant farmer is going to be held responsible if someone comes across his ground and is hurt during the course of hunting or fishing. The landowner cannot be sued, but of course he could not be sued anyway since he is an absentee owner and he has vested complete control and jurisdiction in the tenant, and the tenant having sole control and possession of such premises would be the person responsible under existing law. Yet, this bill does not give that tenant any exemption. Why the differential, if, as I say, the purpose of the bill is to allegedly encourage hunting and fishing?

Mr. Speaker, it just it not a wise thing to do, to legislate exemption from liability by class; it just cannot be done. This bill would cause untold confusion. Let me just cite a couple of examples.

This bill says that anyone who suffers injuries while he is hunting or fishing has no claim against the landowner. Now, what does this mean? Does it mean that he actually has to be in the act of hunting or in the act of fishing? Suppose I come on someone's ground with a rifle in my hand, and, instead of going to my destination, which is a certain part of the woodland where I know there are pheasants to be hunted, I detour and I go through the owners' property with the idea in mind of saying to him, "Look, if you will let me on your ground, I will split the kill with you. Whatever I kill I will give you 50 percent of it." Now, suppose while I am on the way to the owner's home, I am not hunting; I am not fishing; I am injured by a negligent condition. Do I have a course of action? I would like some lawyer to give me an answer to that question. I do not expect an answer from a layman, and I do not expect a concrete intelligent answer from a lawyer because there is no answer to that thing and there will not be until the proposition is tested in court. The reason there is no answer is because of the fact that the law states there are three classes of persons in regard to the degree of negligence that must be exhibited by a landowner, one being a trespasser, one being a licensee, and one being a business invitee. At the moment I detour from my destination, I no longer am either a trespasser or a licensee; I am a business invitee, so the degree of care that must be shown to me by that landowner is greater than it would be if I were merely a licensee or merely a trespasser.

Now another question: It says, "while hunting or fising." Suppose somebody is along on a hunting party mérely to observe. Many times when I am on a golf course, someone will come along to observe. I asume that must be true in hunting and fishing expeditions too, that people who come along, not to actively participate in the sport, but to observe. Now suppose those persons are injured. Is there a claim against the landowner? I do not know the answer to that question. I am sure no attorney in here can give you a firm answer to that question.

Now, one final point. I said before that a landowner owes no liability, no obligation whatsoever, to a trespasser. A trespasser, again ladies and gentlemen, is one who comes on another's property without right, without cover of privilege or license. But even as to a trespasser, there are certain exceptions as to the degree of care that the landowner must exhibit. For instance, he cannot set a trap for a person. He could not wall up his property and imbed on the top of the wall, pieces of glass; he could not maintain a wild animal on his property knowing that if someone comes that wild animal will attack that person. This is logical, common sense exception in the law of negligence in trespassing, yet in this bill you are giving carte blanc to anybody who comes on the property and is injured. You are saying that they have absolutely no course of action whatsoever; no claim no matter what the circumstances.

Ladies and gentlemen, I have but briefly touched on the ramifications of the problems that are posed by legislation of this sort. I think you can verily agree with me. I think if you will look at the problem objectively and not so affirmatively merely because someone says to you, "Look, the Grange wants this; the hunters want this." We cannot always give the people what they want in the way of legislation, if in fact the legislation is bad. The people of this State do not want taxes, but they get taxes because that is the burden. We cannot always do what we want; we cannot always be receptive to the demands of our constituents. I say to you that it is not ground enough, not basic enough, to vote for this bill merely because you have been asked to do so by the sportsmen or the hunters, when the bill is, in essence, so basically bad.

The SPEAKER. The Chair knows no law. We just make them so lawyers will have the groundwork upon which to make a living.

For what purpose does the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Farabaugh, rise? I would charge him that he will not get anywhere by crossing swords with the esteemed barrister who has just delivered a talk that could well be given before a Supreme Court session.

Mr. FARABAUGH. Mr. Speaker, I have no intention of going into any lengthy debate. I think I could correct several of the statements that were made here. I would like the privilege of citing one instance as an example and it is a short one. If I could have that privilege, I assure you it would only take a very short time.

Right now in the courts a case is going on where a couple of young farmers have run into terrific expense because of the needful expense of a man in the dairy business. There is a case going on in court, where, by permission, a youngster came on that land, by permission of the owner, and had a serious accident. The owner of that land has been sued for $75,000 damage. The point is this: before the attorneys and the courts are through with this, it is going to cost that farmer so much money that he is going to lose everything he has. Is there any justice in this? All this bill does is give a little protection to the farmer in the case of people coming on his land without his consent. It does not cover this case, but I say this is just one example of what can happen, and this is just a little bit of a safeguard.

Mr. FINEMAN. Mr. Speaker, briefly in reply, first, I want to point out to the members of the House that in the story related by the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Farabaugh, this did not involve hunting and fishing. If he meant to imply that a farmer or landowner should be exempted from all kinds of claims that may be brought against him, then I say to you we might as well throw up our hands. Why the farmers? Why not all businessmen who may be going out of business by a suit brought against them?

I will tell you what the very simple answer to this problem is and why we should not entertain a bill of this kind. The answer is insurance. The cost for unimproved acereage is one cent and one mill per front foot for $10,000 worth of coverage for a farmer to buy. What prudent businessman, and I assume farmers are businessmen, leaves himself without insurance coverage?

If you were to pass this bill, this is the effect: The farmer feels free from any claims; therefore, if he had been prudent enough to take insurance, he is going to drop it. Then what happens if someone who comes on his property, not for hunting or fishing, but let us say a salesman, a business invitee, someone who might come to sell him a threshing machine, and he is hurt? Should he not have coverage? Should he not have protection just like we say about any businessman, just like we say about any motorist—if they cause injury to anybody they should be good enough to have insurance to make sure that the injured party is put in a position where he can, in some measure, be restored to his status quo.

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. Mr. Speaker, I know this bill is going to pass without any difficulty, but I would like to say that everything the learned gentleman from Philadelphia has stated is correct.

The SPEAKER. The Chair again wants to pay tribute to the presentation made by the gentleman from Philadelphia. The Chair knows no law, but I again say that that address could well have been made and would have received substantial recognition if made before a session of the Supreme Court of this State.

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, that the clerk return the same to the Senate with information that the House has passed the same with amendments in which the concurrence of the Senate is requested.

REASONS FOR VOTE

Mr. WALSH submitted the following reasons for his vote:

Senate bill No. 932, printer's No. 1299, proposes to amend "The State Harness Racing Law."

These amendments are corrective in nature and are intended to remedy certain inequities in the xisting law.

Under the present law only one (1) election or referendum may be held in any county. This means that if a county has voted against locating a track within the county it may never vote on this again.

This appears to be wholly undemocratic since it permits one generation to bind forever all future generations, notwithstanding that their desires might be totally different.

This proposed amendment would permit subsequent referendums, providing that no more than one (1) referendum would be held in any four-year period.

These amendments, therefore, will permit future generations to vote again on the question should their views differ from those who have already cast their vote.

Under the present law any track holding a license must apply every year for a new license. There is no provision for a renewal under the present law as there is in other license laws. This means that a track which has expended as much as twelve million or twenty million dollars must apply every year for a license as if it had not constructed such a track.

This unfair procedure was pointed out by Chief Justice Bell of the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania, in a recent decision involving the Harness Racing Commission. The Supreme Court in that case expressly recommended that the Legislature amend this procedure to provide for renewal of licenses.

Accordingly this proposed amendment would permit an existing track to apply for renewal of an existing license. That application, however, is still subject to the approval of the Commission and is not merely automatic. Under the present law a corporation may have a life term not to exceed fifty years. This proposed amendment would permit the corporation to exist perpetually.

This is in keeping with modern corporation practices and in no way does it affect the license.

Finally, under the present law, the Commission is a departmental commission under the Department of Agriculture. This proposed amendment would make the commission an independent agency. There is no logical reason for maintaining the commission in the Department of Agriculture, since there is no relationship between the two agencies. Under the proposed amendment the commission is still bound by the Administrative Code of 1929 with regard to salaries and employes since this provision expressly exists in the law.

So, too, the present commission membership is not changed by the provisions of the proposed amendments.

This proposed bill does not in any manner extend existing law substantially. It is merely intended to correct existing inequities, and, for that reason, I am supporting this bill.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on final passage of Senate bill No. 345, entitled:

An Act regulating sewage disposal systems in the interest of preserving the health of the people of the Commonwealth requiring permits to be issued to persons installing sewage disposal systems imposing certain duties on the Department of Health and on municipalities and providing penalties.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the minority leader.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, this Senate bill No. 345 failed previously here because of many phases of the bill that the membership, particularly on our side, did not quite agree with. They did not like the tremendous power that would be vested down here in Harrisburg with respect to sewage disposal systems. When we caucused last night we were not able to tell the caucus just what the amendment did. The amendment that was put in the bill did not improve the bill with respect to the arguments that this side had against the bill. Therefore, I am just reporting to our membership that this is practically the same bill they voted on before.

The SPEAKER. The chair recognizes the gentleman from Westmoreland, Mr. Maxwell.

Mr. MAXWELL. Mr. Speaker, very briefly, I have to correct the statement that the minority leader made. This bill was not voted on before. This bill was recommitted to committee. Amendments were inserted into it; amendments that were asked for by the farm groups and by the townships. This is a good bill. This legislation is very badly needed in our State. This is not only a protection for people who build good homes, but is is also protection for the general health and welfare of the people. If we do not pass this bill this session, the conditions that are at stake are rapidly growing worse each day and, if you do not pass this bill, you will find out that at the next session of this legislature, every civic minded group in this State will be up here pressuring you to either pass this bill or a much more stringent bill than this. This bill hurts no one and it helps everybody. I wish you would vote "yes." Thank you.

Mr. HOCKER. Mr. Speaker, as far as I am concerned, nothing has been done to this bill to make it better. When a bill that we pass here in the legislature says that the department shall make the rules and regulations and the municipalities shall carry them out, to me that is hogwash. I sat in on a hearing with Dr. Wilbar on this bill. He is very much interested in it, and we asked and we pleaded for the department to just put some minimum, minimum standards in here so we would not get in trouble with rules and regulations of the Department of Health. Dr. Wilbar agreed and came back to our committee with rules and regulations that no one could accept. To start with, one of the minimum standards is cast iron pipe, or the equivalent, from the house to the tank. Now, Mr. Speaker, these dirty words pop up again in this piece of legislation, "the equivalent thereof." I would like to know what that means. I have had a septic tank with clay pipe installed in my home, a Pennsylvania product, if you will, for 20 years and I have had no trouble with it because it was put in properly.

And then the question is raised whether or not I have faith in Dr. Wilbar to allow him to set standards that my people have to live by. I made the statement in committee and I will make it on the floor, I have faith in Dr. Wilbar, but I will never forget some of the people who have been on this hill whom I did not have faith in and I still do not have faith in.

Mr. Speaker, every political subdivision in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania has the right today to control this problem. They do not have to come to us. They, can, by local ordinance, every political subdivision, control this thing. We cry "home rule." Now we say, you cannot have it; we will set the standards.

Mr. Speaker, I will not belabor the House any more but I say this bill is no better than it was when it started and I ask the people to vote against it.

Mr. BOIES. Mr. Speaker, I think the argument the gentleman just made is the best argument for this bill. The gentleman from Dauphin said that every municipality in the State has the power to control this for themselves. That is exactly the point, Mr. Speaker. They do not control it. They will not take action. The average municipality and its governing council has no knowledge or no interest in health problems of the public. And I say with my colleague from Westmoreland, that there is not a district in the State that has new housing developments that does not have the condition we are trying to cure, and, if we do not do something about it now, we will get a more drastic cure in the next session.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

REPUBLICAN CAUCUS

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the majority leader.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, it is extremely important that I try to get some concurrences so we will know if they will pass or fall. I am ready to vote on concurrence in Senate amendments. I would request the Republican floor leader to consent to a short caucus so that he may caucus on nine items, I believe, that are on the calendar. I am not sure how many in total.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the minority leader.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, we do have a few concurrences and conference reports that we have not caucused on, and there are other matters, so I believe in a half hour we can accomplish our purpose.

I understand Mr. McCann does not want to break for lunch at this point because of waiting for messages from the Senate, and there will be a proper time when we will be able to break for lunch. Many people had a late breakfast, anyhow.

So if we could caucus for about one-half hour, we would be down here and we would have completely covered the calendar.

INTERROGATION

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Dauphin, Mr. Bowman.

Mr. BOWMAN. Mr. Speaker, may I interrogate the majority leader for just a second?

The SPEAKER. Will the majority leader permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. McCANN. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. BOWMAN. Mr. Speaker, in light of the fact that you are going to concur in House bill 1541, which repeals House bill 1340, that is, the act which 1340 is written over, on page 5—in other words, House bill 1541, if passed, would repeal the act of 1917—I was just wondering, I did not know, what problem we were going to be faced with there.

Mr. McCANN. That is the drug law bill we passed in the House that came from the Allegheny County judge, if I remember correctly.

Mr. BOWMAN. My only point is that if 1541 becomes law, the act of 1917 will be repealed thereby and I do not see the point in amending it.

Mr. McCANN. The gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Irvis, has the answer on that so you will have it for your caucus.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr, Irvis.

Mr. IRVIS. Mr. Speaker, the reason for the concurrence vote is the fact that nobody knows which one of these bills will become law. It is up to the Governor to decide, if we do concur in both, which one he will sign, if any. The gentleman who spoke just a few moments ago is absolutely correct so far as the law is concerned, but he is presuming as to what the Governor's intentions are. We cannot presume that.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I will at the proper time, if there is anything to go across the table, request a 30-minute recess and come right back and vote, if that is agreeable, please.

The SPEAKER. The Chair understands that the majority leader is not requesting a recess at this time, is that right?

Mr. McCANN. I am not, but just that the House be at ease for the purpose of a 30-minute Republican caucus.

The SPEAKER. The House will be at ease for a 30-minute Republican caucus.

(The House was at ease during the Republican caucus)

(After Caucus)

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. ADAMS. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. ADAMS. Mr. Speaker, in reference to the remarks that I made yesterday while debating House bill 730, the pay raise bill, I want to set the record straight. I do not mind getting headlines in newspapers when they are accurate, but when they are false I strenuously object to them. I have here a copy of this morning's local paper in which it is in quotation marks that I called the judges "fat cats." That is not correct. I stand by what I said. I said I opposed the pay increases; I called them fantastic increases. I do not think that the word "fantastic" sounds like "fat cats." Mr. Speaker, I was not speaking Dutch either.

I have here in my hands the official transcript of the legislative journal and I have carefully examined it to make sure of what I said and what I did not say. I would like to have it noted on the record and I request that the press correct what they misprinted and whatever papers it went to. Thank you.

The SPEAKER. The remarks of the gentleman will be spread upon the record.

For what purpose does the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. McCormack, rise?

Mr. McCORMACK. I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Berks, Mr. Adams.

The SPEAKER. The Chair would imagine that the interrogation on the question of personal privilege might be privileged and it might not. Let us hear it.

Will the gentleman from Berks permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. ADAMS. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. McCORMACK. Mr. Speaker, when I was in the House yesterday when this bill came up, I thought I distinctly heard you refer to judges as "fat cats" or "fat heads." Now, I am asking you, in light of the newspaper story, whether or not you now think the judges are "fat cats"?

Mr. ADAMS. I do not now and I did not yesterday, and I think that you were not listening at the time or you would not have imagined that you heard something like that.

Mr. McCORMACK. Thank you. That is all.

Mr. ADAMS. You are welcome.

The SPEAKER. The Speaker used to call them "gypsies" and we never went to jail.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE OF CONFERENCE ON HOUSE BILL No. 795

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I call up the report of the Committee of Conference on House Bill No. 795.

The report of the Committee of Conference was read as follows:

To the Members of the Senate and House of Representatives:

We, the undersigned, Committee of Conference on the part of the Senate and House of Representatives for the purpose of considering House bill No. 795 entitled: "An act making an appropriation to the Dickinson School of Law, Carlisle, Pennsylvania.

Respectfully submit the following bill as our report:

JOHN CARL MILLER,
GEORGE SARRAFF,
THOMAS A. EHRGOOD,
(Committee on the part of the Senate)
J. DEAN POLEN,
H. J. MAXWELL,
(Committee on the part of the House of Representatives.)

An Act making an appropriation to the Dickinson School of Law Carlisle, Pennsylvania

The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby enacts as follows

Section 1 The sum of one hundred thousand dollars ($100,000) or as much thereof as may be necessary is hereby specifically appropriated to the Dickinson School of Law Carlisle, Pennsylvania for the fiscal period June 1, 1961 to June 30, 1962 for the general maintenance of the school for current expenses including but not limited to the purchase of equipment and supplies and the payment of salaries for alterations and improvements to the grounds and buildings and their furnishings for improvement of the law library for research projects and for such other purposes as the trustees may deem necessary for the best interest of the school.

On the question,

Will the House adopt the report of the Committee of Conference?

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Dauphin, Mr. Ogilvie.

Mr. OGILVIE. Mr. Speaker, I am compelled to vote against one of these appropriations as contained in House bill 795.

Why, may you ask? Until justice is done. Why should I vote for a law school to the amount of $100,000 when there is House bill 1093 languishing in the Appropriations Committee.

This bill, 1093, would give our old retired State police, who are now living on meager pensions, $150 a month retirement, men who have risked their lives for you and for me. What would be the cost to give these old retired men $150? Just $40,000 a year, according to the estimate given to me by the chairman of the Appropriations Committee.

But there is no money for this bill, no money for this humanitarian or justifiable cause. But there is money to give away in the amount of $100,000 to Dickinson Law School. I ask you, do we owe an obligation to a retired State Policeman living on a meager pension, or do we owe an obligation to the law school?

Search your hearts and show by your vote where you stand. The retired State Police will be watching and so will the retired public and the public in general. I thank you very much.

Mr. HELM IN THE CHAIR

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. McNally.

Mr. McNALLY. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate Mr. Polen, the Appropriations Committee chairman.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the gentleman, Mr. Polen, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. POLEN. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. McNALLY. Mr. Speaker, on House bill 795, how much was the appropriation that we sent to the higher body?

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, the amount contained in the bill that was passed by the House was $54,000.

Mr. McNALLY. Mr. Speaker, when this bill was returned from the House before it went into conference committee, how much was the amount in the bill at that time?

Mr. POLEN. The Senate amended the bill to provide $135,000.

Mr. McNALLY. And the amount in the bill at the present time, Mr. Speaker?

Mr. POLEN. The amount in the bill at the present time is $100,000.

Mr. McNALLY. Thank you very kindly, sir.

I rise in protest to this particular bill. I have been given to understand, although I am a novice in this great, wonderful body, the University of Pennsylvania does a great deal of research work, the University of Pittsburgh does a great deal of research work for the Commonwealth; the same is true of Temple University. In addition to that, I have been given to understand there are 300 senatorial scholarships put out at all three of these universities.

I say to you, Mr. Speaker, in my county we have a university that needs some help, Saint Francis. My daughter went to Westminster College. I get letters from them constantly, they need help. Duquesne Law School, a wonderful law school, they need help. I just wonder, Mr. Speaker, how long we, the members of this body, who have been given the privilege a way, way back by our forefathers, who in their reasoning saw fit to give this body the privilege of making appropriations, and only this body, shall continue to do this. I believe that the citizenry we represent have put 210 of us in here as the custodians of the funds that we collect from them in taxes.

I do not believe that we have any right to put $100,000 in a college that has not in any way that I have been able to find out done one single thing for the Commonwealth.

I am going to vote against this bill. You folks can use your own judgment.

Thanks very much, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Schuylkill, Mr. Heffner.

Mr. HEFFNER. Mr. Speaker, in this session of the General Assembly we have voted for $30 million of appropriations to many schools.

I call your attention to an amendment inserted in the General State Authority bill to the tune, mind you, of $34 million, and look at some of the schools that are going to benefit in that bill, not by a mere $100,000, but by millions.

Mr. Speaker, mention was made of the University of Pennsylvania which has a law school. I call your attention to the fact that we gave them an appropriation not in thousands but in millions. Some of that appropriation is going to be used to maintain that law school at the University of Pennsylvania. The same is true of the University of Pittsburgh. The same is true of Temple University which has a law school.

Mr. Speaker, why we should discriminate against Dickinson School of Law for $100,000 I do not know. The gentleman who preceded me said he knows nothing that this law school has done for the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. It has produced many great judges and jurists in this Commonwealth. It holds judicial conferences. It holds conferences to combat juvenile delinquency.

Mr. Speaker, this is only a temporary measure. This law school has a history of being a small law school with a small tuition to give the men and women of this Commonwealth who come from families who are not in the high income brackets an opportunity to become professional men, if you will, and I want to say this, that if any school has graduated people from the lower income brackets it has been Dickinson School of Law. Many of your great lawyers and many of your great jurists came from the low income groups because this school was willing to have low tuition fees to help in an educational program and give those families an opportunity to have professional men in their families.

Mr. Speaker, there is nothing sinister or wrong about this bill. We have passed appropriation after appropriation; I do not know of one single appropriation that we did not pass in this General Assembly, and I would certainly hate to see in the dying days of this session that Dickinson Law School was the only school or the only institution that we singled out and denied an appropriation.

I ask you to vote in favor of this measure.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Andrews.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I certainly want to state my reasons for opposing this bill.

It happens that I was one of those who in a small way helped this institution obtain its first State appropriation. I held the conviction at that time that we were creating a bad precedent, that if we started to subsidize institutions like Dickinson, we could legitimately be called upon to subsidize all the liberal arts colleges, all the liberal arts institutions, in the Commonwealth.

I was told by those who purposed to represent the institution that a particular situation had arisen, that there was a need for $250,000 which was bothering the management of that institution, and, if they could get that paid off, since it was the first time they had ever asked for State aid, that I could be certain it would be the last time. They would be able to sail their own boat. They just had this one encumbrance that bothered them. Now I would not say the high command personally told me that, but persons who purported to state the case for Dickinson and the reasons why they should have an appropriation, did so state, and it was solely on that condition that it was that one time sought that I agreed, and I believe I rendered the institution material assistance in obtaining its first appropriation.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Sherman.

Mr. SHERMAN. Mr. Speaker, I rise to support this bill and state briefly that Dickinson Law School represents a school that differs from many other schools. We have made appropriations to the University of Pennsylvania and to Temple University which well deserved their appropriations. At those institutions there are some students who attend both the university and the law school.

In Dickinson we have a different situation and that is that the university is on a different footing than the law school and has no appropriation that would be applicable to the law school. Until a matter of a few years ago Dickinson was well endowed as far as their law school was concerned; they did not need money and they did not turn to this General Assembly for any appropriation.

Within the past year or two—and remember this is not the first time there has been any appropriation because we did have one in the previous session—Dickinson has seen fit to seek your help. They represent the common man of this State. You will find by your investigation that more men from Dickinson have sat on the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania who perhaps may not have even been college graduates as such, than from any other legal institution in the State. I say that Dickinson should appeal to a good many of you as representing the general common man of the State of Pennsylvania.

Without going into further detail, I earnestly seek your support for this appropriation.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Lehigh, Mr. Steckel.

Mr. STECKEL. Mr. Speaker, I think there are several misconceptions that should be corrected that have been made on the floor of the House.

Earlier the Speaker said that Dickinson is a liberal arts college. I think it should be distinctly understood by the membership that Dickinson School of Law has absolutely no connection with Dickinson College, a liberal arts college. Dickinson School of Law is a separate organization, a separate corporation, receives no help and is not tied up in any way with Dickinson College.

Now then, if we do not see fit to grant any appropriations to this school, we are, in effect, discriminating against this graduate school because all the other law schools, medical schools, and so forth, in this State, through the universities under which they operate, have and are receiving such appropriations.

This law school is not sectarian and, as I said, it is not tied up with any liberal arts college. It is over 100 years old.

In light of the fact that in this session we have been particularly concerned about higher education and locations for our schools, and the fact that this fine institution which, by the way, is not heavily endowed or it would not need this money, in order to keep up with present standards of law schools and with the present building requirements which were placed upon it several years ago, requires and needs some kind of support. It is no longer able to operate simply with the income from the tuition of the students who attend there.

Now if we are so deeply interested in the maintenance of institutions at a high level for our students in this Commonwealth, then certainly we should not deprive this institution, which has existed for over 100 years, of the means of keeping its standards up as it has been accustomed to.

I see no reason why we should discriminate or make a big fuss out of this one institution and say it alone of the graduate schools shall be denied some support from this State, particularly when we are in need of additional spots to send our students to in this State. It has had a fine history and there is no reason to deny it this appropriation. Thank you.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Andrews.

Mr. ANDREWS. If I actually intimated that Dickinson was a liberal arts college, it was a loose use of language, and I do not think that is what I said. I said that there was, in my mind, as much reason why liberal arts colleges, all of them, or any of them, should be entitled to State assistance as other professional schools. I want to clear up that point because I know that Dickinson is a law school, and I do not think there is a private institution that is any more entitled to assistance, but I use the word "other," other institutions, which are not law schools but which are liberal arts colleges.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Dengler.

Mr. DENGLER. Mr. Speaker, it is my sincere belief that Pennsylvania has the finest educational system of any State in this Union. We have more colleges and universities than any other State.

During the past months we have heard a great deal of talk about additional moneys for our schools, both secondary and on the higher educational level. The other day I said, from this microphone, that I think what we should do to take care of this increase of the number of students which will occur within the next ten years is to undergird our present educational system and think less and less about establishing new colleges.

We have in our budget over a million dollars for community colleges. They may be necessary but I doubt it, because I think we have now in Pennsylvania the framework that will be able to handle this influx of new students. I am not a graduate of Dickinson College, I do not think any of my relatives are graduates of Dickinson College; I think I have been on the campus of Dickinson Law School once in my life, so I have no ax to grind. I think, ladies and gentlemen, we would be making a very serious mistake after appropriating millions of dollars to other colleges, if we would single out Dickinson College and have that hit the headlines. It would not look good. I do not think the reasons that have been advanced are very good ones. Thank you.

ANNOUNCEMENTS—BILL FILES AND COMMITTEE RECORDS

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair would like to make an announcement on behalf of the Speaker of the House. The announcement has already been made, but it has been requested that we repeat the announcement because we have a full House.

Members are requested to not take their daily calendar bill files home, as they will be kept in the custody of the chief clerk for use in the 1962 session.

Papers and pamphlets on top of the members' desks which they desire to keep should be placed inside their desks where they will remain undisturbed.

Also, the following announcement by the Speaker:

In accordance with the provisions of House rule 29, upon adjournment, the chairmen of the Standing Committees of the House are required to file with the chief clerk, bills and all other papers in the possession of the committees, including committee record books. The chairmen are directed, at their earliest convenience, to comply with the provisions of this rule.

REQUEST FOR RECESS

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Cameron, Mr. Tompkins.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, it is now 2:26 p.m., d. s. t., and the cafeteria will be open until 2:30 to accommodate the members for a brief lunch. I was wondering at this time if we could not take a brief recess to let the members have their lunch.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. SCHAAF asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I will be brief. I want to talk on a subject again, the subject of non-preferred appropriations. I want to serve notice here and now that until such time as somebody produces a really equitable way of distributing the largess of this Commonwealth to institutions and persons who have no connection whatsoever with the government of the people, I will fight every non-preferred appropriation that comes through this House.

It is not equitable, Mr. Speaker. The precedent has been set and if we are going to do it, it is going to be done on an equitable basis. Thank you.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the majority leader.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I appreciate the situation of the minority whip in requesting permission for their members to eat. Of course, I realize a good many members have eaten, our members had an opportunity to eat while the minority were caucusing. I cannot refuse them this request, since the cafeteria, I believe he said, is going to remain open until 2:30.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, we will proceed. We will send out for some sandwiches and hope they have some.

Mr. McCANN. I thank the gentleman.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE OF CONFERENCE ON HOUSE BILL No. 840

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I call up the report of the Committee of Conference on House Bill No. 840.

The report of the Committee of Conference was read as follows:

To the Members of the Senate and House of Representatives:

We, the undersigned, Committee of Conference on the part of the Senate and House of Representatives for the purpose of considering House Bill No. 840, entitled: "An act prohibiting the sale, transfer, purchase, ownership, possession and use of tear and noxious gas and tear gas guns; providing for certain exemptions and providing penalties."

Respectfully submit the following bill as our report:

PETER J. CAMIEL,
GEORGE J. SARRAF,
D. ELMER HAWBAKER,
(Committee on the part of the Senate.)
JOHN J. WELSH,
PETER G. SCHAAF,
FORD E. O'DELL,
(Committee on the part of the House of Representatives.)

An Act Prohibiting the use of tear and noxious gas by certain persons and providing penalties.

The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby enacts as follows:

Section 1. As used in this act.

(1) "Tear or noxious gas" means any liquid or gaseous substance that when dispersed in the atmosphere blinds the eyes with tears or irritates or injures other organs and tissues of the human body or causes nausea.

Section 2. It shall be unlawful for any person, partnership, association or corporation other than a duly constituted officer of the law to use or direct the use of tear or noxious gas against any person involved in a labor dispute.

Section 3. Any persons violating any of the provisions of this act shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be sentenced to pay a fine of not exceeding two thousand five hundred dollars ($2,500) or undergo imprisonment for not more than two years or both.

On the question,

Will the House adopt the report of the Committee of Conference?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Erie, Mr. O'Dell.

Mr. O'DELL. Mr. Speaker, members of the House, this is a darned good report to call to the attention of the House, and one of our weaknesses.

The sponsors of this bill had one idea in mind and it was a good idea. If you remember, when I debated this bill, since becoming known as "Tear Gas O'Dell," I suggested that everything be stricken out except the very items that they wanted to accomplish. The original bill had several hundred pages; it has three different printings. I do not know how much it cost to print this bill. It finally comes back to us and we get exactly what we wanted to say in 39 words. Thank you.

On the question recurring,

Will the House adopt the report of the Committee of Conference?

On the question,

Will the House adopt the report of the Committee of Conference?

Mr. ADAMS. Mr. Speaker, very briefly I want to point out here that there is a very dangerous situation in this bill as regards the farmers.

This provision here reads thusly, on page 33 of the bill, line 6, "Acquisition of remainder of properties and land-locked parcels in excess of that needed for the highway" and it goes on to say, "to reduce severance damage." Now this gives the highway department the right to seize a whole farm if they only need a part of it. They apparently are the judges to determine whether they need it or whether they do not; whether they want to take it or whether they do not. There are 1,541 miles of national highways in the national system and 5,698 miles in the Federal Aid primary highway system, which is a lot of mileage and that can be added to. So, unless this provision could be removed from it, it is a very bad bill and should be defeated.

On the question recurring,

Will the House adopt the report of the Committee of Conference?

BILL ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate bill No. 791, entitled:

An Act relating to and regulating the solicitation of moneys and property.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. PIPER. Mr. Speaker, may I interrogate the majority leader?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the majority leader permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I yield to the gentleman from Westmoreland, Mr. Petrosky.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the gentleman from Westmoreland, Mr. Petrosky, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. PETROSKY. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. PIPER. Mr. Speaker, I am a charitable institution and I go to a public relations company or an advertising concern to have the necessary advertising and plans drawn up to raise money for this charitable institution. Are they covered in this act?

Mr. PETROSKY. If they have professional fund raisers, certainly they will come under the act. This is one of the main purposes of the act.

Mr. PIPER. Do you consider these people professional fund raisers?

Mr. PETROSKY. Mr. Speaker, if they are conducting the campaign for the solicitation for charitable purposes, certainly they would be.

Mr. PIPER. They are not conducting the campaign, they do not collect any money, they do not solicit, they just merely write letters for the institution, United Fund, Heart Association, or whatever it might be, and furnish this material so that the fund raising institution can raise the money.

Mr. PETROSKY. May I ask the gentleman whether he is referring to the fact that they write letters in endeavoring to procure funds by solicitation.

Mr. PIPER. They only form the letters for these associations.

Mr. PETROSKY. Mr. Speaker, I would say that if the people were really working in an advisory capacity, then as I understand it, they would not receive a percentage as a commission for the solicitations obtained, is that true?

Mr. PIPER. They would receive remuneration for what services they rendered.

Mr. PETROSKY. Then they would have to register.

Mr. PIPER. Why, Mr. Speaker?

Mr. PETROSKY. The reason for this is that it is a known factor that in too many instances solicitations are made where any percentage or figure up to and even in some instances over 80 percent of the money solicited is used to defray the so-called expenses by one means or another and by that I mean salaries, commissions, and so on.

Mr. PIPER. Mr. Speaker, I pointed out to the gentleman that these people do not get a commission, they do not solicit. They merely form advertising papers or letters that the association which is soliciting these funds is sending out. According to the bill, professional fund raiser means for compensation or other considerations, plans, conducts, manages, carries on or advises concerning any drive or campaign in this State for the purpose of raising funds for or on behalf of any charitable institution.

Mr. PETROSKY. I agree with the gentleman that is one of the purposes of the bill—the amount of solicitations, the percentage of the amount taken for advertising and conducting the campaign by salary or otherwise can consume 80 or 90 percent. This is the ruse that some of the professional fund raisers have been using.

Mr. PIPER. This is not professional fund raising. These people are advertisers, public relations people, and you or I or anyone in another type of business may go to them and say, "What advertising can we use to further our business?" Why would you want to include these people? They do not want to be known as professional fund raisers; they are not and they do not want to be classed that way. They are merely advertisers or public relations people.

Mr. PETROSKY. They do not have to be classed that way, but in order to prevent the fraud that is going on in this field they would have to register in that respect inasmuch as they were going to be remunerated from those funds that are being solicited.

Mr. ADAMS. Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

I would oppose this bill for the reason that Mr. Piper just stated. He has taken into this category people who do not wish to be known as professional fund raisers. They are not professional fund raisers. They are advertisers. They merely write these letters or they write advertising to help the charitable institution for which they are paid, the same as any newspaper would be paid. Now if these people are brought under this bill, then our newspapers would probably be brought under it. For this reason I urge everybody in this House to vote this bill down as being a bad bill.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Cameron, Mr. Tompkins.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, this bill and this legislation is on a par with so many other bills and other legislation which we have dealt with this session, and that is in this respect, they have put a tag on this bill as the "Charitable Solicitations Act." They have gone out and sold a program to the public, and it is in many ways like a life insurance policy, where you think you have a life policy or an accident or a health insurance policy until you need it, and when you read the fine print you find out you do not have anything, but you have paid your premium. By that I mean, that in one section of this bill—I am just going to cite one instance and I am not going to deal any further with it—in some of the fine print in this bill they exempt community organizations made up of firemen, policemen, veterans, veterans' auxiliaries, mothers of persons who died in the armed forces of the United States, or civic or fraternal or neighborhood groups, schools or similar organizations that they will raise funds by solicitations not in excess of $1,000 in any one year. That "any one year" is important in that. But I said to you that there is many a volunteer fire company in this State that goes out and solicits funds in excess of $1,000 a year and I say to you that there are other organizations, and I will cite you one. In my home town there is the "Band Boosters Association," that helps out our high school and our community band. They go out and solicit funds for uniforms for these people, and they solicit in excess of $1,000. I want to just prove that with another citation: We have civic clubs such as our Kiwanis, Lions, and Rotary Clubs that are out soliciting funds, and they solicit in excess of $1,000 a year, for the benefit of projects which they are handling in the community. Under this bill when they do that they become subject to the provisions of this bill. That fine print I do not like in the bill and I am not going to vote for a slogan of "solicitations by charitable organizations." I am going to vote for the contents of the bill that is before me. That is the way we should all vote on it, not by what the slogan says, but what the bill says.

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, that the clerk return the same to the Senate with information that the House has passed the same with amendments in which the concurrence of the Senate is requested.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate bill No. 758, entitled:

An Act amending the act of June 24, 1939 (P. L. 872), entitled "The Penal Code" prohibiting certain business activities on Sunday.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Fineman.

Mr. FINEMAN. Mr. Speaker, with the unanimous consent of the House, I would like to make a brief statement prior to getting into the question of Senate bill 758.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair hears no objection, the gentleman will proceed.

Mr. FINEMAN. Mr. Speaker, during my four sessions in the House, it has been my happy lot, my good fortune to have earned the good will of many of the members of the House. I most assuredly do not want, at this late hour of this session, to do anything that will disturb that good will, but I will say to the House what I said in the Democratic caucus earlier today. Although I know that we are all tired, we have had a backbreaking session and we all want to get to our homes, nevertheless, because this is the waning hour of the present session, my responsibilities as a legislator do not in fact diminish, nor are they less in scope than they were at any time during the session. I am therefore constrained to do what I am about to do, even though it may take the time of this House I ask the members of this House to bear with me.

As a matter of fact, it is because my responsibilities at this moment are greater than perhaps they would have been earlier in the session that I am going to make my first motion.

MOTION TO RECOMMIT

Mr. FINEMAN. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be recommitted to the Committee on State Government.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. FINEMAN. Mr. Speaker, I moved that this bill be recommitted because I think it was manifestly unfair at this very late date in the current session to bring before the members of this House a bill of such scope as Senate bill 758.

The members of this House will remeber full well that in the 1959 session the then Sunday Blue Law bill that was passed, which was known as Senate bill 405, had received public hearings, there was an extensive debate of one entire day in this House, and a great deal of study and time was given to that bill. We have now been presented, at the last moment, with a bill that extends the scope of Senate bill 405, that is the Senate number of the 1959 session. I think this is wrong to give to the members of this House, without an opportunity to study and inquire into what effect the Blue Laws have had on the economy of this State. Has business, in fact, been harmed because they have had to close on Sundays? Have we chased any industry out of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania? These are pertinent questions that we should inquire into to see if there has been any traumatic effect on our economy by Senate bill 405 before we are asked to vote on such a bill as Senate bill 758.

It is for these reasons that I ask this motion be favorably received by the members of this House.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Does the gentleman from Erie, Mr. O'Dell, desire to be recognized on the motion to recommit?

Mr. O'DELL. I do, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman will proceed.

Mr. O'DELL. I am not the silver-tongued orator as is my opponent, but I ask everyone to vote against the motion to recommit.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Washington, Mr. Murphy.

Mr. MURPHY. Mr. Speaker, I also rise in opposition to the motion to recommit. In 1959 we debated this bill on the ramifications of this legislation for over five hours here on the floor of the House. I feel that each and every member of this House is well qualified to know what this bill does and that it should not be recommitted for further study or other delaying tactics. We ask for a roll call on the recommittal motion.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

The yeas and nays were required by Messrs. O'DELL and MURPHY and were as follows:

Shall the bill pass finally?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. For what purpose does the gentleman from Bucks, Mr. Williams, rise?

Mr. A. D. WILLIAMS, Jr. First of all, to offer amendments to this bill.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman is not in order for that purpose. He should have offered the amendments before the bill was agreed to on third reading.

The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Fineman.

Mr. FINEMAN. Mr. Speaker, am I to understand that at this time I am precluded from offering amendments?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. You certainly are. We will have to reconsider the vote by which the bill was agreed to on third reading. That is the reason the Chair asked the gentleman if he wished to be recognized before the bill was agreed to on third reading. The gentleman said he did not desire that recognition.

Mr. FINEMAN. Mr. Speaker, perhaps I did not understand the significance of the question that was put to me, but I think the whole membership knows full well that it was my intention, the majority and minority leaders both know, that I was about to offer seven amendments and I ask the courtesy of this House in supporting my motion for reconsideration of the vote by which it was agreed to on third reading.

RECONSIDERATION OF VOTE

Mr. FINEMAN. Mr. Speaker, I move that the vote by which this bill was agreed to on third reading be reconsidered.

Mr. A. D. WILLIAMS, Jr. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion .

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. MURPHY. Mr. Speaker, I ask for a roll call on the motion to reconsider.

Mr. JIM. Mr. Speaker, I second the request for a roll call.

Mr. MURPHY. Mr. Speaker, I withdraw my request for a roll call.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman from Washington, Mr. Murphy, withdraws his request for a roll call.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, so the members will know what we were talking about, up to the present hour of this session there has never been denied a right of any member, Republican or Democratic, to reconsider any vote and this was just a slip, because in our caucus he said he had amendments and Mr. Williams had amendments. I have asked my members to withdraw the motion. I want this session to end without ever breaking that rule, which we have honored to this hour.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

It was agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair will now recognize the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Fineman.

Mr. FINEMAN. Mr. Speaker, I yield to the gentleman from Bucks, Mr. Williams.

Mr. A. D. WILLIAMS, Jr. asked unanimous consent to offer amendments at this time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The amendments will be read by the clerk for information.

Amend Title, page 1, last line of Title, by inserting after 'Sunday": and excluding antiques from the personal property, the sale of which is prohibited on Sunday

Amend Bill, page 1, by inserting between the enacting clause and line 1:

Section 1. Section 699.10, act of June 24, 1939 (P. L. 872), known as "The Penal Code," added August 10, 1959 (P. L. 660), is amended to read:

Section 699.10. Selling Certain Personal Property on Sunday.—Whoever engages on Sunday in the business of selling, or sells or offers for sale, on such day, at retail, clothing and wearing apparel, clothing accessories, furniture, except antiques, housewares, home, business or office furnishings, household, business or office appliances, hardware, tools, paints, building and lumber supply materials, jewelry, silverware, and recordings, or toys, excluding novelties and souvenirs, shall, upon conviction thereof in a summary proceeding for the first offense, be sentenced to pay a fine of not exceeding one hundred dollars ($100), and for the second or any subsequent offense committed within one year after conviction for the first offense, be sentenced to pay a fine of not exceeding two hundred dollars ($200) or undergo imprisonment not exceeding thirty days in default thereof.

Each separate sale or offer to sell shall constitute a separate offense.

Information charging violations of this section shall be brought within seventy-two hours after the commission of the alleged offense and not thereafter.

Amend Sec. 1, page 1, line 1, by striking out all of line 1, "Code" in line 2, and inserting:

Section 2. The act

Amend Sec. 2, page 2, line 19, by striking out "2" and inserting: 3

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the House give unanimous consent to the offering of amendments at this time? Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Bucks, Mr. Williams, and asks the attention of the House while the gentleman explains his amendments.

Mr. A. D. WILLIAMS, Jr. Mr. Speaker, the purpose of these amendments is not to in any way affect the desire and intent of the bill presently before us. I think the bill before us is going to permit "mom and pop" meat stores to stay open in Pennsylvania. My amendments are for one purpose and for one purpose only—to permit "mom and pop" antique shops throughout Pennsylvania to sell antiques on Sunday.

Through, I think, inadvertence, in 1959, we did not exclude antiques in the definition of prohibited items, one of which was furniture. There are only two words in this entire amendment and they are that after the word "furniture" in the act would appear the words "except antiques." Pennsylvania wants tourists. Governor Lawrence wants tourists to tour Pennsylvania. We have just appropriated $200,000 for the promotion of the tourist business in Pennsylvania. Many of these tourists are people who come in on weekends to look at and shop for antiques. This particularly affects the town of New Hope in Bucks County and I am sure it affects many other areas of Pennsylvania.

I have no desire to defeat this bill. I think it is a fine bill, but I would appreciate support of these amendments. People today can buy liquor in Philadelphia on Sunday. As soon as the Governor signs the recent bill we are going to be able to buy liquor until 2 o'clock in the morning, and all we say is that these shops owned by husbands and wives, very small family enterprises, should be able to, not only show their antiques on Sunday, but be able to consummate sales. I do not think it in any way hurts our Blue Laws and I would certainly appreciate support for these amendments.

Mr. O'DELL. Mr. Speaker, I do not think a long speech is going to mean very much today with the temper of the House. These amendments were turned down two years ago in Senate bill 405, practically the same amendments, and I ask all members to vote "no" on the amendments. I ask for a roll call.

Mr. MURPHY. Mr. Speaker, we also ask for a roll call and ask the members to vote "no." This matter should be a separate amendment to the act and not be incorporated in these amendments.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

The yeas and nays were required by Messrs. MURPHY and O'DELL and were as follows:

Section 2. The act Amend Sec. 2, page 2, line 19 by striking out "2" and inserting: 3

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the House give unanimous consent to the offering of amendments at this time? Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Bucks, Mr. Williams.

Mr. A. D. WILLIAMS, Jr. Mr. Speaker, I will be brief. This amendment again is not aimed at the intent of this bill, but at the act that this bill covers. It would allow resort communities to sell or offer for sale, gifts, paintings or works of art, souvenirs or novelties. That is all it would do. My speech is the same; my reasons are the same; I assume that the roll call will be the same and I am willing to accept the last roll call.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Erie, Mr. O'Dell.

Mr. O'DELL. I request that the House does not accept the amendments.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman states that he is willing to accept a voice vote.

Mr. A. D. WILLIAMS, Jr. I am willing to accept the last roll call.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair believes that it would be just as simple and probably just as speedy to take another roll because there may be changes on the roll.

So the question was detemined in the negative and the amendments were not agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. FINEMAN asked unanimous consent to offer an amendment at this time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The amendment will be read by the clerk for information.

Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 699.14), page 2, line 9, by inserting after "offense": except that the sale or offer to sell more than one item to the same person on the same occasion shall constitute only one offense.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the House give unanimous consent to the offering of an amendment at this time? Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendment?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Fineman.

Mr. FINEMAN. May I ask the members of the House if they will be kind enough to give me their attention on this one amendment, because I feel that this amendment can be labeled nothing other than fairness in every sense of the word.

Mr. Speaker, Senate bill 758 provides that every separate sale or offer to sell shall constitute a separate offense. Now, on the first sale the fine is $100; on the second and every subsequent sale the fine is $200. Now, you know how the average consumer goes in to buy, particularly in the grocey store. She might go into the grocery and say to the proprietor, "Give me a can of beans, give me a half of pound of meat, and give me a dozen of some other commodities that comprise or constitute produce." Now this would be, under the terms of this act, three separate sales and three separate offenses, so that the person who made, in fact, that one sale, would be subject to fines totaling $500.00.

Now, all my amendments do, all they do, and I say this is eminently fair, is merely state that under such circumstances, such a transaction shall constitute one offense, not three separate offenses, which would carry a total maximum fine of $500, but one offense carrying the fine of $100. The amendments merely say that the sale or the offer to sell more than one item to the same person on the same occasion shall constitute only one offense. In every sense of the word, ladies and gentlemen, this is fair and should be built into this act if it is to become law. I ask your support of this amendment.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Erie, Mr. O'Dell.

Mr. O'DELL. Again I say I have a lot of arguments here to quote the law of 212 of the last session on Senate bill 405, which has nothing to do with this, I am not going to take a lot of time; I do not think the temper of the House or the people is in any mood for a long argument. I simply ask all the members to vote "no" on this amendment, and I ask for a roll call vote.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Fineman.

Mr. FINEMAN. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the gentleman from Erie permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. O'DELL. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Don't get technical or I will refer you to my legal counsel over here.

Mr. FINEMAN. Now let's just stay logical and not technical.

Mr. O'DELL. Theological?

Mr. FINEMAN. Logical.

Mr. O'DELL. Oh, logical.

Mr. FINEMAN. Can you advance one valid reason, one good reason, why the members of this House should not accept this amendment, other than to merely take the mike and say "Let's not get into lengthy debate, "and" I ask the members to vote 'no.' "

Mr. O'DELL. Well, what kind of an answer do you want? There is nothing in this bill that prevents the small "mom and pop" stores from staying open.

Mr. FINEMAN. My question has nothing to do with "mom and pop" stores. My question goes to those people who make a sale of several articles in one transaction, and, yet, for purposes of the offense in question will be fined as if they were concurrent transactions and will suffer the maximum fine that the act describes.

Mr. McCORMACK. Would the gentleman yield?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. For what purpose does the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. McCormack, rise?

Mr. McCORMACK. I would like to supply an answer for the gentleman from Erie, Mr. O'Dell, if he would yield.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the gentleman from Erie, Mr. O'Dell, yield to the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. McCormack?

Mr. O'DELL. He is my legal advisor.

Mr. McCORMACK. Mr. Speaker, the only legitimate answer that I can think of now, and I think it is a compelling one, is that if the amendments are accepted, the bill is killed. I think at this late hour all members, the majority of the members, want to vote on the merits of the bill. If the amendments get through at this hour, the bill is killed.

Mr. FINEMAN. May I interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. McCORMACK. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. FINEMAN. Will the gentleman tell me, since the sine die resolution is dated for ten o'clock tonight, if these amendments go in, is the bill killed?

Mr. McCORMACK. I told my wife that I would be home at six, for dinner, Mr. Fineman.

Mr. FINEMAN. Well, Mr. McCormack, there are 210 members in this House. We would discharge you and allow you to leave to have dinner with your wife and still leave 209 to vote. Now, since the tenor of these amendments are so reasonable that no one can conceive arguing against the merits of them, it does not become anybody to say, let us cast them aside because they are last-minute amendments.

Mr. McCORMACK. I will tell you what I will do. If you withdraw those amendments and this bill becomes a law, I might help you debate the merits of them next session.

Mr. FINEMAN. Thanks a heap.

Well, Mr. Speaker, it is obvious that I have not gotten a satisfactory reply to the question that I put to Mr. O'Dell, and in light of the absence of a satisfactory reply to that question and if he had the reasonableness of what I am asking, I think the members should be constrained to vote for these amendments. I ask for a roll call.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. A roll will be taken.

The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Washington, Mr. Capano.

Mr. CAPANO. Anyone who deliberately violates the law should be willing to accept the consequences which go with it. So if it constitutes three offenses, he should pay for three offenses.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendment?

So the question was determined in the negative and the amendment was not agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. FINEMAN. Mr. Speaker, I am truly chagrined and deeply saddened that the members of this General Assembly could cast aside with such ease what is obviously a correction of a defect in this bill.

Frankly, I am opposed to this type of legislation. I think it is a detrimental step that will harm industry tremendously in this State, but I am practical enough to realize what the tenor in this chamber is. I knew what the outcome would be on the bill itself even before I offered any amendments today, and I reconciled myself to that outcome, but I have felt that if we were going to have this kind of law, at least, let us make it fair and equitable and reasonable.

I am distressed, truly distressed, that we have cast aside with such ease amendments with as much merit as these. Now, since I know what the tenor of the House is, I am not going to drag this out. I want to tell the members of the House what my plans had been. I have a total of seven amendments. I have three pages of interrogatories that I had prepared for someone to answer and I had prepared for debate on the bill itself. I fully intended to take three or four hours on this bill, but I know if I were to undertake such a course of conduct I would be losing many friends whose friendship I do not want to sever.

Therefore, Mr. Speaker, I am merely going to read briefly the nature of each of these amendments that I was going to offer for the purposes of the record, and I will be happy to take as the result for each of those amendments the roll call on the last one.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Does the gentleman desire to offer his amendments?

Mr. FINEMAN. I do offer these amendments, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. Speaker, I might say it is a sad experience to have to leave this session on the last day with a batting average of zero, and, boy, I have had a zero today.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Does the gentleman have any perference as to the order of the presentation of his amendments?

Mr. FINEMAN. They are marked on the envelope.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Would the gentleman desire to have the amendments considered as one package?

Mr. FINEMAN. They may be considered as one package, and if I have the consent of the House, I would like to state briefly what each of the amendments does and cover it in that fashion.

Mr. FINEMAN asked unanimous consent to offer amendments at this time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The amendments will be read by the clerk for information.

Amend Title, page 1, last line of Title, by inserting after "Sunday": and further defining when the sale or offer to sell certain personal property on Sunday shall constitute a separate offense.

Amend Bill, page 1, by inserting between the enacting clause and line 1:

Section 1. Section 699.10, act of June 24, 1939 (P. L. 872), known as "The Penal Code," added August 10, 1959 (P. L. 660), is amended to read:

Section 699.10. Selling Certain Personal Property on Sunday.—Whoever engages on Sunday in the business of selling, or sells or offers for sale, on such day, at retail, clothing and wearing apparel, clothing accessories, furniture, housewares, home, business or office furnishings, household, business or office appliances, hardware, tools, paints, building and lumber supply materials, jewelry, silverware, watches, clocks, luggage, musical instruments and recordings, or toys, excluding novelties and souvenirs, shall, upon conviction thereof in a summary proceeding for the first offense, be sentenced to pay a fine of not exceeding one hundred dollars ($100), and for the second or any subsequent offense committed within one year after conviction for the first offense, be sentenced to pay a fine of not exceeding two hundred dollars ($200) or undergo imprisonment not exceeding thirty days in default thereof.

Each separate sale or offer to sell shall constitute a separate offense, except that the sale or offer to sell more than one item to the same person on the same occasion shall constitute only one offense.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the House give unanimous consent to the offering of amendments at this time? Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. For what purpose does the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Heavey, rise?

Mr. HEAVEY. Mr. Speaker, I am going to stick my neck out. I am always in trouble. I am no lawyer, but it seems to me the gentleman here is trying to get, by interrogation, somebody to prove his point. It seems to me he ought to prove his point himself.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair is just trying to give the gentleman an opportunity to explain his amendments.

Mr. HEAVEY. Another thing, Mr. Speaker, I am just wondering whom he represents. Does he represent people in his own district or somebody else?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. We will find that out.

Mr. HEAVEY. Another thing, Mr. Speaker, it seems to me that sometime I heard there were Ten Commandments and one of them was, Thou shalt keep holy the Sabbath Day.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. We are not debating the bill; we are considering the amendments to the bill at this point.

The Chair will recognize the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Fineman, for the purpose of explaining the amendments.

Mr. FINEMAN. Mr. Speaker, I just want to assure the gentleman that my motives spring from good sources. I think everyone in this House knows that I fight for what I consider convictions and principles and, if I chance the risk of losing the friendship of the members of this House by dragging this out as I had challenged the House to do, it would be nothing less than good principles that would move me to do it.

Finally, Mr. Speaker, on the question of the Ten Commandments, I just want to remind the gentleman that his day of Sabbath is not everyone's day of Sabbath.

Mr. Speaker, the second amendment I wanted to offer was the same as amendment No. 1, but I was making it applicable to what was known as Senate bill 405, passed in the 1959 session.

Amendment No. 3 was likewise an amendment to what was known as Senate bill 405 of the 1959 session, also excluding from the provisions of that act any person employing 10 or less people, just as such a provision is incorporated in Senate bill 758 of the current session.

Amendment No. 4 . . .

Mr. Speaker, by offering the amendments, do I understand that they will be spread upon the record?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The amendments will be placed in the record in the order in which they are being presented.

Mr. FINEMAN. All right, then I will desist in any further explanation in the interest of saving the time of this House.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair thanks the gentleman.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

The yeas and nays were required by Messrs. O'DELL and FINEMAN and were as follows:

So the question was determined in the negative and the amendments were not agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, is that a roll call on the amendments or the bill?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. This is a roll call on the bill.

Mr. SCHAAF. Mr. Speaker, I take exception to that. I intended to ask questions on this bill, and my understanding was that this was a roll call on the package of amendments.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair feels that the gentleman is entitled to be heard. The Chair clearly stated that we were taking a roll call and announcing the roll call on all the amendments. The Chair asked of the House, "Are there any other amendments?" and if the House would agree to the bill on third reading, and finally, on final passage.

Mr. SCHAAF. Mr. Speaker, unfortunately, I am human; I cannot be observant of every move and action on the part of the Chair, but I do take the greatest exception to this and I think this is hardly the way to handle the game on the last day.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair will be as fair as possible and, if the gentleman desires to be heard, we will clear the board and give the gentleman a chance to be heard on the bill.

The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Erie, Mr. Schaaf.

The Chair would like to inform the gentleman that there was certainly no attempt on the part of the present occupant of the Chair to—

Mr. SCHAAF. I understand that, Mr. Speaker. I apologize to the Chair for my remarks. I only suggest that I was unobservant, but I did intend to debate the bill.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Erie, Mr. Schaaf.

Mr. SCHAAF. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate one of the proponents of this bill.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. This is a Senate bill and there are no sponsors—

Mr. SCHAAF. I understand that, Mr. Speaker. I would like one of the proponents of the bill to permit himself to be interrogated.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the gentleman from Erie, Mr. O'Dell, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. O'DELL. Mr. Speaker, if the questions have to do with retailing, I will permit myself to be interrogated. If it is a point of law, then I will refer to one of my illustrious colleagues—

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman will permit himself to be interrogated.

Mr. SCHAAF. Mr. Speaker, I would then ask what the purpose of this bill is?

Mr. O'DELL. The purpose of the bill is to give to the great majority of the people the privilege of staying home with their families on a Sunday and not being forced to work.

Mr. SCHAAF. Do I understand the gentleman correctly, then, that this bill has no moral overtones to it, that its purpose is an economic purpose?

Mr. O'DELL. No, I would say it is health and welfare. That covers a multitude of sins in Pennsylvania.

Mr. SCHAAF. Mr. Speaker, do I understand the gentleman then to mean, in answer to my previous question, that this bill has no moral overtones to it?

Mr. O'DELL. Has no what?

Mr. SCHAAF. Has no moral purpose?

Mr. O'DELL. Moral purpose?

Mr. SCHAAF. Yes, in other words, you are not advocating the protection of Sunday as the Sabbath, is that correct?

Mr. O'DELL. Well, I think it is protecting the Sabbath the same as Senate bill 405 did last year.

Mr. SCHAAF. Mr. Speaker, I am not going to interrogate the gentleman on what happened in 1959, but I want to be clear on this. Your first statement was that this was to enable people to stay home and rest on Sunday.

Mr. O'DELL. For their health and welfare.

Mr. SCHAAF. For the health and welfare of those people. Now what people are you speaking of?

Mr. O'DELL. The people who are forced to work on Sunday.

Mr. SCHAAF. Who are forced to work on Sunday. Now, Mr. Speaker, the gentleman comes from the same county. Does he know of any particular place, and I will not ask him the specific place, but does he know of any particular place having 10 or more employes which is involved in the distribution of fresh meats, produce and groceries that is open on Sundays?

Mr. O'DELL. No, I do not. Fortunately, we do not have that condition in Erie.

Mr. SCHAAF. Mr. Speaker, I would then ask the gentleman on whose behalf he proposes this legislation?

Mr. O'DELL. Mr. Speaker, I think that is a personal question and I refuse to answer on whose behalf particularly. I think if you travel around the country you will find that over in Ohio all the large markets are open; you get into New Jersey and I think all the large markets are open; I think some of them are open in New York State; in Pennsylvania, particularly on behalf of some of the people who have to work in these meat-cutting places and these groceries on Sunday, who want to stay home with their families. I do not want to see the great State of Pennsylvania become an open, seven-day-a-week State like a lot of the other States.

Mr. SCHAAF. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman has indicated previously that he is familiar with merchandising. Did I understand him correctly?

Mr. O'DELL. I beg the gentleman's pardon?

Mr. SCHAAF. Did the gentleman indicate, Mr. Speaker, that he is familiar with merchandising, retail merchandising?

Mr. O'DELL. I have been in it since 1919.

Mr. SCHAAF. On the basis of the gentleman's familiarity with retail merchandising, could he give us, as members of this House, some idea as to how large a merchandising operation could he engage in with nine people as employes?

Mr. O'DELL. How large a merchandising operation?

Mr. SCHAAF. That is correct.

Mr. O'DELL. Well, under the old-fashioned way of doing business or the modern way of doing business?

Mr. SCHAAF. The gentleman has indicated that he is familiar with merchandising, so I assume that he is modern.

Mr. O'DELL. What type of business?

Mr. SCHAAF. We are concerned about the sale of fresh meats, produce and groceries.

Mr. O'DELL. Well, you can conduct a rather large operation, if you care to.

Mr. SCHAAF. The gentleman agrees then, Mr. Speaker, that he can conduct a rather large operation with nine or less employes?

Mr. O'DELL. You could conduct a large enough operation to prevent the people in your vicinity from starving to death.

Mr. SCHAAF. Mr. Speaker, could the gentleman inform us why the line of demarkation between nine and ten? Why are ten or more employes a prohibited operation and nine or less a non-prohibited operation?

Mr. O'DELL. I do not know what the difference is. It was in the bill and I accepted it as being in the bill.

Mr. SCHAAF. Would the gentleman agree that the motive for this exception as the bill was written and drafted—Mr. Speaker, does the gentleman have a copy of the bill before him?

Mr. O'DELL. Yes, I do.

Mr. SCHAAF. Then the gentleman will note that it is amended so that the previously non-prohibited operation was three or less and then it was amended to ten or less. Could the gentleman inform us, as a proponent of this legislation, why this amendment was inserted in the bill?

Mr. O'DELL. So that it would pass the Senate.

Mr. SCHAAF. Thank you, Mr. Speaker. I thank the gentleman for his candid replies to my interrogation. I would like to make a brief statement on this piece of legislation.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman is in order and will proceed.

Mr. SCHAAF. Mr. Speaker, I do suppose that I am advocating a popular cause, but I just want to say simply this, that we here in the legislature are being hoodwinked, I suspect, for the second time in a row. This legislation comes to us in the guise of being a moral step forward for Pennsylvanians. Mr. Speaker, be that as it may, the mere fact that you allow small supermarkets to operate and not big supermarkets to operate, to me, destroys entirely the moral overtones of this piece of legislation.

If you are going to protect the little corner grocery store, fine. I can see justification for omitting the little delicatessen, the "ma and pa" stores that are referred to, the little delicatessen, the little grocery, the little variety store, from the teeth of such a law as this. Out of the simple basis of expediency you are going to permit small supermarkets to operate and you are just trying to drive out large supermarkets. Let us stop kidding ourselves, you are talking economics.

I suggest, Mr. Speaker, that the proponents of this type of legislation, their motives—we talk in terms of health and welfare, but let us be brutally frank, we are talking collective bargaining, we are talking economics. I have long felt, although I admit that I do not practice it all the time, that collective bargaining is not a function of the legislature, although we do it. It is a function of the bargaining table.

Mr. Speaker, I am opposed to this legislation, I regret that I have to take a position in opposition to it, but to have this come over on the last day of this session and to ask us to pass this bill under the guise that this is going to uphold the moral principles of Pennsylvania, I disagree.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Does the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Sullivan, desire recognition?

Mr. SULLIVAN. Mr. Speaker, I would first like to compliment the Chair on its handling of the delicate situation which we have just gone through. I realize tempers are short, and I can imagine that the Chair's temper is just as short as anybody else's.

I am not going to make a speech, because as the previous speakers have stated, it has been a long, hard day. However, I am going to ask the members on both sides of the House to vote for Senate bill 758. Thank you.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, that the clerk return the same to the Senate with information that the House of Representatives has passed the same without amendment.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair would like to compliment the House on its decorum during the debate on this very important bill and to express its compliments to the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Fineman, for the fine cooperation that he gave on the offering of his amendments to the bill.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Erie, Mr. O'Dell.

Mr. O'DELL. May I also say that I feel the House owes a deep debt of gratitude to Mr. Fineman. He could have prolonged this discussion for several hours, and I feel that he conducted his presentation in a very fine manner. I think we owe him a deep debt of gratitude and he certainly has my hearfelt thanks.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. For what purpose does the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Heavey, rise?

Mr. HEAVEY. Mr. Speaker, I second the remarks of the gentleman. I was hot. I think Mr. Fineman is a very fine man and I want to apologize.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. BOIES. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. BOIES. Mr. Speaker, just very briefly, since we are handing out so many compliments. In all my terms here I do not think I have seen better service through long hours and more attentive cooperation than we have gotten from the page boys. I think we owe them a vote of thanks.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair also feels that the boys have done a magnificent job this session and are to be complimented.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. WALSH. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. WALSH. Mr. Speaker, I have been down here for five sessions. Each session becomes progressively worse. I feel in justice to good legislation—for instance, here we have voted on amendments offered by the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Fineman and we did not even know what was in them. They were not read. I feel there should be something worked out along the lines expressed many times by the Speaker of the House, Mr. Andrews, whereby there would be a cut-off date on bills leaving this House and going to the Senate and on bills coming from the Senate over here, so that we would have time to read these bills and know exactly what is in them.

I feel we have had more legislation dumped on our desks this week than in the whole session combined. It is unfair. You do not give the legislation a chance. We are voting blindly on a lot of things. I feel that in the interim, since we are on annual sessions, a system should be worked out to eliminate this. It causes confusion. We have been here since 10 o'clock yesterday morning until 4:30. We have had two or three hours sleep, our nerves are shattered, we do not know half the time what we are doing.

I thank you.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. BRETH. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. BRETH. Mr. Speaker, I have long planned to make this remark, and I want to do it now and put it in the record at this time and get it over with.

I have been down here for eight terms and I want to personally thank and congratulate both of our leaders and the members for one particular thing. This is the first session in eight that I have been a member of this House in which we have not had one single quorum call. I think that is a great compliment to our leadership and to our membership. I want to put that officially on the record, that this is the first time I can remember that we never had a single quorum call. I wish to congratulate particularly the two leaders.

STATEMENT BY MINORITY LEADER

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, rather than offering discharge resolutions on four resolutions, for the purpose of the record, if the majority leader would like to call a meeting of the Committee on Rules we would like to have the following resolutions considered and reported to the House for action:

Resolution No. 56, Joint Committee to inquire into the administration of the State Harness Racing Commission.

Resolution No. 77, the Attorney General requested to intervene in the city of Philadelphia for the purpose of seeking impanelment of a special grand jury.

Resolution No. 100, Attorney General to make public all information involving corruption in the various State departments. This was put in on August 15, 1961, in connection with certain disclosures in the Welfare Department.

The final one is a request for a Joint Legislative Commission to investigate professional licensing bureaus in the Department of Public Instruction.

Those are four resolutions that we would have probably put in a discharge resolution for, but we are calling on the Committee on Rules to meet and report these resolutions to the floor for a vote.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair would like to inquire of the gentleman from McKean, Mr. Johnson, as to what his final statement or request was.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. In lieu of putting in a discharge resolution on those four resolutions, the request would be for the chairman of the Committee on Rules to call a meeting of the committee to consider those resolutions for the purpose of reporting them to the floor.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I understand his request to be that before we adjourn sine die a meeting of the Committee on Rules be called regarding these resolutions so that they may be discussed in the rules committee, is that right?

Mr. Speaker, I will grant that request rather than go through the discharge resolutions.

I ask permission to turn to page 6, bills on concurrence in Senate amendments, and I call up H. B. 1707, printer's No. 2721.

Mr. JIM. Mr. Speaker, for the bill we just voted on, my button would not work. I would like to be recorded as voting "aye."

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The remarks of the gentleman will be spread upon the record. We cannot change the roll call.

Mr. JIM. Mr. Speaker, I have a wonderful record. Up until this time I thought I would go out of this House today with a perfect record of five years of never having missed a roll call.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the majority leader.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, Mr. Charles Jim in five years has never missed a roll call and I know that his request is on the record, but he is asking what can be done to be recorded as voting since his button did not register. He has never missed a roll call in this House, either voting "aye" or "nay."

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The remarks of the gentleman will be spread upon the record of the House.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. For what purpose does the gentleman from Dauphin, Mr. Hocker, rise?

Mr. HOCKER. Mr. Speaker, I admire a man who went through five sessions without missing a roll call. I wish it were I. Is there any motion or anything that can be done to help this man? He was here; he voted but the machine evidently did not work, or something.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair will attempt to outline the procedure that we can follow. With unanimous consent of the House, the gentleman's name can be added to the roll.

Mr. HOCKER. I so move, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair hears no objection. The gentleman's name will be added to the roll.

Mr. JIM. Mr. Speaker, I am grateful to the Speaker for the wonderful thing that he has done for me, and also to the members of the House. I want to be honest. I want to be sincere. I have been here five years straight at the opening of every session. Why that button did not register I do not know.

RESOLUTION

SPECIAL COMMITTEE TO INVESTIGATE VOTING

Messrs. EILBERG and McCANN asked and obtained unanimous consent to offer a resolution.

The resolution was read by the clerk as follows:

In the House of Representatives, September 1, 1961.

Whereas, In various political subdivisions it appears that there were more votes cast than there were residents eligible to vote according to the 1960 United States Decennial Census; and

Whereas, At this time it is impossible to determine the cause or reasons for this disparity; and

Whereas, On the basis of promoting clean elections, an investigation should be made to ascertain the real facts; therefore be it

Resolved, That the Speaker of the House of Representatives appoint a special committee of the House, composed of five Democrats and five Republicans, to make an investigation to determine to what extent the number of persons voting in any one political subdivision or portion thereof exceeded the 1960 Unted States Census figures of the population therein eligible to vote; and be it further

Resolved, That the committee report from time to time to the Governor of Pennsylvania as to their findings and present a final report to the General Asembly on or before February 1, 1963.

On the question,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the minority leader.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, I am glad that the members of the majority party are finally getting what you might call "political religion."

If you will recall, those of you who were here in the 1959 session, when the newspapers in Philadelphia and elsewhere were talking about vote frauds in the State, that people registered out of cemetery lots, and so forth, we put in a resolution to investigate what was later brought to light at that time and we received very little help from anyone in ferreting out and bringing to light and showing what were obvious fraud disclosures in various big cities in this State of ours. What this resolution does is along the same lines, to investigate places where there were more votes cast than were indicated by the census, and we will go along on that.

The reason I asked the chairman of the Rules Committee earlier today to call a Rules Committee meeting was to consider four resolutions that we have in committee to investigate certain things that are of tremendous importance to the people of Pennsylvania, right at this time, things that make this resolution that we are working upon now pale into insignificance.

We will go along on this resolution as a step in the right direction, and if there are places in Pennsylvania where there was fraud in connection with too many people being registered for the number of people who are there, we should know about it. Therefore, I am asking the members on this side of the House to go along with this resolution, but before we vote on it I want to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Eilberg.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Eilberg, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. EILBERG. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, so the House will know exactly what we are voting on, and as you have been the chief proponent of this resolution, just what are you asking to do by this resolution?

Mr. EILBERG. Mr. Speaker, I am informed that in the counties of Cumberland and Snyder here are voting districts where more people have voted in recent elections than the total population of those voting districts. I desire that this bipartisan committee look ino those particular voting districts and any other voting districts—

The SPEAKER pro tempore. For what purpose does the gentleman from Cumberland, Mr. Kistler, rise?

Mr. KISTLER. Mr. Speaker, I cannot hear what the gentleman is saying and he is speaking about my county.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. There is too much confusion on the floor of the House. Members will take their seats, this is an important interrogation which I think the members wish to hear.

Mr. EILBERG. Mr. Speaker, to reiterate, I am informed that there are voting districts in Snyder and Cumberland counties where, in recent elections, they have voted more people than their population is in those respective counties. Because of these complaints that I have received as chairman of the Elections Committee, and in order to consider these complaints and any other complaints that we might receive, I have advocated the passage of this resolution.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, I yield to the gentleman from Cumberland, Mr. Kistler, but then I would like to return for further interrogation.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Does the gentleman from Cumberland, Mr. Kistler, desire to be recognized?

Mr. KISTLER. Yes, Mr. Speaker. I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Eilberg.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the gentleman permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. EILBERG. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. KISTLER. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman how he arrives at his estimate that there were more voted in Cumberland County than were registered?

Mr. EILBERG. By the last census figures.

Mr. KISTLER. By a formula that you arrived at that you applied to the census?

Mr. EILBERG. No, indeed, by the number of people who had voted, the totals of which are in excess of the last census figures we have available.

Mr. KISTLER. I thank the gentleman.

Mr. Speaker, I am one of the Representatives from Cumberland County, and I would just like to say this for the benefit of the members of this House, and also for the benefit of the people of Pennsylvania.

In Cumberland County, we have two parties, the majority party and the Republican Party, and I can tell you without any doubt in my mind whatsoever that both parties conduct themselves in my county beyond any possible reproach. I say this to the people of Pennsylvania, that we on the Republican side welcome you to Cumberland County. Investigate to your heart's content and you will find nothing wrong there on either side of the aisle in that county. Thank you.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Now, Mr. Speaker, one further question. I believe the gentleman stated they intend to go into Cumberland County and Snyder County. Do you have newspaper clippings from the newspapers in Lackawanna County of the widespread over-registration in Lackawanna County as a result of the disclosures last fall by the newspapers?

Mr. EILBERG. I have heard of such a complaint and I would expect that this committee would look into that situation.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. You would then look into it in Lackawanna County. Have you heard any complaints in the city of Philadelphia as to more votes polled there than there were people living in the district?

Mr. EILBERG. Mr. Speaker, at no time that I am aware of have the number of people who voted in the election in Philadelphia exceeded the population, the census population of Philadelphia.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Do you intend, according to the city of Philadelphia census, to investigate registrations of voters who are registered and voting at a particular address and when you come to investigate you may find that they do not live at that particular address?

Mr. EILBERG. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman has seen the original resolution which I offered and which he rejected. He proposed, actually dictated, I believe, the resolution which we are now considering. Certainly he knows the scope of that investigation. I have limited my resolution solely to the particular kind of situation described in that resolution.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Is there any reason why, in drawing up the resolution, you did not expand it to encompass the fact that there are places where there are people alleged to be living at an address and when you come to check on it they do not live there?

Mr. EILBERG. Mr. Speaker, I became interested in this particular subject as chairman of the Elections Committee. The particular complaint that came to my attention, it seemed to me, involved elections. I do not intend to go into complaints or alleged complaints which might possibly exist in the entire registration in the election field. This would be physically impossible.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. A further question: This resolution calls for a committee of ten, five to be appointed from each party. How would you contemplate that they would proceed during this interim? I take it you have the census figures, you have the records, of the voting in that particular election district and with that information which you already have, which disclose these supposed irregularities, how would you intend to proceed?

Mr. EILBERG. Mr. Speaker, I had originally contemplated that the elections committee itself would handle this, but at the suggestion of the speaker, Mr. Johnson, I agree that there should be a bipartisan committee. It would seem to me that since this is a bipartisan committee approach, that the sensible thing would be to hold a meeting and let that bipartisan committee decide what approach should be followed.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, does this resolution have any subpoena powers?

Mr. EILBERG. As far as I know, it does not.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. What you might then be embarking upon would be an inquiry in the nature of a fishing expedition, would you not?

Mr. EILBERG. We certainly do not intend it as a fishing expedition. I have particular complaints and the gentleman has referred to another complaint. As far as I am concerned, as a member of that bipartisan committee, and I would assume I would be appointed as a member of that bipartisan committee, we would start with those particular complaints and, of course, we would invite any other complaints from any other members of the House.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. I thank the gentleman.

Mr. Speaker, as I stated at the outset of the interrogation, we will support this resolution. We are in favor of any resolution which will ferret out any wrong-doing in the State. That is the reason we are asking today that four very important resolutions be reported to this floor for a vote—resolutions which, as I said, go to the very heart of the government of this Commonwealth. I am therefore asking the membership on this side of the House to support this resolution.

Mr. WARGO. Mr. Speaker, since Lackawanna County was mentioned, I feel I should say a few words.

First, I would like to say that our election laws give both parties the right to man the polls. Living in communities such as mine, we find that everybody knows everybody else. The Republican Party in my county for years has been hollering "ringer," "fake," and so forth. it is an insult to the people representing the Republican Party on these boards. In the last couple elections in my county we had a so-called F. B. I. investigation. After further check we find they were imported by the International Salt Company, which is known up there as "The Company."

Mr. Speaker, I am a political leader in my little community. I have the right to appoint overseers to my board. We elect a judge, a majority inspector and a minority inspector who will protect us. I have complete faith in these people. They know everyone there, and I am sure no "ringers" can come into my town. It is high time that the people on the other side who have been hollering about Lackawanna County just roll up your sleeves and get out and work to win an election by getting the people to vote for your party. We do that and I think it is about time we stopped throwing these bombs. I, too, welcome this investigation.

Mr. MAY. Mr. Speaker, this is the first occasion that I have come to the microphone, but I want to tell the gentleman from Philadelphia who has proposed this resolution that the people of Snyder County would be very glad to have anybody who thinks they can show us that we do things in error and are not just to all people to prove that. Therefore, I say, with a great deal of concern that I would be delighted to be his host, and host to these ten people and present all the evidence that we have to show this is not true. Thank you.

On the question recurring,
Will the House adopt the resolution?
It was adopted.

SENATE MESSAGE

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION SERIAL No. 131

The clerk of the Senate being introduced presented an extract from the Journal of the Senate, which was read as follows:

In the Senate, August 30, 1961.

Resolved (The House of Representatives concurring), That the Joint State Government Commission be directed to study and investigate the subject of reapportioning this Commonwealth with respect to representation in the Senate of Pennsylvania, and be it further

Resolved, That the Joint State Government Commission report to the 1963 session of the General Assembly its findings and recommendations, with a draft of legislation necessary to carry the recommendations into effect.

Ordered, that the clerk present the same to the House of Representatives for its concurrence.

On the question,
Will the House concur in the resolution of the Senate?

The SPEAKER protempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Goldstein.

Mr. M. H. GOLDSTEIN. Of course, I cannot interrogate the sponsor of this resolution and I do not know whether the sponsor is a Democrat or Republican. This is one of the silliest resolutions ever introduced. Reapportionment of the Senate was part of the Democratic platform of 1958. We have been here for eight long months and we do not need resolutions on this subject matter. We need action. We have been in a cemetery insofar as reapportionment is concerned in the Senate and the House. I say that we should vote against a resolution such as this. It is absolutely preposterous.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, do I understand this is for a House committee to investigate the Senatorial reapportionment?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. This is a concurrent resolution directing the Joint State Government Commission to make a study on the subject of reapportioning this Commonwealth with respect to representation in the Senate of Pennsylvania.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, at this stage when this resolution came over, the Speaker informed me about this resolution. This is a resolution in which the Joint State Government Commision would study the reapportionment of the State Senate and present a report?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. That is correct.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I ask the Speaker to assign that resolution to the Rules Committee.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair hears objection to the immediate consideration of the resolution. The resolution will lie over for referral by the Speaker of the House.

For what purpose does the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Goldstein, rise?

Mr. M. H. GOLDSTEIN. I believe that in the 1959 session, or perhaps in the last days of the session in 1960, because I believe in proper reapportionment no matter where the chips may fall, I introduced such a resolution. The Democratic Party was in control of the administration of this particular body and that resolution never saw the light of day. We call this type of resolution sheer fakery.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, the reason I ask that this resolution go to the Rules Committee is that most of the people on the Joint State Government Commission have indicated that this is not an item dealing with a situation in which the Joint State Government Commision was asked to give its findings and recommendations; they could give you all the material but the reapportionment committee would handle it. This, I think, was discussed previously at a meeting by Speaker Andrews and others, and I thought the resolution that was coming up dealt with one other item. There must be one other Senate resolution there, and for this reason I ask that the Speaker, in his wisdom—assign it to the Rules Committee.

The SPEAKER (Hiram G. Andrews) IN THE CHAIR

The SPEAKER. The Chair desires to make a statement in this connection. It would be all right for the Elections Committee to ask for figures, but to turn this sort of thing over into the keeping of the Joint State Government Commission is to assign that commission to an area of action for which it is not designed and we could ultimately, if we continue that sort of thing, destroy the usefulness of the commission which is to have no opinions of its own but to find facts and report facts as the legislature may desire. I hope that the resolution will go to the Rules Committee for more mature consideration.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, I second the request to refer the resolution to the Committee on Rules.

The SPEAKER. The resolution is referred to the Committee on Rules.

SENATE MESSAGE

CONCURRENCE IN HOUSE RESOLUTION No. 102

The clerk of the Senate being introduced, informed that the Senate has concurred in the resolution from the House of Representatives as follows:

In the House of Representatives, August 22, 1961.

Relating to Joint State Government Commision studies and investigations.

SENATE MESSAGE

SENATE RESOLUTION SERIAL No. 132

Resolved (The House of Representatives concurring), That during the interim between sessions, the members may file bills with the Secretary of the Senate and the Chief Clerk of the House of Representatives. Such bills shall be filed and referred to the Standing Committees by the President or President Pro Tempore of the Senate and the Speaker of the House of Representatives, providing the subject matter of the bill does not violate the limitations prescribed by the Constitution, and be it further

Resolved, That, with the approval of the President Pro Tempore of the Senate, a meeting of any Standing Combittee of the Senate may be called by its chairman, and with the approval of the Speaker of the House of Representatives a meeting of any Standing Committee of the House may be called by its chairman in accordance with the provisions of this resolution, and be it further

Resolved, That each Standing Committee of the Senate and the House of Representatives is hereby authorized to study, analyze and consider all bills or other pertinent facts relating to the subjects which would fall within its jurisdiction during the session of the Legislature, including any recess, and after final adjournment, and until the commencement of the next general session.

Ordered, that the clerk present the same to the House of Representativs for its concurrnce.

On the question,

Will the House concur in the resolution of the Senate?

It was concurred in.

Ordered, that the clerk inform the Senate accordingly.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the majority leader.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I request unanimous consent of this House to call up the following bills for concurrence in Senate amendments:

House bill 1283, printer's No. 2714. These bills are on the members' desks and were caucused on.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the minority whip.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, before the attendance in this House deteriorates any further, I want to say at this point that we still have some important legislation to be considered, and I do not think it is fair to the people of the State nor to the members of this House who are staying here that we should vote anybody on any bill excepting those who are present and in their seats.

The SPEAKER. That is correct.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I ask the members to bear with us. We have five concurrences remaining and these concurrences are extremely important. House bill 773 is the Pennsylvania State University appropriation. I ask that the members bear with us. I am sure at the rate we are going that we will be finished within the hour.

The SPEAKER. There is one of these measures that will require 140 votes.

The Chair wants to say, at any time when we are passing on resolutions that must be voted upon, if the Chair has any reason to believe there is a lack of a quorum, he himself will institute a quorum call.

Will the House concur in the amendments made by the Senate?

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I request that the House concur in the amendments made by the Senate.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Cameron, Mr. Tompkins.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, do I understand the majority leader has made a motion to concur in these amendments?

The SPEAKER. That is right.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Well, Mr. Speaker, this bill deals with the area of technical schools. It was discussed by Dr. Whittaker in our caucus and we concur.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Dauphin, Mr. Bowman.

Mr. BOWMAN. Mr. Speaker, I still have not located that particular print number. That is my problem.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, I request this bill be passed over temporarily until the page boys get the bills up from the bill room.

The SPEAKER. Of course, this was added after the calendar was made up and the page boys have no direction to distribute it.

Mr. TOMPKINS. We appreciate that, Mr. Speaker, but there are many members who do not have a copy of this bill on their desks and I think they ought to have one.

The SPEAKER. The Chair would suggest that we go back to the calendar and take the concurrences up later when they have been distributed.

On the question,

Will the House concur in the amendments made by the Senate?

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I request that the House concur in the amendments made by the Senate.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Centre, Mr. Fulmer.

Mr. FULMER. Mr. Speaker, again I would like to address my remarks to House bill 773, which is the appropriation bill for the Pennsylvania State University.

Allow me to say that in making these comments I want you to know that I am fully aware of the fact that this university does not belong to me, does not belong to the constituents in Centre County, but that the Pennsylvania State University is the land grant university of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, and therefore it belongs to the people of Pennsylvania.

I realize that each of you has received numerous letters setting forth the need for additional funds. Likewise I am fully conscious of the fact that some of you have been reminded of this situation to the point, probably, of some annoyance.

The other day, in this House, the original bill was amended to increase the appropriation by $1,500,000, which brought the total to $20 million. For your information and edification and for the record, I would like to mention these facts:

No. 1, in 1959 this legislature appropriated $35 million for the Pennsylvania State University for a biennium of 1959-1961. In other words, the appropriation per 12 months was $17 million.

Mr. Speaker, and members of the House, I beg your indulgence for only a few moments more. This year the administration submitted a budget of $17 million for the Pennsylvania State University for a 12-month period. You will note in the bill the amount listed is $18,500,000. Some of you, I know, are of the impression that this indicates an increase of $1,500,000. This is not done to distort the picture; this is not done in ill faith by the administration. As you recall, in the beginning of this session we passed legislation which placed the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania on a different fiscal year, and therefore the budget for this fiscal year 1961-1962, necessarily had to be for 13 months. This then is the reason for the $1,500,000.

Now, allow me to present to you this thought: since 1959 the Pennsylvania State University, the university of the people of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania—I realize it, Mr. McCormack, and I would appreciate your indulgence for a little bit, and if you will all be patient, I think probably you might be better informed. Thank you.

Since 1959, the Pennsylvania State University has accepted in increased enrollment an additional 1,800 students over their enrollment of 1959, and yet the appropriation is the same as it was in 1959. I realize that we could indicate many reasons why it has not been increased, and why it is cut back. Allow me to say to you that if we expect the Pennsylvania State University, in which each of you is interested, to assume its obligations and the demands being made upon it, then we should have an adjustment in our thinking.

The Pennsylvania State University has adjusted its thinking. For example, this year they have gone on a quarter system to better utilize the facilities of the Pennsylvania State University at University Park, and its 14 Commonwealth campuses with which many of you are familiar.

Also, I should like to point out that the Pennsylvania State University is extending its facilities in the field of research, agriculture and home economics extension. I know that many people were hoping that this budget would have been increased much more than it was originally. Do you remember the other day when we increased it in the House by $1,500,000, I thanked you on behalf of the Pennsylvania State University, its faculty, its supporting staff and myself for the consideration you gave to it. The other chamber deemed it advisable that this $1,500,000 should be deleted because the two percent tax did not pass. Therefore, the bill which we have before us today—

I know that time does not permit us to advise you of the history of Pennsylvania State University, its enrollment and its problem. Therefore, Mr. Speaker, for the record I have prepared a statement on Pennsylvania State University, something about its origin, its history and some of its needs. I shall ask that these be spread upon the record.

Mr. Speaker, when the other body reduced this by $1,500,000, you will see it noted in this particular bill, House bill No. 773, printer's No. 2751. I should say that we have no reason to believe that this was done with any bitterness; in fact, if anybody had entertained this thought, all he would have needed to do was to turn to page 6 of this bill and see a further amendment in which it says, "it shall be appropriated for the use of the School of Forestry for the purpose of conducting research on native trees in Pennsylvania", in the sum of $10,000. We think that this is a sweet light and a sweet tone upon which we can close the discussion of this bill and we will try to be free to use some more. Probably in 1961 we have a different fiscal picture.

Mr. FULMER submitted the following statement for the record:

THE PENNSYLVANIA STATE UNIVERSITY

Baccalaureate Degree Programs Volume 1
General Catalog 1961-1962
THE UNIVERSITY

The PENNSYLVANIA STATE UNIVERSITY, chartered by the Pennsylvania Legislature as The Farmers' High School in 1855, was founded by professional men, educated farmers, and state and county agricultural leaders. A faculty of four met the incoming class of 69 students in February, 1859.

In the words of its charter, the institution was designed to give young men "a knowledge of the English language, grammar, geography, history, mathematics, chemistry, and such other branches of the natural and exact science as will conduce to the proper education of a farmer. This type of instruction marked a new concept of education.

In May, 1862, the institution was renamed The Agricultural College of Pennsylvania, a name which recognized that its work was of collegiate level. Two months later, on July 2, President Abraham Lincoln signed the Morrill Land-Grant Act offering each state free public land which they could sell to endow institutions of higher learning where "the leading object shall be, without excluding other scientific and classical studies and including military tactics to teach such branches of learning as are related to agriculture and the mechanic arts . . . in order to promote the liberal and practical education of the industrial classes in the several pursuits and professions of life."

To a large extent this was already the objective of The Agricultural College of Pennsylvania. Less than a year later, on April 1, 1863, the Pennsylvania State Legislature declared that the Morrill Act "is hereby accepted by the State of Pennsylvania with all its provisions and conditions and the faith of the State is hereby pledged to carry the same into effect." The Legislature then designated Penn State as the Land-Grant College of the Commonwealth.

The College enlarged the scope of its instruction to include the "mechanic arts" and other subjects, began to admit women students, to increase its enrollment, and to enlarge its physical plant. In 1874 it was renamed The Pennsylvania State College, the name it was known by for the next 79 years.

In 1953 its name was changed to The Pennsylvania State University in formal recognition of what it had long since become, one of the leading universities of the country. Its nine Colleges now offer 47 undergraduate curriculums. Although the Graduate School was not established until 1922, graduate work had been offered as early as 1862.

In addition to resident education, the University has two other main functions: continuing education and research. The continuing education program offers class instruction, correspondence instruction, and informal instruction throughout the State. Research at Penn State which began with a few dollars spent on nursery stock has developed into a program which today calls for an investment of more than $10,000,000 annually.

The original student body of 69 has grown to 21,656 the faculty of 4 to a full-time faculty of 1,940. Beginning with an educational program which offered 40 courses, Penn State today offers 2,164 undergraduate and nearly 1,000 graduate courses. The University, whose prime purpose has always been to serve the people and the interests of the Commonwealth and the Nation, is accredited by the Middle States Association and is a member of the Association of American Universities.

LOCATION AND LAND HOLDINGS—The main campus, University Park, 40 miles from Altoona and 30 miles from Lewistown, is accessible by bus from these railway points. University Park is located in the borough of State College on U.S. highway 322 and Pennsylvania highway 45 and may be reached from all parts of the State by automobile within six hours.

The University owns a total of 12,007 acres of land. The University Park Campus is located on a tract of 4,103 acres, including 3,591 acres of farms and agricultural experiment grounds, 123 acres used for a golf course and other athletic purposes, and 389 acres used for classroom and office buildings, laboratories, and residence halls.

Other holdings total 7,904 acres. These include 1,389 acres used for the State-wide system of Commonwealth Campuses, and for research laboratories, and two tracts of land deeded to the University by the federal government. The Stone Valley tract of 4,761 acres is used as a field laboratory in forestry, engineering, and mineral industries; the Standing Stone Experimental Forest tract of 1,754 acres is used for field work and research in forestry.

FINANCIAL SUPPORT—The University is supported by the income from certain grants made by the federal government, from appropriations of the State Legislature, and from tuition. From time to time, the federal government has made financial provision for special activities, such as agricultural and home economics extension, agricultural experiment station work, teacher training, and other division common to similar institutions in other states.

BOARD OF TRUSTEES—Control of the institution is vested in a Board of Trustees of 32 members, Members ex officio include the Governor of the Commonwealth, the President of the University, the State Superintendent of Public Instruction, the State Secretary of Agriculture, and the State Secretary of Mines and Mineral Industries, Terms of the other trustees are three years. Six trustees are appointed by the Governor, 9 are elected by the alumni, 6 by delegates from county agricultural societies, and 6 by delegates from county industrial societies. A complete list is shown on pages 4 and 5.

BUILDINGS—There are approximately 170 principal buildings on the University Park Campus. The majority are modern fireproof structures well suited to their purpose. The total valuation placed upon the entire University plant is approximately $126,980,000.

THE UNIVERSITY LIBRARY

The University Library includes a central collection housed in the Fred Lewis Pattee Library; five special libraries in the Colleges of Agriculture, Chemistry and Physics, Engineering and Architecture, Home Economics, and Mineral Industries; and three reading rooms in the Department of Animal Industry and Nutrition, the Department of Architecture, and the School of Forestry. Commonwealth Campus libraries are also a part of the University Library.

The central collection includes general reference books and periodicals, works in education and psychology, economics and business, the humanities, the natural and social sciences, maps, manuscripts and documents, special collections on Penn State and the history of Pennsylvania, a Joseph Priestly collection, and a rare book collection. The special libraries and reading rooms contain books and journals needed for the work given in those Colleges. Special open shelves at the Pattee Library and some branches house collections of books for recreational reading. The Library issues a library handbook for students, a handbook for faculty members, and a periodical, The Headlight on Books at Penn State.

The University Library has more than 540,000 catalogued volumes on the University Park Campus and more than 60,000 in the Commonwealth Campus libraries.

FUNCTIONS OF THE UNIVERSITY

1. RESIDENT EDUCATION

THE COLLEGES

Nine Colleges each administered by a dean, offer a total of 47 undergraduate curriculums. These are described by Colleges beginning on page 31.

BACHELOR DEGREES—Curriculums in the College of the Liberal Arts lead to the Bachelor of Arts degree, with two exceptions. The curriculum in Mathematics leads to the Bachelor of Science degree, and the Dual Degree Program in Liberal Arts and Engineering leads to both the Bachelor of Arts and the Bachelor of Science degrees. Curriculums in the College of Education may lead to either the Bachelor of Arts or the Bachelor of Science degree.

All other four-year curriculums lead to the Bachelor of Science degree. The five-year curriculums in Architecture and Architetural Engineering lead to the degrees of Bachelor of Architecture and Bachelor of Architectural Engineering respectively.

THE GRADUATE SCHOOL

Graduate work, leading to academic as well as professional degrees, is offered in a wide variety of major fields. Advanced academic degrees comferred include Master of Arts, Master of Science, and Doctor of Philosophy. The professional degrees are Master of Agriculture, Master of Business Administration, Master of Education, Master of Engineering, Master of Forestry, Master of Public Administration, and Doctor of Education.

An applicant for admission to the Graduate School should understand that graduate study is not simply an extension of undergraduate work. It operates at a definitely higher level, demands, scholarship of a high order, and emphasizes research and creativity. For unqualified admission a student must have received a baccalaureate degree from an accredited institution, earned under residence and credit conditions substantially equivalent to those required at the Pennsylvania State University. He must have maintained during his junior and senior years a minimum grade point average equivalent to a 2.5 on the Penn State grading scale. Individual departments may require a higher average for admission to advanced study in their particular fields. Finally, an applicant is ordinarily expected to have completed in a satisfactory manner a certain minimum of course work in designated areas, the amount depending upon the field which the student proposes to enter. Propective students are encouraged to write directly to the head of the department in which they wish to do graduate work.

THE FOUR-TERM ACADEMIC YEAR

Penn State's Four-Term Academic Year plan, which begins with the 1961 Summer Term, has a number of advantages for students. The most obvious one is the time-saving feature for those who attend all four terms for three years, thus receiving their bachelor's degree a year earlier than they would have under a two-semester system. Students who plan to work immediately after graduation will gain an extra year's income; while those who plan to enter a professional school or do graduate work may. If they continue to follow an accelerated plan, finish their entire educational program at least a year and a half earlier than would have been possible under the traditional academic year system.

Other advantages are inherent in the structure of the four terms. The summer, fall, winter, and spring terms will have 10 weeks each. The dates when each begins and ends are shown in the calendar on pages 2 and 3. Ending the fall term before the Christmas holidays and beginning the spring term after the New Year holiday means that there will be no interruption in the educational program of either term. Since the average student will enroll for 10 to 13 credit hours per term, instead of 16 to 19 per semester, he will be able to concentrate on mastering fewer subjects in a given term. Class periods will be 75 minutes long, with a 20-minute interval between classes to allow ample time for going from one building to another.

Both credit values and costs will remain the same under the four-term plan. For example, a three-credit course will meet three 75-minute periods a week for 10 weeks instead of three 50-minute periods, for 15 weeks, but the total number of hours of instruction will be the same. Although the student will earn the same number of credits in three terms which he formerly earned in two semesters, his course load per term will be lighter. Tuition for three terms will be $480, the same amount as it was for two semesters.

The summer term will offer courses for both graduate and undergraduate students, and teachers working for advanced degrees will be able to complete their studies in a somewhat shorter time at a slightly lower cost.

By making its educational resources available throughout the year, the University will be able to educate more students in each four-year period without sacrificing in any way the quality of its instruction or research.

TWO-YEAR ASSOCIATE DEGREE PROGRAMS

The two-year associate degree curriculums are terminal-type programs designed to provide concentrated, specialized instruction and training in a variety of fields. They are intended to prepare the graduate in a minimum amount of time for immediate assignment to rather specific categories of positions.

The two-year curriculums offered are: Agriculture, Business Administration, Chemical Technology, Drafting and Design Technology, Electrical Technology, Hotel and Food Service, Metallurgical Technology, Production Technology, and Surveying Technology.

Those applying for admission to these programs must have been graduated from an accredited secondary school and have completed at least 15 Carnegie units of preparatory work, except that graduates of three-year senior high schools need present only the 12 units taken in senior high school.

Applicants for admission to Chemical Technology, Drafting and Design Technology, Electrical Technology, Production Technology, or Surveying Technology must have completed at least 3 units of English and 2 of mathematics. Applicants for admission to Metallurgical Technology must have completed at least 3 units of English and 2 units of mathematics of which 1 must be in algebra and the other in either algebra or plane geometry.

Further details and outlines of the curriculums and courses are given in the Associate Degree Programs bulletin obtainable from the Dean of Admissions, The Pennsylvania State University, University Park, Pennsylvania.

II CONTINUING EDUCATION

Continuing Education provides many opportunities for formal and informal instruction not available through the usual educational channels. It serves persons of all age groups, beginning with high school graduates. It endeavors to make its programs of instruction available "at convenient times and places for all citizens of the Commonwealth who desire such instruction and who are capable of profiting from it."

Its programs may be classified into three types: (1) Class Instruction, (2) Informal Instruction, and (3) Correspondence Instruction. For the most part, Continuing Education actually extends the instructional facilities of the respective Colleges of the University to communities throughout the State. More complete descriptions of the offering will be found under the College divisions in this catalog. Because of its highly specialized programs, and because of special State and Federal grants, Cooperative Agricultural and Home Economics Extension operates separately.

The programs of Continuing Education are arranged on the University Park Campus principally by the Continuing Conference Center, and throughout the State by 14 district offices with a staff of regional directors and district administrators.

CLASS INSTRUCTION includes Evening Technical Institutes in 10 cities; Class Centers in many other cities, the exact number varying from year to year with changing needs and demands; special classes for student nurses; and credit classes in locations other than the Penn State Centers and Campuses.

INFORMAL INSTRUCTION includes conferences, institutes, and workshops which are arranged for special groups, or for specialists from similar fields, in order to provide instruction in the latest information and practices within a given business, interest, or profession. Such projects are held either on the University Park Compus, or at convenient locations elsewhere in the State, whichever best serves the particular group concerned. A management training staff of full-time and part-time members provides both in plant and workshop-type programs of training for all levels of management in business and industry. An Institute of Public Safety conducts a thorough program in accident prevention. A visual aids service loans films and other teaching aids to public schools and community organizations. A community adult education program is intended for members of service organizations who are interested in increasing their effectiveness in community projects.

CORRESPONDENCE INSTRUCTION offers a wide variety of home-study courses in business education, engineering, the liberal arts, chemistry and physics, mineral industries, and physical education and recreation. In cooperation with the State Department of Public Instruction, directed-study programs are offered to high school groups. Courses are offered also in co-operation with both the U. S. Armed Forces Institute and the Veterans Administration. The College of Agriculture also offers correspondence courses.

Continuing Education operates under the philosophy best expressed in the slogan: "If you cannot come to the University, let the University come to you."

III. RESEARCH

A primary function of the University is to advance the boundaries of human knowledge through the discovery of new and fundamental truths. The discovery of new truths through basic research is joint obligation of the Graduate School and the Colleges. The staff and many of the physical facilities are provided by the Colleges, although certain facilities, such as the Library and the Computation Center, are separate divisions of the University. Much research, including that involved in the training of graduate students, cuts across departmental lines.

Co-ordination of research policies and programs of the several Colleges is accomplished through the Senate Research Policy Committee and the Administrative Committee on Research, on which major divisions of the University are represented. The booklet entitled Policy and Procedure in Research may be obtained, on request, from the Vice-President for Research.

PUBLICATION OF RESEARCH—The results of research are reported in bulletins and in numerous scientific and professional journals. Publication and Research lists all important research contributions made by members of the University staff during the year.

PATENTABLE DISCOVERIES—Patentable discoveries made by faculty members while engaged in institutional research are the property of the University. Applications for patents are made only when the public interest is served thereby. Patents are administered, in the public interest, by The Pennsylvania Research Corporation, a nonprofit organization, on which the Board of Trustees, the faculty, the alumni, and business interests are represented. The Pennsylvania Research Corporation has an agreement with the Research Corporation of New York, a nonprofit foundation, from which it receives assistance in promoting its objectives. Proceeds from patents are used for the promotion of fundamental research.

ADMISSION

ADMISSION TO THE FRESHMAN CLASS

An applicant for admission to the University shall have been graduated from an accredited secondary school and shall have completed at least 15 units of preparatory work, partly in required and partly in elective subjects, except that graduates of three-year senior high schools need present only the 12 units taken in senior high school. This University accepts the definition of an entrance unit as established by the Carnegie Foundation. A unit represents a year of work in a subject in the preparatory or high school, provided the work done in that subject is approximately one fourth of the amount of work regularly required in a year in the school. A student may consult the Dean of Admissions for advice planning his secondary school program to meet entrance requirements. The applicant must state in writing whether he has ever attended any other college or university even though advanced standing credit is not desired. Failure to indicate, at the time of application, previous registration in another college invalidates the admission.

ADMISSION BY CERTIFICATE—A graduate of an accredited high school or preparatory school desiring admission must present the information required on the application blank which includes all subjects studied together with the grades and the rank in the high school class. This blank is obtainable from the Dean of Admissions, The Pennsylvania State University, University Park, Pa.

Because it is physically impossible for the University to admit all who apply, a limit must be set each year to the number of students to be admitted. Since those whose ratings were high in their secondary school give the greatest promise of successful work in college, admission to the freshman class is made on the basis of demonstrated scholastic ability; most weight is given to the applicant's rank in his high school class. The applicant may be required to take a college aptitude test.

COLLEGE ENTRANCE EXAMINATION BOARD TESTS—The Scholastic Aptitude Test administered by the College Entrance Examination Board is the aptitude test required by the Pennsylvania State University. All students not legal residents of Pennsylvania and Pennsylvania residents required to take a College Aptitude Test must submit the S. A. T. results. For information about this test write to: College Entrance Examination Board, Box 592, Princeton, New Jersey.

COLLEGE ENTRANCE EXAMINATION BOARD ADVANCED PLACEMENT PROGRAM—The University cooperates with the College Entrance Examination Board's program. Students may have the scores of the Advanced Placement Tests submitted for consideration of advanced standing credit. For information about this program and tests, write to Advanced Placement Program, College Entrance Examination Board, 425 W. 117th Street, New York 27, N. Y.

ENTRANCE CONDITIONS—A student may not be admitted with entrance conditions. The work of the freshman year is sufficiently heavy without the handicap of preparatory work.

SELECTION OF AREA OR ENROLLMENT—It is necessary for a student to indicate one of the nine Colleges of the University in which he wishes to study. If he is undecided, he may enroll temporarily in the Division of Counseling.

CHANGING THE AREA OR ENROLLMENT—An applicant who has been admitted to a College of the University may not change to another without satisfying entrance requirements of the College to which he wishes to transfer. The parent's written consent for a change in area of enrollment must be furnished to the Dean of Admissions if the student is a minor.

ARITHMETIC—A thorough knowledge of arithmetic, including the metric system, is presupposed and is absolutely necessary for any course of study.

ENGLISH—Before students are admitted to classes in English, they are examined to determine their competence in English usage. This examination includes spelling, vocabulary, punctuation, grammar, and idiom. As a result of the examination most students are scheduled in English 1, the first-term required course in English. Those who demonstrate superior competence are scheduled in English 2, a course in reading and writing especially designed for superior freshman students. Those who do not meet the standard for college English are required to schedule and pass English 0 (a noncredit course) before being admitted to English 1. English 0 is a one-term opportunity for these students to meet college standards in English; the course may not be repeated. High school graduates should have been trained in the following (1) grammatical correctness in their written English, (2) conventional correctness in the use of punctuation marks, (3) correct pronounciation and spelling, (4) use of the dictionary, (5) collection and organization of materials, and (6) development of separate topics into paragraphs.

Beginning with the fall term, 1962, only students prepared to enter English I will be admitted to the University.

ADMISSION WITH ADVANCED STANDING

An applicant who has attended any college or institution on the college level may be considered for admission with advanced standing. Attendance at any other institution must be reported at the time of application even if advanced standing credit is not desired. Failure to indicate at the time of application that the applicant has taken courses with another institution invalidates any admission.

APPLICATION PROCEDURE—An application form may be obtained by writing to the Dean of Admissions. The requirements for admission of a student with advanced standing are the same as for those of any other student so far as the secondary school record is concerned. In all cases where work has been taken at other institutions, an official transcript from each place of attendance must be submitted directly to the Dean of Admissions by the institution attended. The latter must include evidence that the student was honorably dismissed and was in good academic standing at the time of leaving.

ADMISSION—A student presenting advanced credits will be admitted as vacancies became available. Admission will be granted on the basis of academic quality of the work at the other institution and in terms of the need and urgency of making the change to complete his studies. After the student has been accepted, a $10 fee will be requested for the credit evaluation made in terms of the requirements of the curriculum in which the student will be enrolled at The Pennsylvania State University. Advanced standing credits will be awarded for work taken at full accredited institutions, provided the grades earned are higher than the lowest passing grade level at the institution where the work has been taken. The Dean of Admissions may require the student to send a catalog showing the courses that he has taken at the college previously attended. After an evaluation has been made, the fee is not returnable. All credentials become part of the permanent records of the University.

SUMMER STUDY—A student who interrupts his study with the Pennsylvania State University by summer work at another institution and who desires to have credits evaluated toward a degree at this University is charged a fee of $1 for each time such credits are submitted. The students should be cognizant of the University regulations on residence requirements and of the special requirements of his particular curriculum.

SPECIAL STUDENT

One who is not fully qualified for admission but who has had acceptable experience in teaching, shop work, mining, agriculture, or other practical or educational work may be permitted to take certain studies and may be matriculated as a special student working toward a specific objective. A college graduate who proposes to engage in further undergraduate study toward a specific objective may be admitted as a special student. Written application should be made in advance to the Dean of Admissions. Only a limited number of special students can be admitted. A special student may become a candidate for a degree upon satisfying entrance requirements for the specific curriculum. In general, special students are subject to the fees and regulations prescribed for regular students. Special students are admitted to classes only if space permits following the completion of registration for regular students.

A nonmatriculated student who desires to enroll for a limited program may also register as a special student, with the approval of the Dean of Adminissions. Application is made each term at the period designated for registration.

READMISSION

Any student who has previously attended The Pennsylvania State University and who did not attend the immediately preceding term must request readmission from the Dean of Admissions, and must include in his request a statement as to whether he has attended any other college or university since leaving Penn State.

NONRESIDENT DEGREE CANDIDATE

A person who desires to take work toward a bachelor's degree at the Pennsylvania State University but who finds it impossible to enroll during the regular terms may be admitted as a nonresident degree candidate. All entrance requirements must be met and credentials must be submitted for evaluation if any work has been taken at other institutions. Interested persons should read the sections on requirements and limitations.

RESIDENCE REQUIRED FOR DEGREE

A candidate for a first bachelor's degree shall earn at least 60 of the last 75 credits required in his curriculum by enrollment in courses on the University Park Campus or in supervised field work such as field trips, internships, practice teaching, and the like when directly supervised by a member of the University faculty. A candidate for a subsequent bachelor's degree shall earn at least 30 of the credits required in his curriculum by enrollment in courses on the University Park Campus or in supervised field work. The remaining curricular work required in either case may be earned by resident education, continuing education, or examination at The Pennsylvania State University; by transfer from another approved institution; or by a combination of these.

A student enrolled for courses on the University Park Campus, or at another of The Pennsylvania State University Campuses or Centers, may with the permission of his dean or the director respectively, register for not more than 6 credits of correspondence and continuing education courses, in any combination, in any one semester, provided his total load including correspondence and continuing education courses does not exceed the load permitted him as a regular student in his curriculum.

A candidate for a first bachelor's degree shall earn the last 60 credits required for his degree within a total elapsed time of four calendar years and one summer term, except that an extension of time shall be granted for intervening military service.

Any College may make more restrictive limitations in regard to the above requirements.

STATEMENT BY MAJORITY LEADER

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I ask the membership to bear with us for a few minutes as we go through the proceedings for sine die.

Before we do that, I would like to take this opportunity to express to the membership my sincere thanks, working from one side of the aisle to the other, for the cooperation we have received in enacting the legislative program that stands in the record of the 1961 session of the General Assembly.

In the closing days I know that tempers have been bitter, for it is difficult to work hour after hour, day after day, and in the last few weeks we have worked long hours each day in an effort to complete the legislative program of this session.

To the many members to whom I owe so much personally for their assistance and aid in working out compromises and amendments to bills, this is rather a small way to say "thank you" to each of you.

To all of these members who, particularly in the last 48 hours, have had some heated points of discussion and arguments, never being able to resolve all of the matters to everyone's satisfaction, I say I hope that as we sine die we will leave here as friends with friendships that will remain for years.

I think I would be remiss in my duty if I did not say a particular "thank you" to all the committee chairmen who worked so hard, and to the members of the Rules Committee and the Republican members on that Rules Committee in trying to find a way to honestly perfect the best legislation possible and the best operation of this House.

Also, to the Speaker, Mr. Andrews, who throughout this session has been so helpful in the deliberations in resolving many matters and assisting us in this program.

Mr. Speaker, I also want to thank the minority floor leader, Mr. Albert Johnson, for his cooperation, and Mr. Tompkins, the minority whip, for his cooperation in working out caucus schedules and plans that coincided and helped to make a more efficient operation in the hourly and daily schedule of this House.

I hope that as we leave here today we will have an opportunity to rest and to get acquainted with our families, and to enjoy a little vacation that each of us so rightfully deserves. May I also wish to each and every one, the best of health and happiness to you and your families.

I thank you, Mr. Speaker.

REPORT
NATIONAL CONFERENCE OF COMMISSIONERS ON UNIFORM STATE LAWS

The SPEAKER laid before the House the report on the National Conference of Commissioners on Uniform State Laws, as follows:

To the Honorable Hiram G. Andrews
Speaker of the House of Representatives

Pursuant to designation by Speaker Andrews the undesigned visited the National Conference of Commissioners on Uniform State Laws at its 70th annual meeting held in Saint Louis, Missouri, beginning July 31, 1961.

Under the provisions of Sections 404 and 910 of the Administrative Code of 1929, P. P. 177, and under Section 1 of the Act of 1917, P. L. 90, the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania is officially represented on the Commission in addition to the Attorney General of the Commonwealth who serves exoffio, by three appointed members. Presently the members of the Commission representing Pennsylvania are Honorable William A. Schnader, former Attorney General of the Commonwealth; Honorable J. Colvin Wright, Judge of the Superior Court of Pennsylvania, and William H. Wood, Esquire, formerly Assistant Director of the Legislative Reference Bureau and now a practicing Attorney in Harrisburg. It is worthy of note that the Commissioners serve with out compensation, only being reimbursed for a portion of their expenses incurred in the work of the Commission.

Furthermore, it is worth while to note that the National Conference of Commissioners is composed of Commissioners from each of the States including the District of Columbia and Puerto Rico. These Commissioners are appointed either by the Chief Executive acting under express legislative authority or by general executive authority and the Commission usually consists of three Commissioners from each jurisdiction. The term of appointment varies but the usual period is for three years. The Commissioners are chosen entirely from the legal profession, the personnel of the Commission being made up of judges and lawyers of standing and experience in their profession and Professors of law in some of the leading law schools in the country.

The Commissioners are united in a permanent organization under a constitution and by-laws, electing in odd numbered years, a president, with other offices being elected annually. The Commissioners meet in Annual Conference at the same place as the American Bar Association during the week immediately preceding the Annual Sessions of the American Bar Association. The fact that the annual Conference does meet at the same place and immediately preceding the session of the American Bar Association, it seems to us, adds to the stature of the Conference.

The funds for carrying on the work of the National Conference are derived from contributions from various states and from funds supplied by the American Bar Association and various State Bar Associations. It is noted that the contribution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania for the work of the Commission was two thousand dollars for the year 1960.

The object of the National Conference, as stated in its Constitution, is "to promote uniformity in state laws on all subjects where uniformity is deemed desirable and practicable." The Conference works through standing and special committees. Proposals of subjects for legislation are referred to a standing Committee on Scope and Program. After due consideration, including at times hearing, this Committee reports as to whether the subject is one upon which it is both desirable and feasible to draft a uniform law. If the National Conference decides upon the desirability and feasibility of the particular subject, it refers the subject to a special committee with instructions to report a draft of an act. These drafts are the handiwork of expert draftsmen. Tentative drafts of acts are submitted to the Conference from year to year and are discussed section by section. It was such discussions of the several sections of various drafts that the undersigned were privileged to hear upon the occassion of visits to the conference sessions. During the visits, the Conference was engaged in discussion and consideration of the revised Uniform Principal and Income Act, The Uniform Tax Credit Act, The Uniform Non-Residents Income Tax Act and The Revised Model State Administrative Procedure Act. Other subjects for discussion appearing on the agenda were the Uniform Nuclear Facilities Liability Act, The Uniform Federal Tax Lien Registration Act and The Uniform Code of Military Justice.

In the course of the visits to the sessions of the Conference, your designees were particularly impressed by the keen interest manifested by the conference in the discussions of the various subjects on the agenda. The debates evidenced the fact that considerable thought had been given to the subject matter at hand. It was particularly evident from the discussions that the conferees were outstanding members of the legal profession, dedicated to the purpose for which they assembled. Consequently the finished product of their collective endeavors would be given great weight by us who observed the procedure in the Conference sessions.

Each uniform act is the result of one or more tentative drafts which have been, by these men of legal stature, subjected to criticism, corrections and emendation. When finally approved by the National Conference the uniform acts are submitted to the American Bar Association for its approval, and then, with that approval, are recommended to the States for adoption.

The National Conference in the past has been responsible for much important uniform legislation which has been enacted into law in Pennsylvauia. Included in this legislation are the following:

Uniform Partnership Act
Uniform Limited Partnership Act
Uniform Simultaneous Death Act
Uniform Gifts to Minors Act
Uniform Reciprocal Enforcement of Support Act
Uniform Commercial Code

At the current Session of the General Assembly of Pennsylvania, the following uniform acts promulgated by the National Conference of Commissioners were adopted:

Uniform Act on Blood Tests
Uniform Rendition of Prisoners as Witnesses Act
Amendments to Uniform Acknowledgement Act
Uniform Securities Ownership by Minors Act has passed both the Senate and the House as of this date.

It may be further noted that the Commissioners from Pennsylvania are active in the work of the Conference and throughout the years have been most regular in attendance and have contributed substantially to the constructive work of the Conference.

Our visit to the Conference was an enriching experience, giving to us a keener insight into the activities of the Conference and the part they play in giving to the States the uniform laws which are being enacted in increasing numbers by the different States.

Respectfully submitted,

Dated—August 31, 1961.

William B. Curwood
Harold Rudisill

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the sergeant-at-arms of the Senate.

The SERGEANT-AT-ARMS. Mr. Speaker, a committee on the part of the Senate.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the chairman of the committee from the Senate.

The CHAIRMAN. Mr. Speaker, we are a committee on behalf of the Senate to inform the House of Representatives that we are now ready to adjourn sine die and to inquire if you have any further business to transact.

The SPEAKER. The Chair thanks the committee.

STATEMENT BY MINORITY LEADER

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the minority leader.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, I hope that committee from the Senate did not misinterpret that standing ovation. It was not for them, it was for Stephen McCann, I assure you.

Here we are about to adjourn sine die. We came in here in early January. That is, of course, a beautiful time to arrive, with the flowers on our desks, and we are full of hope, and vigor and plans for a great session. I would say that we have had just that.

Now the desks are full of papers, the histories are fixed, the file cabinets are replete with the typification of the hard work we have done here during these eight months. We really have had a session where both sides have worked harder than I have ever seen in my eight terms around here.

I will say this about Stephen McCann, the majority leader, I have never seen a majority leader work as hard as he has. I have never seen one who had the remarkable grasp of legislation that he has, and he only has that by reason of hard work and intensive devotion to the job of floor leader and to his party. I certainly think that his party, when it chooses candidates for the State election—and I am not going to be the chooser, I am sure—certainly could well give a good look at Stephen McCann, the person who has led them successfully through this session.

I would say this, too. I believe we have improved the working of this House tremendously. I think the change in the seating of the leadership has been a change for the better. Many of the things that we have done this session have helped to expedite the work. The plans for other sessions that we are invoking and that will be planned during the interim will make for a much better working arrangement, and we certainly will eventually get down to where we will have the quick, businesslike sessions that they try to have in other States. It is not beyond the realm of possibility, and we should work successfully toward that end.

I think the Speaker of the House has done a remarkable job. He certainly commands the respect, the admiration and the love of every member here. He presides over this very wonderful body with calmness and dignity and we look up to him with the greatest amount of respect, which is certainly due him.

I certainly think that our parliamentarian, who again for the 5,000th time, or more, has served us in this House, is the outstanding parliamentarian in the United States. We should certainly all be proud of our wonderful parliamentarian, Eddie Moore.

I am from the minority and I am sure on behalf of everybody in the House we want to pay tribute to the front desk. This year was new. We had the voting machine. It was complicated, it had to work properly. They went at it with dispatch. They made an intense study of it and they have got it down to a wonderful working basis. While at first I was a little apprehensive, and I am sure we all were, of the automatic roll call system, now, with some refinements, I believe we are convinced that it was money well spent and that it has been a wonderful addition to the running of this General Assembly. I think those who made its installation possible certainly deserve to be commended. I say the people at the front desk, Joe Ominsky, Phil, the reporters, Bobby Kaufman and the rest of them have done an outstanding job.

I think the members have cooperated here wonderfully and well. I think what Harris Breth said today about not having a single quorum call bespeaks the fine friendship and the splendid way in which we have worked together to make this a successful session.

Now, from my own heart, I want to thank the members of the minority for their graciousness, for their cooperation. We have stuck together well. I think we have made a good record for the Republican Party in the minority. We have tried to take advantage of every weakness that the majority might have shown; we have cooperated with them in many, many respects to put over their program. I think the record will show that 90 percent of the bills that have passed would not have passed except for Republican votes. Why? Because, with the slim majority over there there were very few days, except these dying days of the session, were they able to have 106. In that respect, I believe you all should say, "thank you, members of the minority, for giving us a lift."

Now, as we say good bye, let us go home and have a good time. When we come back here in January, maybe we then can do the job quickly, wrap it up, so that we can end the 1961 session with a flourish. I thank you.
